THE GREAT WAR.

JAPANESE SUFFER A SEVERE REBUFF.

Army of the Yalu Reported Driven Back to Feng Wang Cheng.

Seventy Thousand Russians Reported Marching to Relief of Port Arthur—News of Loss of Two, Possibly Four, Japanese Warships Confirmed — Many Russians Reported Killed Near Kai Chau.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEWCHWANG, May 19, Evening.—It is reported here from a reliable source that the Japanese army from the Yalu River has received a heavy blow and has been driven back to Feng Wang Cheng.

MARCHING TO RELIEF OF PORT ARTHUR.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, May 20.—A. G. Hales, the correspondent of the Daily News, cables from Tien-Tsin as follows, under date of May 19:

"It is reported that 70,000 Russians are marching to the relief of Port Arthur and the Japanese are consequently hastening offensive operations.

"Forty-five thousand troops already have been landed at King Chau and Talienwan, thus entirely investing Port Arthur.

"The Japanese advance lines are seven miles from the Russian batteries.

"Skirmishes occurred yesterday along the railroad.

"It is believed that the Japanese intend to attack Port Arthur with the entire force when it numbers 50,000 men. They are mounting six-inch naval guns on steel wheels with the object of silencing the Russian batteries.

"The Manchurian Railway south of Harbin is constantly broken by Chinese marauders and the Russians threaten reprisals. The Russians admit that they have to contend with terrible difficulties along the whole line. Their men, however, are behaving splendidly and they are very confident."

FIERCE ENGAGEMENT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, May 20.—The Standard's correspondent at Tien-Tsin wires that while the Japanese fleet was covering the landing of troops near Kai Chou on Monday, a fierce engagement occurred at Hain Yen Cheng. Two thousand Russians were killed or wounded. The Russians retreated and the Japanese occupied both Kai Ping and Kai Chau. The Chinese Governor at Cheng Chow has received news, the correspondent adds, that the Russians have destroyed the railway between Tashi Chao and Newchwang.

RUSSIAN CRUISER GROUNDED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PARIS, May 20.—The correspondent of the Echo de Paris at St. Petersburg, says:

"The Russian cruiser Bogatyr grounded during a fog on the rocks near the entrance to Vladivostok. Her position is critical. The crew was saved."

LOSS OF JAPANESE WARSHIPS VERIFIED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, May 20, 3 a.m.—The loss of at least two Japanese warships is officially confirmed. A message dated Port Arthur, received by carrier pigeon at Mukden, was transmitted to the Emperor early yesterday morning, saying that two Japanese warships had been lost off that port. The message followed the Emperor to Koursk, and no one here knew of its contents until last night when foreign telegrams brought full details of the Japanese loss.

Early in the afternoon reports of the sinking of the Shikishima and the Fuji, on the authority of Russian refugees from Dalny began to circulate and aroused the most intense excitement. Without reference to its effect on the campaign, the people regard the disaster as a divine interposition in the Russian cause.

AN OFFERING TO RUSSIA.

"It is an offering to Russia upon the Day of Ascension and the Emperor's birthday, and it is a sign that God is with us," was the remark generally heard.

If a stranger entered the city tonight he would find it decorated with flags and bunting and illuminating devices as though in glorification of a victory, but this is not really so, as the decorations are in celebration of the Emperor's birthday.

In naval circles, the Japanese catastrophe is a matter of rejoicing, though regrets are expressed that brave men have lost their lives, just as Japan voiced its sorrow to the world when brave men went down with the Petropavlovsk.

But this feeling of sympathy is swallowed up in the greatest thanksgiving for the blow inflicted on the sea power of the enemy.

It is pointed out that the Hatsuse was one of Japan's finest battleships, and that the loss of two and possibly four warships, at intervals of a few days, cannot fail to deeply affect Japan and to influence the course of the campaign.

TIDE IS TURNED.

The General Staff tonight is without direct news of the sinking of the Shikishima and the Fuji, but there is an impression that it may be true. The reports at any rate have infused fresh life and enthusiasm in official circles, where it is believed that the tide is turned.

No surprise is expressed by the Admiralty at the Japanese vessels striking Russian mines, the Admiralty expecting such a mishap to Vice-Admiral Togo, particularly since the naval commanders at Port Arthur have faithfully duplicated the plan which resulted in the sinking of the Petropavlovsk. Wherever off Port Arthur the Japanese squadron appeared during the day, that same night Russian torpedo boats stole out and carefully planted contact mines, which being below the surface, would not be touched by the destroyers, but ships of heavier draft cruising in the mine fields would be sure to strike them.

The favorite point selected by the Japanese for bombarding is Liao Tshan Promontory, and the water there has been thickly sown with Russian mines. Other points beside Liao Tshan have also been mined, and it has become dangerous for the Japanese ships to cruise in those waters.

EFFECT OF DISASTER.

The effect of the disaster undoubtedly would cause Togo to be more cautious, for he must save his squadron for the contest for the supremacy of the sea with the Baltic fleet when it arrives in the Pacific.

The loss of the ships, irrespective of other casualties which may have occurred, is of the utmost importance, according to the General Staff, most of which is pointed out to the Associated Press that it tends to restore the equilibrium afloat. Despite the number of casualties in the Russian fleet, it has really lost only one battleship, the Petropavlovsk. It is true that the Retvisan and the Czarevitch were torpedoed at the beginning of the war, but both were safely towed into Port Arthur. The damage they sustained was serious, particularly to the Czarevitch, but repairs have been pending since then and the officials state that the Retvizan is ready to resume her place in the fighting line.

The Czarevitch is still undergoing repairs, and it will be some time before she can put to sea. Prior to the isolation of Port Arthur, several thousand shipwrights entered the city and they have since been pushing the work of repairing the ships.

FATES AGAINST JAPAN.

The Russians now say that the fates are against Japan. The later movements reported to the General Staff tend to decidedly befog the authorities as to the real position of the enemy.

It is now believed that the mission of the second army is not merely the investment of Port Arthur, but its capture. The Japanese must appreciate, now that the fleet is weakened, that the appearance of the Baltic fleet will make Russia immensely superior afloat unless the Port Arthur squadron be destroyed.

If the Japanese are to be successful in the war they must retain command of the sea, however great the cost.

Whatever may have been the original object of the landing of troops in the southern part of the Liao Yang Peninsula, it is believed here that it cannot be the destruction of the squadron at Port Arthur.

Even should the enemy capture the fortress, it is declared that it would never get the Russian warships. Under orders given before Port Arthur was cut off, the crippled squadron was to leave the harbor immediately before the fortress fell and attack the Japanese fleet. If the enemy retained the superiority which existed before the ships were destroyed there would have been little chance of a successful sortie. Now the authorities are hopeful that in case the squadron must go out, the chances in the conflict will be more even. This will be the case if the repairs to the Retvizan and Czarevitch are finished in time.

The crippling of Togo's fleet, will, it is thought, more than ever deter the Japanese commander from dividing his fleet as he must retain his heavier ships off Port Arthur. Thus the Vladivostok squadron may have another opportunity for raids.

SISTER SHIPS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, May 20.—Special dispatches from Shanghai to the London morning papers report that the Shakishima was sunk while the Fuji and the Asama had to be towed away by the cruiser Yakumo. Probably the Russians wrongly identified the vessels, the Shikishima and the Hatsuse being practically sister ships.

SINKING OF HATSUSE.
SERIOUS LOSS TO JAPAN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, May 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] H. M. Wilson, naval expert, writes in the Daily Mail:

"From a naval standpoint the loss of the battleship Hatsuse is a very serious matter to the Japanese navy, reducing its fighting strength by (roughly) one-tenth, or in the terms of a war on land, by about a division.

"The loss of Yoshino is not of any great importance. Although she was a good fast scout, her battle force was insignificant, because she lacked armor.

"It has been known for weeks that the whole Yellow Sea is full of mines which have drifted from Dalny or have been laid by the Russians, and in the second bombardment of Port Arthur the battleship Asaki had a very narrow escape from one. She was steaming in the Japanese line of battle, when suddenly a black object bobbed up ahead. Instantly her commander in the conning tower put her helm hard over and signaled to the Fuji, next in turn, warning her. As a result of his quickness the Asaki passed thirty yards from the mine

GIRLS TO KILL THE CZAR.

Distinguished Doctor's Daughter Arrested With Bomb on Her Person.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. PETERSBURG, May 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Unable to accomplish their ends in any other way, desperate Nihilists have picked out pretty university girl students with anarchistic leanings and have given them a mission to end the Czar's life.

Official circles throughout the empire have been shocked by the arrest of twenty-year-old Mlle. Mereschkowsky, daughter of a distinguished physician and privy councilor who was found in a loge May 10, at a pageant, with a bomb concealed in her clothing.

The spring parade is always reviewed by the Emperor, on horseback, who takes a position before and slightly to one side of the pavilion from which the Empress and Grand Duchess view the pageant. The municipality erects a grandstand, tickets to which are sold publicly, the names and addresses of the buyers being noted. Mlle. Mereschkowsky had little trouble in gaining admission to the stand. Her nervousness excited suspicion and she was placed under arrest.

NO BREAK IN SLATE.

Smooth Proceedings at Sacramento.

Not a Hitch in Programme of Machine in Republican State Convention.

Pardee, Knight, Spreckles, and McKinley Delegates-at-Large to Chicago.

Platform Concise and to the Point—Abe Ruef the Hero of the Hour.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, May 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Republican State Convention adjourned shortly before noon today, after electing Gov. George C. Pardee, George A. Knight and John D. Spreckels of San Francisco and J. W. McKinley of Los Angeles delegates-at-large to the National Convention at Chicago, June 21. W. R. Porter of Santa Cruz was elected alternate for Knight, F. K. Rule of Los Angeles, for McKinley; Col. A. D. Forbes, Marysville, for Gov. Pardee, and Abe Ruef, of San Francisco, for Spreckels.

A former member of the Legislature, an old-time convention-goer, said after adjournment that it was the "slickest" convention he had ever seen, and a veteran newspaper man who had come up from Santa Cruz after having helped the nomination of the would-be Democratic Presidential candidate, disgustedly remarked that somebody ought to get up a "row," so that there would be something for him to write about, intimating that ex-Senator, Bills, J. W. McKinley or Abe Ruef would do for subjects. The fact that the convention had been so thoroughly "programmed" by the people, as well as the politicians, in the interest of harmonious support of the standard-bearer of the Republican party in the national convention to come, seemed to pain him, as well as surprise others.

Dispatches in San Francisco newspapers containing references to the proposition to make Mr. Bulla a Presidential elector-at-large from Southern California, evoked some expressions of incredibility from those who learned of it for the first time, and accomplished roorback manufacturers probably secured instant employment in efforts at rebuttal. It is thought, however, that the arrangement will be carried out in good faith as helping to strengthen the party against the Democratic host.

The proceedings today were brief and to the point, except in the matter of one or two of the nominating speeches, which were a trifle long, but there has been so little of oratorical fireworks in this convention that the delegates had not been surfeited with speechmaking and bore with the "spell-binders" in patience.

ABE RUEF'S OVATION.

The feature of the session was the cheers and applause which greeted Abe Ruef, when, after having been nominated alternate for John D. Spreckels, he came forward in response to insistent demands from the delegates for "speech," and, as he said, "seconded" his own nomination. Ruef holds himself as he holds San Francisco—well in hand—and made a clever talk in which he promised the vote of San Francisco for Theodore Roosevelt in November. He declared all the good things had not been said of him and some bad things would be heard hereafter.

The man who nominated him (D. W. Burchard of San Francisco,) had engaged in his speech that a majority of 15,000 votes should be given the ticket in November. Mr. Burchard had a fine imagination, but did not proceed on false lines in counting upon a tremendous majority in San Francisco in November.

Irrespective of politics, business or other considerations, Ruef said, he recognized that in the integrity of Republican governmental conduct and principles and policies existed every hope for every class of American citizenship in California. San Francisco recognized as incumbent on it the duty of showing its appreciation of the opportunity it will have, in the building of the Panama Canal, of becoming the gateway of the promise of the world, and all that a united Republican party in San Francisco could do would be done.

He evoked laughter from the convention, in which the delegates from the Southern California metropolis jeeringly joined, when he declared that San Francisco's efforts in this respect would make Los Angeles want to become an annexed suburb of San Francisco. He wanted a "popular majority" so Alameda county could get "a little" of the patronage. Hereat the delegates again laughed. "They want the banner," he concluded, referring to the emblem of party victory and popular majority, now held by BLOOD AGAIN.

Revolution is on in Santo Domingo and Both Sides Make Large Killings.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PORT AU PRINCE (Hayti) May 19.—The government troops commanded by Gen. Raoul Cabrera and the revolutionary troops led by Gen. Tavaris and other generals, fought a battle at Guayacanes, Santo Domingo, on the railway between Santiago de los Caballeros and Monte Cristi. The battle, which followed the government's refusal to grant terms to the revolutionists, lasted all day and thirty men killed and wounded. The revolutionists lost

PRESIDENT DEFEATED.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NASSAU (Bahama) May 19.—Advices from Santo Domingo announce severe fighting at Navarto, May 14. The government troops were defeated, losing fifty-four men killed and sixty-seven wounded.

A convoy conveying 20,000 cartridges from Puerto Plata to President Morales's forces fell into the hands of the Dominican insurgents.

M'CLELLAN'S OVERWORKED PEN.

NEW YORK, May 19.—Mayor McClellan's office is being haunted by men with automatic devices to aid him in signing 37,000 bonds of the city, recently sold. Every bond requires the Mayor's signature and that official had no sooner begun the great task of signing his name 37,000 times than scores of inventors appeared with devices to help things along. The Mayor tried a few, but found them of little assistance, and is proceeding with the job in small allotments.

Los Angeles, "and we," he said, "want what they get under it!"

The general tenor of the speeches delivered during the sessions of the convention was of a cautionary nature lest California, by various causes, be placed in the doubtful column, and Ruef's speech was accepted as an earnest of Republican victory in San Francisco, and therefore received the heartiest applause of the day, even from among the "country" delegations.

PLATFORM ADOPTED.

At the opening of the session at 10:10 o'clock, a communication from the State Irrigation Association, asking the assistance of the Republican party in the grand work of promoting the general welfare of the State by irrigation, was read, after which ex-State Senator John T. Davis, chairman of the Resolution Committee, read the platform. It was a model of conciseness and brevity. Davis prefaced his reading by stating that the committee had been swamped by resolutions bearing upon matters of State legislation and had decided to put them all aside, as better to be taken up in the convention next August, and to frame a platform which should be a bugle call for allegiance to the national administration.

The planks declaring for the immediate construction of the Panama canal, the protection of American citizens in their constitutional rights, and appropriations for the improvement of streams, preservation of forests and reclamation of arid lands were greeted with applause from the delegates. The clean, able and businesslike administration of State institutions was approved; a tribute was paid to the high character and ability of Gov. Pardee, and the distinguished services of Senators and Representatives in Congress were cordially acknowledged.

In conclusion the delegates-at-large were instructed to cast their votes for Theodore Roosevelt for President.

Cheers and applause followed the reading of the platform which, upon motion, was adopted by a rising vote. Judge Burnett, chairman of the convention, smiled as he asked if anybody objected. No one did object, and one of the chief purposes of the State convention was thus promptly achieved.

It is understood that a three-cornered fight developed over the resolutions relative to capital and labor, but the plank by L. R. Garrett of Los Angeles, that every American be protected in his just constitutional rights, was adopted as a compromise.

NOMINATING SPEECHES.

The time having arrived for nominating speeches, Gen. George Stone moved that seconding speeches be eliminated from the programme. This was adopted with applause, showing the delegates were ready and eager to get through with the business.

Frank Short of Fresno came forward to nominate Gov. Pardee for delegate-at-large and began by apologizing for his mistake in twice yesterday referring, in a speech to the Panama canal as the Nicaragua canal. It had taken him eight years, he said, to learn the name of the Nicaragua canal, and being from Missouri, it would take him four years to forget it. At Santa Cruz, he said, the Democrats opposed the canal, no matter what it is called, and the way it is to be built. The benefits to accrue from building it will greatly offset the strip of malaria in which it is to be built.

Selvage of Humboldt, in picturesque language, pointed to the beauties of the Southland and the Northland in California, referring indirectly to Los Angeles as one of the most beautiful cities the eyes of man ever rested on, in a magnificent empire that rivaled the empires of olden times. The hand of the Northland was extended to the hand of the Southland in greeting in the naming of his candidate. He referred to J. W. McKinley.

Ward of San Diego said it was fitting that there should be named among the delegates-at-large a well-known business man, and he was glad to name John D. Spreckles of San Francisco.

Judge J. W. Hunter of Humboldt, in presenting the name of George A. Knight, said he thought the holding of two conventions the present week probably marked the beginning of a political conflict, under most favorable auspices. There was no reason why any Republican should desert. There was the strongest argument to bring in the young men and the greatest inducement to bring in many not satisfied with the opposition—not satisfied with the results of the Santa Cruz convention. Judge Hunter paid a glowing tribute to the President, and in closing, said Humboldt county was not only noted for its rainfall, measured by feet, and tall trees, to see the tops of which one must crane the neck backward, but also produced statesmen, and George A. Knight had become so famous that he had been called East in the last national campaign to make speeches in doubtful states. Knight was today, he declared, one of the foremost orators of the country.

SPEEDY WIND-UP.

This completed the nominating speeches, and on motion, duly seconded, Secretary Ryan was instructed to cast the vote of the convention for all four men.

After alternates had been nominated, Chairman Burnett announced there would be a meeting of delegates and alternates in San Francisco next Saturday morning.

The convention, upon motion of McKinley of Los Angeles, offered thanks to Chairman Burnett for the able manner in which he had presided. Thanks were also extended to the people of Sacramento for their courtesies.

Counties which had not reported their State central committeemen were instructed to send the names to the State Central Committee headquarters in San Francisco. The convention then adjourned sine die.

ILLINOIS DEADLOCK.

SHOWS SIGNS OF BREAKING.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SPRINGFIELD (Ill.) May 19.—For the first time since the beginning of the deadlock in the Illinois Republican Convention, the delegates today commenced to show signs of breaking away, and there was evidenced a disposition to leave the leaders. Many of the delegates left town this morning and some said they would not come back until some of the gubernatorial candidates got out of the race. Their votes were cast by the more faithful of the delegates, and in some instances a single delegate voted an entire county.

The feeling of unrest found vent in the introduction of a resolution providing that the convention proceed to the nomination of candidates for office other than Governor, but the proposition was defeated. None of the gubernatorial candidates wanted the resolution to go through, and the candidates for minor offices were too timid to insist upon it fearing such action would hurt their chance. The prolonged fight is bearing heavily on the men who want the smaller places. All of them have been maintaining headquarters which cost them from $50 to $100 a day. As the salaries of State officers in Illinois are very small, even the successful candidates will be behind in a financial way when the convention adjourns. Some of them closed their headquarters today.

The ballots taken today were without change in the result. Sherman's men continued to vote for Dineen throughout the day, but he made no further gains and on the last ballot tonight Sherman's men returned to him.

The result of the last ballot taken tonight, the forty-seventh, was: Yates, 483; Lowden, 393½; Dineen, 388½; Warner, 54, Hamlin, 109; Sherman, 43; Pierce, 31.

At 9:45 p.m., the convention took a recess until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

BAD SPLIT IN BADGER STATE.

TWO REPUBLICAN TICKETS PUT UP IN WISCONSIN.

Gov. La Follette Renominated for Third Term by Convention of His Henchmen — Anti-Third-Termers Nominated Samuel A. Cook for Governor, After Baensch Withdrew.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

MADISON (Wis.) May 19.—Two conventions, both claiming legal status by right of delegates majority, holding prima facie credentials, and both asserting themselves to be regular Republicans in nature, were concluded in Madison tonight.

Two State tickets, the one headed by Gov. La Follette, and the other headed by former Congressman Samuel A. Cook, are in the field to battle, to wage a war that will not end until the last vote is counted in November. Both conventions were characterised by order and the absence of fierce strifes. So careful were the anti-third-termers to preserve the standing of Wisconsin in the national Republican ranks, that they chose electors identified with those picked by the La Follette men. This presages no danger for the national organization in Wisconsin because of the split.

LA FOLLETTE'S RENOMINATION.

Gov. Robert A. la Follette was for a third time selected to head the Republican State ticket in Wisconsin.

This time, however, he received the indorsement at the hands of a convention composed of 585 delegates, whereas the call for the convention provided for 1065 delegates. With the absence of the least taint of opposition, every question which came before the convention went through with a rush, not a dissenting vote or objection being offered to a single proposition.

The feature of the convention was the appearance of Gov. La Follette before the convention after he had been officially notified of his nomination. He was accorded a most enthusiastic reception, which lasted several minutes. In his speech of acceptance Gov. La Follette reviewed the work of his two administrations and scored the opposition for failure to carry out the promises contained in the party platform.

The resolutions indorsed the national and State administrations.

Following is the State ticket which was nominated unanimously:

La Follette was renonminated by acclamation. The rest of the State officers were also renominated unanimously.

The following were elected delegates at-large to the national convention: Isaac Stephenson, Robert M. la Follette, W. D. Connor and James B. Stout.

For Presidential electors-at-large the following were nominated: Chas. E. Ilsley and A. R. Hall. A full list of district delegates also was named.

COOK ALSO NOMINATED.

A meeting of the Cook delegates was held today to determine their own attitude relative to the La Follette and anti-third-termers. It was announced that they would not give recognition to the La Follette gathering by being present as Cook men, and that not until the legan report of the Baensch delegates from the counties in question was determined would they sit in the convention at the Fuller Operahouse.

At the afternoon session, amid much cheering, E. S. Hicks of Oshkosh led the Cook delegates into the hall. Upon the roll-call of counties the vote was announced, showing 567 delegates to be legally seated. The required number being 533, a majority was declared to be present. Immediately afterward Judge Emil Baensch appeared on the platform and released the delegates instructed for him and expressed his desire to support Cook. Samuel A. Cook was then unanimously nominated for Governor.

The nominee was brought into the convention followed by Congressmen Babcock and Miner. This was the first national recognition of the convention. Mr. Cook declared himself for honest government, economically administered. He was loudly cheered. As he sat down, Senators Spooner and Quarles, former Gov. Schofield, former Gov. Upham and C. C. Rogers mounted the stage. The convention went wild.

SPOONER'S SPEECH.

Senator John C. Spooner, whose speech was the feature of the convention this afternoon, declared that he appeared before the convention to indorse its action with regard to the La Follette convention, and that he would stand by the anti-third-termers to the end. He entered the operahouse in a tumult. As he raised his hand to speak, the delegates gave the Wisconsin yell. He said: "I understand that this is the Republican convention of duly-authenticated delegates of the Republican party."

Touching on the action of yesterday, he said: "I have deplored the absolutism which has characterised the last year's administration. I have supported the party, though at times it meant a supreme test of party loyalty. The crisis was inevitable. I am here today to indorse your action. I cast my fortunes, and I am without political ambitions, with you to the end."

Speaking of the control of La Follette over the administration, Senator Spooner said: "He who attempts to strangle the voice of the people is guilty of moral treason in the political system."

FOR STATE OFFICES.

The following State officers were nominated:

Lieutenant-Governor, George H. Ray; Secretary of State, N. P. Holman; State Treasurer, Gustav Wollaeger; Attorney-General, Judge D. S. Classon; Railroad Commissioner, Charles Barker; Insurance Commissioner, W. C. Roenitz.

The delegates to the national convention chosen were Senators Spooner and Quarles, Congressman Babcock and Judge Emil Baensch.

WYOMING REPUBLICANS.

TICKET COMPLETED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LARAMIE (Wyo.) May 19.—The Republican State Convention today nominated Hon. B. B. Brooks for Governor; Hon. F. W. Mondell for Congress; Hon. W. C. Irvine for State Treasurer, and Hon. Cyrus Beard for Judge of the Supreme Court. J. M. Wilson, J. W. Crosby and Oro Haley were chosen Presidential electors. Senator F. E. Warren, Senator C. D. Clark, Congressman Mondell, N. K. Boswell, J. R. Cosgriff and J. Oliver were chosen delegates to the national convention. E. W. Stone, F. S. Smith, Melvin Nicholls, E. W. Burke, C. H. King and Thomas G. Smith were chosen alternates.

CHICAGO CONVENTION.

DOVER SEES PRESIDENT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, May 19.—President Roosevelt had a talk today with Elmer C. Dover, secretary of the Republican National Committee, about the preliminary arrangements for the Chicago convention, and other matters relating to the convention and to the campaign. Mr. Dover will go to Chicago next Tuesday and on June 1 will open the headquarters of the committee at the Auditorium Hotel.

Preliminary arrangements are being made for the campaign by Secretary Dover. He is in correspondence with party leaders throughout the country, and by the time the convention assembles he will be in possession of the organization details which he will turn over to the new committee.

Four seconding speeches probably will be delivered. With the exception of Harry Stillwell Edwards of Macon, Ga., the well-known author and writer, the orators have not been chosen.

LIVERNASH IS WEARY.

HE MAY NOT RUN AGAIN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, May 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Representative Livernash of San Francisco is tortured in mind by the importunities of his constituents to have him run for Congress again. He is so wrought up that he must be off to Italy to think. He announces it this way:

"A public career never had any charms for me, and I do not know whether I shall be a candidate for a seat in the next House. I have had numerous letters from friends asking me to run again, but am not at all certain as to my course. I am going to Italy for rest and recreation, and will make up my mind while over there.

"The district is normally 5000 Republican, and the chances of carrying it against them this year may be something hard to figure."

"Have you any idea of the outcome of the St. Louis convention?"

"No; that is a matter for conjecture, and I lay no claim to special knowledge of the national situation. California has instructed for Hearst, as I thought it would do. Mr. Hearst may not be strong enough to win the nomination, but I am satisfied he will control enough votes to have the veto power in the action of the convention."

The understanding is that Mr. Livernash is wearied to a frazzle by his tremendous legislative work last winter. He will sail for Italy soon to do political thinking.

ROOTERS OUT FOR BRYAN.

HURRAHS AT OMAHA.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

OMAHA, May 19.—W. J. Bryan received an enthusiastic welcome at the hands of 2500 Democrats tonight at the Coliseum Theater. A strong contest has been waged by both factions in the Congress District favoring and opposing Kansas City platform control of the district delegates to the national convention.

Bryan's address was an appeal to the local Democrats to send a delegation to the State convention, who would be in harmony with the ideals and who would "represent the real Democracy of Nebraska."

Bank Directors Withdraw.

NEW YORK, May 19.—James T. Woodward, Harry Payne Whitney and Isador Straus, Democratic candidates for the electoral college, have sent their resignations to the State chairman. All are national bank directors, and Mr. Woodward is president of the Hanover National of this city. Their withdrawal from the ticket is the result of a report by a special committee which recommended such a course, in view of the doubt as to their eligibility under the Constitution.

DOWIE TO TRY AGAIN.

"Elijah II" Will Take Another Shy at the Metropolis and Sell Bonds on the Side.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, May 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Dowie will take another shy at the fleshpots of New York City. His agents have engaged Carnegie Music Hall for Sunday, June 26, when "Elijah II" will hold forth morning, afternoon and evening in an effort to explain his recent peppery experiences in Australia and sell some more Zion City bonds.

"Elijah" will be accompanied by his unkissed son, J. Gladstone Dowie, and his wife. Their arrival in New York from the Cunard liner will be the occasion for an assemblage of the heads of Dowie's church.

"The general overseer has been in weekly communication with the faithful at Zion City by cablegram ever since his departure," said Deacon Cornelius, in charge of the New York headquarters. "Before Dr. Dowie gets here we will have met the second payment due our creditors, under the arrangement made with Judge Kohlsaat. It will be on June 12 and amounts to thousands."

Overseer Mason said, "Elijah" hopes to make another New York visitation in 1905.

"Instead of holding meetings in Madison Square Garden, it is planned to hire halls on the Bowery and in Harlem, Brooklyn and Jersey City and divide the host of ten thousand," said the overseer.

"We may have Madison Square Garden for a few meetings, over which the general overseer will preside, but Dr. Dowie hopes to get the best results from small meetings. Already converts are arriving from Australia, over 100 having so far passed through New York on their way to Zion City."

CRUISER'S QUEER QUEST.

The Tacoma About to Leave Honolulu in Seach of Unknown Island.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

HONOLULU, May 19.—The United States cruiser Tacoma is about to start from here for San Francisco by a roundabout route. She will go first to a location between here and Panama in search of an unknown island, which has been reported many times.

J. D. Hague of New York, is on board the Tacoma and will conduct the soundings. He says he believes it probable that the warship Levant, which disappeared after leaving Hilo, in August, 1860, was wrecked on this island. He hopes to find traces of this vessel, and thinks it possible that there may still be some of her survivors on the island. This view was presented by Hague to Secretary of the Navy Moody and he finally induced Mr. Moody to order the Tacoma to go in search of the island.

PLATFORM ON WHICH REPUBLICANS STAND.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SACRAMENTO, May 19.—The following platform and resolutions were adopted today by the Republican State Convention:

The Republicans of the State of California, in convention assembled, declare their continued allegiance to the principles and policies of the national Republican party, under whose guidance and control the nation has steadily advanced in prosperity and greatness, until it has become one of the foremost powers of the world. We here reaffirm our faith in those principles and policies. We declare in favor of continued protection of American industry and labor, a sound system of finance; the building up of an American merchant marine, that our carrying trade be under our own flag; a navy ample for all purposes of offense and defense, and its construction, in part, at government navy yards; the immediate construction of the Panama Canal; the continuance of the policy of Chinese exclusion; the complete protection of every American citizen in his constitutional rights everywhere; the improvement of the navigable streams of the United States and all necessary appropriations therefor, and the policy of national expenditures for the preservation of our forests and the reclamation of the arid lands and the work now being inaugurated by the national administration to that end.

These principles and policies we have seen exemplified and carried out in the supreme statesmanship and matchless administration now in control of our national affairs. We have nothing for which to apologize. We will take no backward step; we have only to go forward. At the end of his first term as President we find the prestige of the nation increased and our principles still emblazoned on the standard of the party held in the stainless hands of Theodore Roosevelt.

We heartily indorse the clean, able and businesslike management of our State institutions and offices, and we congratulate the people of California on the high character and efficient administration of their Governor, the honorable George C. Pardee.

We cordially acknowledge the service of our United States Senators and our Republican delegation in the House of Representatives, and we commend them all for their faithful and earnest work in behalf of the best interests of California.

In Theodore Roosevelt we recognize a fearless champion of human rights, an intelligent statesman, a friend of labor, a safe and wise Chief Magistrate, a President under whose control the affairs of the nation have been successfully managed, and to whose care we can and do with all confidence commend the administration of the government for the next four years.

We, therefore, instruct the delegates this day chosen to cast their votes for Theodore Roosevelt of New York as the nominee of the Republican party for President of the United States and to use all honorable endeavor to secure his nomination.

THE VERY LATEST.

WAR NEWS AFTER MIDNIGHT.

LONDON, May 20.—The English newspapers express the greatest regret and sympathy at Japan's ill luck in losing two warships. They consider it due purely to accident, probably derelict mines, not believing that the Russians placed mines at such a distance. Admiration is expressed at the smartness of the Japanese in saving so many lives from the vessels. The papers use the disasters to point out a lesson to the British political party which charged that the government is spending too much money on the navy.

The reports that the battleships Shikishima and Fuji were lost, apparently rest mainly on the assertions of Russian refugees who arrived at Chefoo, and the Morning Post, which is well informed on Japanese views, thinks that the disasters to the Japanese vessels will lead Japan to devote her attention to reducing Port Arthur, on the ground that it is all important that she retain command of the sea.

The same paper suggests as an explanation of the conflicting reports of the Russian doings at Newchwang, that the Russians quitted Newchwang but, finding the way northward blocked by Japanese, decided to return to Newchwang and hold out there as long as possible in the hope of relief.

Tokio dispatches to the Daily Telegraph and the Standard say that Admiral Nashila was among those saved from the battleship Hatsuse.

RUSSO-GERMAN ENTENTE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PARIS, May 20.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Echo de Paris says:

"It is persistently rumored that the negotiations are going on with Germany, the object of which is to effect a rapprochement and the reconstitution of the triple alliance whereby Russia would obtain Germany's diplomatic support in a settlement of the Far Eastern question. An understanding with Germany would prevent British intervention in favor of Japan and Russia would, as an immediate pledge, concede a settlement of pending economic and customs questions.

"The attempt to form a Russo-German entente is due to the Anglo-French entente which produced a deplorable effect here. The Russians consider that French officials, if not supported by popular sympathy, cannot stand the strain of the war, and that it will make possible a Russo-German entente restricted to a special point which will not affect the French-Russian alliance, but must eventually wreck it.

"This news surely will be denied, but I have reason to believe it well founded.

"Russia has decided to make all the ports of her Pacific possessions free ports, and this will soon be announced officially, with a view to meeting British and American objections to her occupation of Manchuria."

CHINESE PORTS OPENED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, May 20.—The Shanghai correspondent of the Times cables that Sir Robert Hart, director of Chinese customs telegraphs that the ports of Tsinanfu, Weinhsien and Chantsun have been opened to foreign commerce by Imperial decree on the advice of Yuan Shi Kai, Governor of the province of Pechili.

It is reported in native circles in Shanghai that the Chinese government has agreed, in deference to the wishes of Germany, that the customs appointments at these ports shall be given exclusively to Germans.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PANAMA, May 19.—Gov. Davis today issued a proclamation from the "Office of the Governor of the Isthmian Canal Zone, Culebra, May 19" and addressed to "The inhabitants of the Canal Zone." The proclamation enumerates the rights acquired by the United States from Panama in the zone, by virtue of the canal treaty, and says that for the maintenance of order within the zone, so that inhabitants may be protected in the full enjoyment of their liberty, property and religion, President Roosevelt has been empowered by Congress to establish a temporary government in the zone. The powers of the commission are set forth, as are also the rights and privileges of the citizens of the zone. The announcement is made that all forms of gambling are prohibited. The proclamation concludes by announcing the following appointments: Secretary, Ernest Legard; Treasurer and Paymaster, E. C. Tobey; Captain of Police, G. R. Shanton; Sanitary Officer, Dr. L. W. Spratling.

Bishop Sleeps Best on Depot Floor.

Conditions in Hawaiian Islands Depressed.

Chico Causes Loss of Quarter Million.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
SAN FRANCISCO, May 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The unique spectacle was recently presented of a Church of England clergyman who had been a bishop for thirty years and more living on a wharf and in a railway station rather than go where people

The Rev. W. Bombas, bishop of Honolulu, came from Alaska to attend a session of the synod, it was only after urgent persuasion on the part of his colleagues. For thirty years Bishop Bombas has labored among the Indians of the North, without a trip out, and there is no more devoted missionary of the church. It is because of his long absence from civilization and his custom of sleeping wherever night overtakes him that when he arrived at Seattle and had his grip for a pillow and slept that night on the wharf. From Seattle to Winnipeg, he could not get connection at Mission Junction for hours and during that time accepted the invitation of a clergyman there and stretched out on the floor of the depot and that, notwithstanding he was indisposed.

AN TRADE DEPRESSED.

INDUSTRY THREATENED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
HONOLULA, May 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Senator Andrew Hemrich returned from Honolulu, declaring that trade conditions in Hawaii are very much depressed and unless the government soon permits the use of Asiatic labor, the sugar industry

Judge Hemrich believes that the Hawaiian Islands will never become prosperous unless the Federal government grants them some form of aid. The government calculated to encourage or permits the use of Asiatic labor for the cultivation of the agricultural product.

The conditions at Honolulu are not healthy and declares the prospects extremely gloomy for commerce, unless some way can be devised to enable the big sugar crops to secure at a fair price, which to harvest and prepare the raw product.

The loss to Hawaii been deprived of revenue of more than a million and a half dollars by the loss of the subsidies, but the plantations are confronted by a crisis in the labor which has nearly bankrupted the planter there. He was hopeful only one plantation is now in operation, that one declared a dividend of 6 per cent. last season.

HALF-MILLION LOSS.

FIRE AT CHICO.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]
CHICO, May 19.—The fire which started shortly before noon in the planing mill of the Sierra Lumber Company, just without the limits of the city of Chico, destroyed upward of three quarters of a million dollars' worth of property, principally lumber and buildings. The blaze started probably from the spark of a yard locomotive. A heavy gale from the north fanned the flames to spread rapidly and several sheds which were covered with lumber piled several feet in Practically every foot of lumber in the yard, about 12,000,000 feet, including a quantity of high-grade product stored in the sheds, was destroyed. The mill, a two-story dwelling belonging to the company, tram cars, a large quantity of doors, sashes, boxes, shingles, and practically everything of value, excepting the new planing mill and box factory, were totally destroyed.

The residences in the line of the fire were destroyed. They were the property of George Lowell, C. B. Smith and Mrs. A. T. Williams. All were fully insured. The three are valued at about $5000. The loss to the Sierra Lumber Company cannot be accurately estimated, but it will be over $200,000, with an insurance of less than $150,000.

manage throughout the stock in this part of Grant county. When Secretary of State Dunbar was notified he directed the authorities to kill the ponies, but the Indians in the meantime disappeared in the direction of the Columbia River. It is expected that they will return later and then the order will be executed.

It is almost certain the Indians will resist the extermination of their band and it is considered probable that a serious battle will occur before the matter is settled. There is a strong feeling here against the government agents on the part of the settlers, who accuse the officials of exercising insufficient supervision over these roaming bands from the reservation.

UNIQUE DUEL ENDS DRUNK.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]
PORTLAND (Or.) May 19.—A special to the Oregonian from John Day, Or., says:

"Some Indians from the Columbia River, roaming over the hills and along the streams of Grant county, became intoxicated at Dayville. They then engaged in an altercation which ended in a hot fight, during which two of the braves received severe punishment. These two met later on the bridge across the John Day River, and engaged in a duel, using their spurs as weapons.

The duel ended with the killing of one of the braves. This sobered the rest of the Indians, and, binding the dead warrior on a horse, together with that of a baby which had been killed in the fight, they disappeared across the mountains in the direction of the Columbia River.

Woodworth and a staff of assistants from the Agricultural Department of the University of California are engaged in fighting a grasshopper plague that threatens to destroy crops to the value of thousands of dollars in Stanislaus county.

Prof. Woodworth reports having burned over large areas, in the hope of killing the young hoppers and destroying the eggs in the breeding places.

Two hundred thousand dollars has been subscribed by Dyer & Co. and $100,000 by the Central Investment Company, which leaves $100,000 to be raised by the citizens of Colusa. Thirty-seven thousand dollars was raised at tonight's meeting. A committee has been appointed to raise the balance needed. The indications now are that the factory will be built.

Montana Miners Want Moyer Released Long Enough so that He Can be Again Made Head of the Western Federation — Strikers Killed in Riot in Callao.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]
INDIANAPOLIS (Ind.) May 19.—The Star tomorrow will say:

"The present administration of the International Typographical Union was indorsed by the membership of the craft in Wednesday's election, and James M. Lynch was reelected by a majority of between 30,000 and 50,000. J. W. Bramwood was elected to succeed himself as secretary by a majority estimated at between 12,000 and 15,000. C. E. Hawkes of Chicago, once vice-president, opposed Lynch, and in the larger cities—Cincinnati, Washington, Indianapolis, New York, Philadelphia and others—he either defeated Lynch or was outvoted by a small majority. In the small locals, however, Lynch was supported heavily. The union has 66,000 members at present. The fight against Bramwood was on the same lines and was made by W. A. Graham of St. Joseph."

WANT MOYER RELEASED.

BUTTE MINERS' QUEER ERRAND.
[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]
BUTTE (Mont.) May 19.—Thirteen delegates from the Butte Miner' Union will leave for Denver tomorrow, where they will appeal to Gov. Peabody to release Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, from the jail at Telluride, in order to attend the convention of the federation.

The Montana delegates favor the reelection of Moyer for president and will assure Gov. Peabody that the Butte miners will see that he is returned to the military authorities at the close of the convention.

MORE MILITARY PRISONERS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]
TRINIDAD (Colo.) May 19.—One hundred striking union coal miners who refused to be registered by the military authorities of Las Animas county, which is under martial law, were brought to this city today as military prisoners from the strikers' camps near Ludlow.

KILLED IN CALLAO.

STRIKERS AND POLICE CLASH.
[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]
CALLAO (Peru) May 19.—When the striking dock employés were going toward the dock today the police interfered and attempted to disperse them. The police arrested seven strikers and their comrades made an effort to rescue them. A fight ensued in which the police fired over forty shots, which were answered by a shower of stones. One of the strikers was killed and seven were wounded. The police arrested the members of the board of directors of the strikers' union.

The people in Callao have become alarmed and boarding-houses are closed. The streets are constantly patroled by cavalry.

Unexpected Opposition to Plan Shown at Buffalo.

The General Assembly Opens With a Surprise.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
BUFFALO, May 19. — [Exclusive Dispatch.] The great surprise in the Presbyterian General Assembly on its opening today was the unanimous election as moderator of Rev. Dr. James Addison Henry of Philadelphia without any opposing candidates.

It came about because the men who were to nominate the two rival candidates to Dr. Henry watched each other too long, each waiting for the other to speak first, which gave Rev. Alfred Kligwin of Newark, N. J., the opportunity to move that the nominations close just after Dr. Henry had been nominated. The motion carried, and Rev. Dr. Howard Agnew Johnson, a rival candidate, moved that the nomination be made unanimous, which was carried with great applause, and the friends of the other candidates stared at each other in blank astonishment.

Much hard work has been done for weeks for Rev. Dr. Moffat and Rev. Dr. Howard Agnew Johnson, but the masterly speech of President Patton in nominating Dr. Henry, and the skillful tactics of the Princeton men, swept the field of Dr. Johnston. The election of Dr. Henry was made unanimous. Dr. Henry is 66 years of age, and has had but one church. His grandfather, father and himself have served as pastors continuously for 118 years.

Dr. Henry, a man of imposing appearance, captured the assembly with his humorous inaugurating speech, closing with "Long live Buffalo, Buffalo forever!" Dr. Henry was born sixty-six years ago in Cranbury, N. J., graduated from Princeton, and has been pastor for Princeton Presbyterian Church of Philadelphia for forty-four years.

Dr. Henry brought the assembly to business at once. The machinery of the "Peoria plan" was immediately started to appoint the committees. Much dissatisfaction was caused by the order of the Committee of Arrangements to seat the commissioners by delegations, and to do this, deaf men were compelled to sit in the rear of the church, and the venerable secretaries were put out of places to give places to others. Rev. Dr. B. L. Agnew was ordered to the gallery.

Lafayette Avenue Church, where the assembly meets, was crowded in the morning to hear the opening sermon by Rev. Dr. Robert F. Coyle of Denver, the retiring moderator. The cosmopolitan character of the denomination was seen in the presence of over thirty colored commissioners, half a dozen full-blooded Indians and other colors of all shades. Rev. Pierre La Pointe, a Dakota Indian, sat side by side with Rev. Dr. Charles A. Dickey, an ex-moderator of the assembly.

PROBLEMS DISCUSSED.

Dr. Coyle, in his opening sermon, discussed the labor problem and the hostility of the masses to the church, and said how to take away this soreness is the great problem of the day. He put problems, but did not solve them. It made a stir when Dr. Coyle said: "A system which allows a man to have three or four ex-wives, or a woman to have three or four ex-husbands, is not radically different from a system which allows a man to have three or four wives all at once. I am not sure but the die should be cast in favor of the Mormon." Dr. Coyle made a vigorous attack on "machine revivals," causing decided uneasiness among the many evangelists present.

The customary routine was followed in the constitution of the assembly. The assembly communion service was held tonight, when addresses were made by Rev. Dr. Francis L. Patton of Princeton and Samuel Edward Young of Pittsburgh.

It is universally acknowledged that the all-important question to come before the assembly is that of union with the Cumberland Presbyterian Church. Many of the strongest men in the assembly are opposed to the movement, including all the colored commissioners. Among the opponents of the union are ex-Moderator Patton, ex-Moderator Minton, Rev. Dr. John Fox and others. The root of opposition is on the demand of the Cumberland Presbyterians that the colored people be erected in separate presbyteries. The colored commissioners are opposed to this to a man.

Gen. Ralph E. Prime says: "I am uncompromisingly opposed to a color line in the church on earth or in heaven and the Presbyterian Church will never consent to it."

There is a notable absence of distinguished men in the assembly. This is a great disappointment to Buffalo people. The effort to secure the presence of the President, ex-President Cleveland, John Wanamaker and Booker T. Washington is a failure, but two ex-moderators of the assembly are present. Rev. Francis J. Patton and Henry C. Minton. The only prominent lawyers are Gen. Ralph E. Prime of New York, Louis H. Severance, of Cleveland, Col. James M. Rice of Peoria and Hon. Robert N. Wilson of Philadelphia. Among those attracting some attention is Rev. Dr. Tennis S. Hamlin of Washington, cousin of the late Vice-President Hamlin.

STATISTICS OF ASSEMBLY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]
BUFFALO, May 19.—The 116th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of the United States convened here today with a very large attendance. The Rev. Robert F. Coyle, D.D., of Denver, the retiring moderator, preached the opening sermon, after which a recess was taken.

There are 710 commissioners entitled to seats in the General Assembly, which is the court of last resort of the Presbyterian body in this country, representing 1,100,000 persons, 7800 congregations and 7600 ministers.

One of the main questions to be decided is an overture from the Cumberland Church, which seceded from the parent body in 1810 and was organized as a separate church. The secession was on doctrinal and educational grounds.

PREDESTINATION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]
BUFFALO, May 19.—Predestination and the education qualifications for the ministry were among the questions discussed. The plan of the proposed union with the Cumberland faction will give rise to an interesting debate. While the assembly is meeting here the General Assembly of the Cumberland church will be held at Dallas, Tex.

Upon their decisions depends the question whether the Cumberland Church shall be restored to Christian felowship, with its membership of 185,000, mostly in the South and Southwest. Upon this decision also will depend the future maintenance of a separate colored church with separate presbyteries, as are now being maintained under the Cumberland jurisdiction.

DECISION A STRAW.

Queen Will Not Attend Chopin Concert Lest Poland be Fanned to Flame of Revolt.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
LONDON, May 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Because of rumors of a rising in Poland in the early summer, Queen Alexandra has decided not to attend the anniversary concert May 26, the day on which Chopin died.

The concert is to be held under the auspices of the Duchess of Sutherland, at Stafford House. The Queen fears her presence at the concert might be interpreted as an encouragement to the Polish revolutionists.

The Poles in London and elsewhere are known to be most active. They are shipping quantities of arms to Poland via the Austrian frontier. Court and diplomatic circles here consider the situation serious.

France Recalls Her Ambassador, but Diplomatic Relations Are Not Severed as Yet.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]
PARIS, May 19.—It is stated in official circles that the recall of M. Nisard does not mean the complete severance of diplomatic relations with the Vatican, but the indefinite suspension of M. Nisard's service. Besides an ambassador, France has a minister at the Vatican, Count De Navenne, who will continue to carry out formal business.

Following the council of ministers held today to consider the subject of the Pope's protest, Foreign Minister Delcasse telegraphed to M. Nisard, asking full details of the protest sent by the Pope to the foreign powers. It is expected that the answer will permit final action to be taken on his recall within a day or two.

PITH OF NEWS FROM THE MIDDLE WEST

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] While distressed citizens are uniting in howls of protest against the intolerable spring, Prof. H. J. Cox, the weather seer, comes forward in the current number of the official Illinois climate and crop-service monthly with an ardent endorsement of Chicago weather. Prof. Cox takes great pains to prove that from a meterological point of view this town is not guilty of the appellation "Windy City," but admits that the climate "may properly be called variable."

A theory is advanced that tornadoes, cyclones and other atmospheric disturbances are likely to be broken up by contact with the cooling influences of Lake Michigan and that Chicago is specially favored by its flat environments from any of the destructive wind influences which prevail at greater altitudes. To the rigorous and variable climate of Chicago, Prof. Cox attributes much of the energy and resourcefulness of the inhabitants.

Conditions were practically unchanged today. The maximum temperature was 66 deg.; minimum, 45.

Capt. Neely, Ohio Volunteers, Owes Life to Warner's Safe Cure.
"I Was Dying of Kidney and Liver Disease, But Warner's Safe Cure Made Me Well in Three Months."
"About a year ago I had as bad a case of kidney and liver disease as a man could have and live. I was so weak that I could hardly sit up, and everything swam before my eyes.
The medicine the doctor prescribed seemed only to poison my system and make me worse. My wife begged me to try Warner's Safe Cure, and to please her I did so. To say that I owe my life to it but half tells the story.
My appetite was quickly restored, my body was nourished and new life seemed to flow through my veins, and in three months I was a well, strong, healthy man once more.
I wish every suffering man and woman could feel what your medicine can and will do. (Hon.) T. O. Neely, Capt. Company F., Ohio Volunteers. Ravinia, Ill.
Like a skilled soldier, disease attacks the weakest spot, and in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred, this is the kidneys, or liver, where practically all the most dangerous and complicated diseases have their start.
When once the kidneys and liver become diseased there can be no health, for on these important organs fall the complicated work of keeping the body free from the poisonous waste matters daily thrown off by the system.

CAPT. T. O. NEELY.
If you have cause to even suspect that your kidneys are affected, do not delay a moment but make a personal test at your home. Let some morning urine stand 24 hours; if a reddish brown sediment forms, or if particles float about in it, or it is cloudy, your kidneys are seriously affected and utterly unable to do their work, and if allowed to run on without treatment the uric acid will clog the blood and poison the whole body, causing rheumatic pains and swellings, inflammation of the bladder and urinary organs, headache, backache; indigestion, constipation, torpid liver, nervousness, all manner of blood and skin eruptions and finally a complete breakdown with Bright's Disease or diabetes and death. Warner's Safe Cure is what you need. It quickly and permanently cures even the most stubborn cases.
THE ONE POSITIVE KIDNEY CURE.
It is made from purest herbs, and has been prescribed everywhere by doctors and used in leading hospitals for over thirty years, as the one certain cure for all diseases of kidneys, bladder, liver and blood. Sold at all drug stores or direct, 50 cents and $1 a bottle.
REFUSE SUBSTITUTES. They are worthless and very often exceedingly dangerous. Ask for WARNER'S SAFE CURE; it will cure you.

THE GREAT WAR.

and the Fuji, next astern, heeded the warning.

"The Baltic fleet, which is reported as about to sail, but which cannot well reach the Far East unless some power violates her neutrality by permitting the Russians to coal, consists of four good modern battleships, as good as the best in the Japanese navy, and three battleships older and inferior. The fleet has no armored cruisers and only three or four protected cruisers. Its fighting force is vastly inferior to that of the Japanese fleet, unless it is reinforced by ships from Port Arthur which are intact.

"In that case it would be a critical matter, although I believe the Japanese would win with their splendid seamanship, their magnificent courage and their knowledge that, if beaten, their country would be doomed to unutterable disaster.

"There is no fighter like the man with his back to a wall and who has a righteous cause."

ADMIRAL TOGO'S REPORT.
YOSHINO-HATSUSE DISASTER.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TOKIO, May 19, 9:30 p.m.—Vice-Admiral Togo has reported as follows:

"A report from Rear-Admiral Dewa says that the cruisers Kasuga and Yoshino collided during a dense fog off Port Arthur on May 15. The Yoshino sank, only ninety of her crew being saved.

"On the same day the battleship Hatsuse struck a Russian mine and sank."

Giving details of the disaster Vice-Admiral Togo says:

"At fourteen minutes past one in the afternoon of May 15, in a deep fog off Port Arthur, the Kasuga rammed the Yoshino, sinking the latter in a few minutes. Ninety of her crew were saved.

"The same morning the Hatsuse, while cruising off Port Arthur, covering the landing of soldiers, struck a mine ten knots southeast of the harbor entrance. She signaled for help, and instantly struck another mine. She sank in half an hour. Three hundred of her crew were saved by torpedo boats."

The cruiser Kasuga, mentioned in the above dispatch, was purchased by Japan from Argentine before the outbreak of hostilities with Russia.

The cruiser Yoshino was a steel vessel of 4180 tons displacement; she was 350 feet long, 46 feet wide and had a draught of 17 feet. Her indicated horse power was 15,000, and her speed was 23 knots. She was built in 1892. She carried four six-inch, eight 4.7-inch guns and twenty-three three-pounders. She had five torpedo tubes and a complement of 300 men.

The Hatsuse was a steel battleship of 15,000 tons displacement. She was 400 feet long, 75 feet wide, and had a draught of 27 feet. Her indicated horse power was 16,500, she was built in 1899, and her speed was 19 knots. She was armed with four 12-inch and fourteen 6-inch guns, as well as thirty-two guns of smaller caliber. She had four torpedo tubes, and a complement of 741 men.

ADMIRAL MASHIBA SAVED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, May 19.—Advices received at the Japanese legation from Tokio confirming the Associated Press account of the sinking of the cruiser Yoshino and the battleship Hatsuse, state that after the Hatsuse had been struck by Russian mechanical mines, a Russian flotilla of sixteen torpedo boats and destroyers appeared, but were repulsed by the Japanese cruisers, which saved 600 of the Hatsuse's crew, including Admiral Mashiba and Capt. Nakao.

TOGO'S REPORT CORRECT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19.—The report of Vice-Admiral Togo sent out this morning, giving the loss off Port Arthur of the cruiser Yoshino and battleship Hatsuse, undoubtedly refers to the incident reported from Chefoo last night, when it was said that the Japanese vessels lost were the battleship Shikishima and the cruiser Asama, or the battleship Fuji. Togo's report is doubtless correct both as to the names of the vessels lost and the date of the occurrence.

CHEFOO VERSION.
SHIKISHIMA AND FUJI.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CHEFOO, May 19, 3 p.m.—People just arrived here from Dalny have reported to the Russian Consul that the Japanese battleship Shikishima sank in two minutes after contact with the submarine mine and that there was no time to save the crew. The accident happened, it is said, within sight of Port Arthur.

The battleship Fuji, not the cruiser Asama, which struck the mine on the port bow, had a heavy list and was also down by the bow, but was righted and went off in tow of the other cruisers. It is thought impossible, however, that she could reach port.

The rumor at Dalny, to the effect that the Asama, had sank in Kerr Bay, probably refers to the sinking of the steel cruiser Miyaka, which took place there recently by coming in contact with a submarine mine.

The Russian Consul personally had a telegram from Dalny saying that it is rumored there that two Japanese battleships had been sunk off Port Arthur.

Refugees coming in say that the town received no damage from the bombardment, and that considerable land fighting is going on to the north of Dalny.

PAY FOR PETROPAVLOVSK.
SINKING OF JAP WARSHIPS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, May 19, 5:50 p.m.—The Admiralty has no confirmation of the reported destruction of the Japanese battleships Shikishima and Fuji.

"I have always held the belief," said one of the most prominent admirals of the General Staff, "that the Shikishima would pay for the Petropavlovsk."

The report of the sinking of the two Japanese ships might be well founded, as the official press dispatches from Liao Yang report the Japanese fleet as cruising off Port Dalny at a distance of eight miles or less, in order to throw shells into the fortresses.

After the Petropavlovsk was destroyed, the Russians attempted the same plan as the Japanese, that of sending out torpedo boats at night to place floating mines where the enemy had appeared a few hours before. Mines were especially planted off the Liau Ti Shan promontory, which was a favorite point from which the Japanese armor clads bombarded Port Arthur.

DANGEROUS NAVIGATION.
MANY FLOATING MINES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CHICAGO, May 19,—A special to the Daily News from Chefoo says: "While cruising off Dalny this morning, the Daily News dispatch boat Fawan was stopped and examined by the Japanese cruiser Kasagi. The Japanese officers informed us that two Russian destroyers had escaped from Port Arthur and are still at large. They stated that the Russians are using Chinese junks to place mines in the path of the Japanese fleet patrolling the peninsula coast. They also said that they had sunk a tug and several junks that were discovered placing mines.

"In view of this promiscuous mining, the Japanese fleet is moving to a greater distance off the coast and all other navigation in these waters is suspended.

"There are indications that the Japanese destroyers have laid many mines outside Port Arthur, hoping to catch the Russian destroyers in the attempt to return to Port Arthur. Many of these mines have been improperly anchored and are adrift. They are reported to be all over the gulf. The Fawan passed eight and one Chinese junk picked up eighteen."

CHINESE NEUTRIALITY.
SUSPECTED BY RUSSIA.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, May 19, 1:40 p.m.—It is learned that Foreign Minister Lamsdorff, in interviews yesterday with representatives of the great powers, laid particular emphasis upon the attitude of the Chinese. He referred to the necessity for all the governments continuing the policy of constantly impressing Peking with the advisability of preserving strict neutrality. The Foreign Minister desires that China shall not only be officially neutral, but that there shall be no interference on the part of her people, and he believes the latter point can be assured if violations of the Imperial proclamations are swiftly punished. The Minister has not forgotten the supineness of the Imperial government in 1900, which permitted the Boxer movement to spread until it implicated the coast and required international intervention.

The views of the Russian Foreign Minister are regarded as significant, especially as they follow the renewed assurances of the Chinese Minister.

The military expert of the Novoe Vremya expresses this morning an opinion, which is slowly crystallizing here, that the attitude of the Chinese authorities and the activity of Chinese bandits are tantamount to a state of war.

"It is the worst kind of war," says the expert, "since it is cloaked by hypocritical neutrality. Russia is now warring in a hostile country."

CZAR'S BIRTHDAY.
CELEBRATED BY RUSSIANS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, May 19, 12:50 p.m.—St. Petersburb had a holiday today in honor of the birthday of Emperor Nicholas, who was born May 18, 1868. The city was ablaze with color; the principal streets were gaily decorated; the street cars, displaying flags, moved slowly on the Nevsky and other thoroughfares; the ships moored in the sparkling Neva were dressed and the churches were thronged during the morning with officials and other persons offering prayers for the Emperor and the success of the Russian arms in the Far East.

At noon, the dingy fortress on the banks of the Neva fired an Imperial salute of 121 guns.

In previous years, it had been customary for the Emperor to hold a grand reception at the Winter Palace, but the absence of His Majesty made it impossible today. The joy of many officials was increased by promotions and decorations which were gazetted in the Official Messenger this morning.

Peasants in holiday attire were grouped at the street corners, studying Gen. Kouropatkin's bulletins reporting that the Japanese are falling back, but the news apparently did not occasion satisfaction, because it was known, even to the lowliest, that Kouropatkin will not strike and that some time must elapse before Russia can make her might felt. However, no impatience was displayed at the failure of the Russian commander-in-chief to follow up his advantage. There was only muttered approval of the policy of waiting until the reinforcements to which the Emperor was bidding farewell reached Manchuria.

POWERS AWAITING OUTCOME OF WAR.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PEKING, May 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Consul-General Cheshire and Consul Davidson, recently appointed to new posts in Manchuria—Mukden and Antung—arrived here and were detained to await the occupation of these ports by the Japanese. For the present Mr. Cheshire will be retained in the legation in Peking and Mr. Davidson will go to Shanghai to relieve Mr. Goodnow of some of the burden of the heavy work of that port occasioned by the stress of the war.

It is thought on all sides that the Japanese will have complete possession of the province of Kuan Tung and the Yalu region inside of four or five weeks. And it is the plan for these new consuls to establish consulates at Antung and Mukden just as soon as the Japanese occupy that region. Exequaturs have been obtained and all the preliminaries have been gone through with, so that just as soon as the Russian military regime of the Yalu region shall have been done away with, American consulates will be established at Mukden and Antung.

The British government also has made all necessary arrangements for the establishment of British consulates at the same places, and Sir Robert Hart, director-general of the Chinese imperial customs, is ready to send a complete staff of customs officials to both Mukden and Antung.

Peking, during these days of excitement and expectation, has been suddenly transformed from a slow-going, sleepy capital of ancients, to a center of nervous activity that forebodes some great event. Every train coming into the sacred city these days brings ministers of war, envoys of state, warriors of rank and file, officers of the navies of the world, and last, but not fewest, the inevitable camp followers that ever shadow the movement of all armies, when in active service. So many strangers are coming and going that the old city of "sleeping dragon" has the appearance of a metropolitan center.

Official life, society, and everything in Peking, is without a parallel. Outwardly everything is all sunshine and cordiality, while inward the worst hostility and enmity rankle in the hearts of European diplomats. But on rare occasions, only, is the full distrust and jealousy permitted to manifest itself. The political situation here resembles that of a pack of wolves, which having found a fat young lamb in a pen near their lair, sit down to contemplate the prospective feast with great éclat.

WAR BULLETINS FROM MANY POINTS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, May 19.—The Shanghai correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says the Russians will withdraw to Kau Pautse, concentrating their forces at Fukumen, a hundred miles to the northeast, to support their new forces at Tieling, whither their stores and munitions are being taken.

It is reported, the correspondent says, that 10,000 Russians have been sent to Kaiving, below Newchwang, to check the Japanese advance.

The Mukden branch of the Russo-Chinese bank is reported to have been closed.

According to the Telegraph's correspondent, Baron Mumm von Schwarzenzen, the German Minister at Peking, is said to be seeking consent to post German guards along the Shan Tung Railway.

PURSUING RUSSIANS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SEOUL, May 19, 11:15 a.m.—At the Japanese headquarters here it is said that Col. Kinoshita's infantry battalion, which is pursuing the Russians, arrived at Kai Chyong, May 15. Small parties scouted the country ahead and reported that the Russians were covering their retreat by destroying bridges and blocking the passes in the hills.

EVENTS ANTICIPAETD.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

MUKDEN, May 19.—Little is known here of the precise nature of the operations east or south of Liao Yang, but early and important events are anticipated in the immediate region of Liao Yang. The isolated Russian forces northward of Port Arthur are withdrawing on Port Arthur and it is reported that the Japanese are withdrawing from the vicinity of Kai Chou and are advancing to the passes east of Hai Cheng and Liao Yang.

LOYALTY OF JEWS.

WORDS OF ENCOURAGEMENT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

KREMENCHUG (Government of Poltava, Russia,) May 18.—[Delayed in Transmission.] During his review of the forces bound for the Far East today, the Emperor, addressing the troops, said:

"I am certain, in memory of the fight, that the qualities of the regiment celebrated for its defense of the Shipka Pass, will be abundantly realized in the campaign on which they are now embarking. In the present difficult and dangerous campaign I feel certain you will overcome the enemy and return safely to your native homes."

TENOR AND LAWYER ENLIST.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

MOSCOW, May 19.—A leading Russian tenor, Sobinoff, and a prominent lawyer, Maklakoff, have been enrolled among the army reserves. The latter has already started for the front.

MACEDONIAN REFORMS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, May 19.—The Turkish Minister called on Foreign Minister Lamsdorff, yesterday, and it is understood he was informed that the views expressed by the Austro-Hungarian Foreign Minister, Count Goluchowski, at Budapest, Monday, before the Austrian and Hungarian legations, were those entertained by Russia. Count Lamsdorff told the Turkish Minister in the most positive language that Russia will faithfully carry out her duties, in spite of the Herculean effort she is making in the Far East, and energetically insist, with Austria and the other powers, on the complete observance of the Macedonian reforms.

SKRYDLOFF'S JOURNEY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

MIANDOHA, (a station on the Manchurian railroad,) May 19.—Vice-Admiral Skrydloff left here this morning for Mukden. Several officers of his staff are under orders to proceed to Mukden and Vladivostok, where Admiral Skrydloff will follow. The foggy weather prevailing at Vladivostok will facilitate torpedo boat operations and may cause the Japanese to hesitate about loitering in the neighboring waters.

CHANNEL NOT BLOCKED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, May 19.—The Admiralty claims that the channel at Port Arthur was never blocked by the Japanese fireships and that there is a free passage, even for the heavy Russian ships.

JAPS RELAX ADVANCE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

MUKDEN, May 19, Noon.—The momentary relaxation of the Japanese advance from the south, as officially reported, indicates a temporary withdrawal from the position won during the fighting which apparently ended May 17.

KOREA BREAKS WITH RUSSIA.

YALU AND TUMEN TIMBER CONCESSIONS ANNULLED.

All Relations Between Seoul and St. Petersburg Governments Now at an End—Popular Feeling in Korea Against Japanese Assuming Serious Proportions.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SEOUL, May 19, 1 p.m.—The Korean government has annulled the Russian Yalu and Tumen rivers timber concessions, granted in 1896. The Russian companies interested were backed by M. Besobrazoff, the friend of Viceroy Alexieff and reputed moving spirit of the Russian war party, and many Russian noblemen. There have been frequent differences between Russian semi-official concerns and the private Japanese lumbermen, which constituted one of the annoyances which indirectly led to the war. Korea, in severing diplomatic relations with St. Petersburg, has not felt bound to respect Russian commercial contracts.

It was announced May 6 from Tokio that Korea had recalled her Minister at St. Petersburg.

MINISTER ALLEN'S REPORT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, May 19.—Minister Allen cables the State Department from Seoul today as follows:

"The Korean government, by an imperial decree issued last night, has annulled all treaties and agreements with the Russian government. This annulment comprises the Yalu timber concessions."

This Yalu timber concession is said to have been one of the principal factors in bringing about the present war. So long as the Russians remained on the western bank of the Yalu, the Japanese, though very much discontented at the failure to evacuate Manchuria, were not willing to plunge into hostilities, but the procurement by Russia, through M. Pavloff, the resident Russian agent and Minister at Seoul, of a large concession of land on the Korean side of the Yalu, precipitated the crisis. The Japanese felt that the alleged timber concession was really intended for military purposes, and they were confirmed in their suspicion by Russian opposition to the application of Japan, England and the United States to have free ports opened at the mouth of the Yalu River and above Wiju and Antung.

The practical effect of this decree is to break off all diplomatic relations between Russia and Korea that may have survived the expulsion of M. Pavloff from Seoul.

KOREANS HELPING COSSACKS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PARIS, May 19.—An official dispatch from Seoul says: "Korean feeling against the Japanese is assuming serious proportions. Lack of organization prevents the Koreans from adopting effective measures, but they are secretly embarrassing the Japanese by lending assistance to the Cossack detachments operating in Northeast Korea down to Gensan. These bands, with the cooperation of Koreans, it is added, have cut the telegraph line from Chemulpo to Ping Yang.

JAPANESE LINE.
CLOSE TO PORT ARTHUR.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TOKIO, May 19, 4:30 p.m.—It is unofficially reported here that small skirmishes are taking place south of Kin Chau, on the Liao Tung Peninsula. The Japanese line extends from Chichaton to Chulishan, across a ridge of hills a mile and a half north of Kin Chau. It completely dominates that town, which can be taken in half a day when the Japanese are ready to do so. Kin Chau is 7000 or 8000 meters north of the narrowest part of the peninsula, and forty miles north of Port Arthur. The Japanese line, therefore, is less than forty-five miles from Port Arthur.

JAPANESE BULLETS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LIAO YANG, May 18.—(Delayed in Transmission.) The Russian army surgeons are praising the Japanese bullets. They inflict a small, clean wound, though they possess good stopping effect. Capt. Vorobreff was struck by twenty bullets during the fighting at the Yalu River, but he survived, and is expected to recover. Several gunners of the heroic Third Battery are convalescent, though their intestines were pierced. The last trainload of men wounded at the Yalu has gone north, after the soldiers received decorations personally from Gen. Kouropatkin.

LOSSES AND SPOILS.
JAPS' GREAT KILLING.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TOKIO, May 19, 4:30 p.m.—Gen. Kuroki reports the Japanese losses at the battle of Kuliencheng, on May 1, as follows: Killed, 5 officers and 218 men; wounded, 33 officers and 783 men.

Thirteen hundred and fifty-three Russian dead were buried by the Japanese, and 16 officers and 595 men were taken prisoners.

The Japanese captured 21 quick-firing guns, 19 ammunition wagons and 1417 shells for these guns, 8 machine guns and 37,000 shells for them, 1021 rifles and 250,000 rounds of rifle ammunition. They captured also 62 horses, 10 wagons, 1244 coats and 541 tents.

At Feng Wang Cheng the Japanese captured also 357 shells for mountain guns, 138,000 rounds of rifle ammunition, 1720 coats, 40,000 loaves of bread and other supplies, and tools and telegraph stores.

FEAR BOMBARDMENT.
DANGER AT VLADIVOSTOK.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, May 19.—A copy of the Vladivostok Vostochny Vestnik, which has just reached this city, expresses fears that the next bombardment of the Japanese will be more effective than that of May 6. It says it is expected the enemy's ships will take up a position in Amur Bay, now free of ice, in which they could not maneuver in March, compelling them to fire from Usuri Bay. The paper foresees great loss of life when the Japanese again shell Vladivostok. The authorities there have ordered hundreds of non-combatants to leave the city. Voicing the views of experts, the Vostochny Vestnik says it does not believe a land attack will have a chance of success. The paper also reports that 1500 Japanese who disembarked at Plaksin Bay, in the northeast of Korea, in the beginning of March, intending to proceed to Mao Shan, turned back because of the hardships they suffered along the route.

WAS PROBABLY ONLY A FEINT.

BOMBARDMENT OF THE COAST AROUND KAI CHOU.

Japanese Landed, Did Some Damage to Russians, Then Hastily Withdrew—Vacillating Conduct of Russians at Newchwang — City Abandoned and Reoccupied.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEWCHWANG, May 19.—A courier of the Associated Press who arrived here shortly before midnight, reports that the Japanese fleet was sighted from Tower Hill, ten miles north of Kai Chou, on Monday. The bombardment of the coast was extensive, covering a distance of twenty-five miles. Only the Japanese marines, it is reported, were landed. This, however, is not confirmed. The Japanese force marched several miles inland, destroyed four miles of railroad and other property, captured a Russian commissary train and returned with a number of carts, animals and native drivers. The Japanese then reembarked and left the vicinity of their landing place. The transports shortly afterward could not be seen from Tower Hill, but their course was southward. It is believed now that the landing was a feint to cover movements elsewhere.

A regiment of Russian infantry returned here yesterday afternoon. It was reported at 10 o'clock last night that batteries of artillery will reach here today. The Russians seem to be bewildered and disheartened and unable to form lasting plans. Officers who left here (though their personal baggage remains at Newchwang,) after bidding touching farewells to friends in Newchwang, returned a few hours later and began directing the work of building entrenchments a mile south of here. But this task was abandoned in a few hours. It is believed here that the Russian authorities at Mukden are responsible for this vacillation.

In addition to the recrudescence of military activity, the sailors are refitting the Russian gunboat Sivouch, which had been dismantled, loaded with wood and oil in order to destroy her, as well as two small river boats in the mud dock.

The Russian statements in regard to the situation are absolutely unreliable. Many Japanese spies are here or in this neighborhood. One spy has been executed. It is believed he was an officer in the Japanese army.

A correspondent of the Associated Press made an attempt to reach Kia Chou, but was stopped by Russian scouts and compelled to return to Newchwang.

The Russian civil authorities here are making desperate efforts to induce the Chinese guilds to take over the municipal government of Newchwang, but the guilds do not show any disposition to do so.

The Chinese here have ceased displaying the Russian flag.

Bandits continue capturing rich Chinese, holding them captives until ransoms are paid. The Chinese victims make no complaint, fearing assassination.

Newchwang is filled with bandits armed with rapid-fire pistols, concealed in their garments.

There are unconfirmed reports that the Cossacks continue to harass the rear guard of the Japanese army advancing from the Yalu River.

JAPS NOT IN NEWCHWANG.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, May 19, 5:50 p.m.—The Admiralty denies that it has been officially advised of the Japanese occupation of Newchwang. Instructions were published to blow up the Sivouch, the Russian gunboat there, before the last Russians retired. As soon as this is accomplished the Russian commander will report to the authorities here. The fact that nothing has been received convinces the Admiralty that a small Russian force is still at Newchwang.

GUARDING RAILROAD.
RUSSIANS' HARD TASK.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

MIANDONHA (a station on the Manchurian Railway,) May 18.—(Delayed in transmission.) The task of safeguarding the rear against the constant and determined attacks of Japanese and Chinese agents, has caused the Russian military authorities unremitting labor. The railway must be preserved at all hazards, especially for use in case of retreat, and the task is entrusted to a separate corps of frontier guards, made up of 38 mounted squadrons, 55 foot companies and 6 batteries of artillery, altogether 25,000 men. The road, which is 1400 miles long, is divided into sections of thirty-three miles, each guarded by a detachment of troops, which they are expected to constantly patrol. The smallness of the detachments makes this duty exceedingly onerous. It is a matter of comparatively little difficulty for a Japanese spy or a Chinese bandit to steal up to an exposed point and dynamite it before the patrol discovers the danger.

A CONNECTICUT KICKER.

There seems to be just now a regular epidemic of outbursts in Eastern papers criticising Southern California, and Los Angeles in particular, the articles appearing in the shape of communications from easterners who are visiting here or have returned home. Recently The Times made a reference to a screed of this kind, six columns long, in a Connecticut paper. Since then a copy has been received of the Bridgeport Daily Standard, which contains a column and a half "roast" of this section. Possibly the writer was somewhat influenced by the fact that there was recently published in San José an interesting book, entitled "The Era of California's Industrial Possibilities," in which a comparison was drawn between the facilities for manufacturing in Los Angeles and in Bridgeport, Ct. The writer of the letter has the following complimentary remarks in regard to the city of Los Angeles:

Now as to the city of Los Angeles; it was created, exploited, sustained and peopled by the idle, indolent and dissipate rich of the whole earth, and there are enough of these in 80,000,000 of the United States and the same from other countries to keep Los Angeles on the boom. There are two classes there. No. 1, those who have money, and included in with these are the occasional or yearly tourists and class No. 2, looking for trade. No. 1, and gaping with open mouth like a nest of young robins, there also more tramps, beggars, jugglers, fortune tellers, than can replace in the United States. It is the statement to make that three-fourths of the promoters of California and Los Angeles in particular, are imports from east of the Rocky Mountains, and they are calling for all 'tenderfoots,' alias 'greenhorns' who have a dollar."

These people all appear to have little more or less wise and valuable suggestions to offer in regard to the breakwater at the free harbor site of San Pedro. The correspondent whose letter was previously criticised suggested the obvious fact that the breakwater is not at Los Angeles, but at San Pedro. This Standard correspondent is of the opinion that the breakwater, "to cut much figure, and be worth its cost, should be built from the shore to the north end of Catalina Island." Thanks, awfully! We fear it is too late to adopt this suggestion now, but we are none the less obliged to the Bridgeport expert.

Another individual recently had a long letter in the San Francisco Argonaut, from Cleveland, O., in which he criticised several features of Southern California. Among other things, he complains that it is almost impossible to get first-class fruit in the hotels and restaurants. It must be admitted that there is a germ of truth in this. Considering the low price at which fruit may be bought, in large quantities, during the season, there is no excuse for proprietors of hotels to "skimp" on the quality of the fruit they place on their tables. It should be the very best, not only for the satisfaction of their guests, but also for the good of the State. As this man says, when visitors have been fed sour oranges in California, they naturally go back East with the idea that all our oranges are sour, and give the preference to fruit from other sections.

TRUSTS—AND TRUSTS.

In the platform adopted by Mr. Hearst's convention at Santa Cruz (it was Mr. Hearst's convention by right of purchase, if current rumor be not at fault,) there is a great fulmination against "trusts and monopolies." The protective tariff, as represented in the Dingley law, is blamed for the formation of these "trusts and industrial combinations"—although the framers of this amusing declaration of alleged principles are careful to declare that "the abolition of the tariff on products of foreign countries is not contemplated by the Democratic party." The "sole effect" of the Dingley law is declared to be the encouragement of "the formation in the United States of trusts and monopolies in the production of all articles which are subjects of such excessive tariff rates, with power to such trusts and monopolies to compel the American consumer to pay for such articles, so protected, a price in excess of what is just and reasonable," etc., etc.

John N. Irwin, temporary chairman of the Iowa Republican Convention, in his address before that body on Wednesday, fitly characterized the Democratic contention that tariff protection is responsible for the formation of trade combinations. "The Democracy claims that the tariff is the mother of trusts," said Mr. Irwin. "By the same token," he added, "the women are the mothers of measles. The mothers of the land have children and the children have the measles. Kill all the industries of the land and you will surely kill all the trusts; and abolish all the mothers of the land and you will just as surely abolish all the measles."

The claim that the protective tariff is responsible for the formation of industrial combinations is untenable and undemonstrable. If the tariff were responsible for these organizations, they would be found only in tariff-protected countries; whereas, as the late James G. Blaine pointed out, "England is plastered over with trusts," and England is the leading exponent of free trade among the nations. Again, if trusts were a product of tariff protection, these combinations would be confined to industries which are subject to tariff protection. That such is not the case is evidenced by the fact that the Standard Oil trust, though it has never had tariff protection, is undoubtedly the strongest combination of its kind in the world. The anthracite coal combine is another illustration of a monopoly unprotected by the tariff; for anthracite coal is on the free list, and was on the free list under the Wilson tariff, the McKinley tariff, and the revised tariff of 1883.

Then there was the Northern Securities "merger," which was a trust in every sense of that somewhat elastic term. What had the tariff to do with the formation of the merger? It is not out of place to recall, in this connection, that a Republican Congress enacted the law under which the Northern Securities combine was declared invalid; that a Republican President put the machinery in motion which resulted in the overthrow of this combine; and that this law was on the statute books, but was not invoked, during the second Cleveland administration.

Instances might be multiplied indefinitely to show that there is no relation, save that which is purely incidental (or accidental) between the tariff and modern industrial combinations, which are the outgrowth of a system of industrial evolution, and not the product of fiscal legislation. In so far as our tariff system has made the nation prosperous, it has perhaps indirectly favored the evolution of the modern system of industrial combination, which would have grown less rapidly under business depression than under prosperous conditions. But would it be the part of wisdom to throttle prosperity in order that conditions may be less favorable for the growth of industrial combinations? Would not such an undertaking be somewhat like killing off all the mothers of the land in order to check the spread of measles?

While the statesmen of Santa Cruz were so vehement in their denunciation of capitalistic combinations, they sang an entirely different tune when they came to consider the union-labor combine, which is attempting to establish the worst possible form of monopoly. "We recognize the organization of labor to be a distinct contribution to our growing civilization, the logical and inevitable counterpart of organization in all other departments of business, and we believe in progressive legislation looking to shorter hours of labor," they declare, immediately after having demanded "the strict and impartial enforcement of all existing anti-trust laws, and the enactment of such additional acts by the Federal and State governments as will prevent the formation of monopolistic combinations and trusts which control prices and deny equal opportunities to all dealing with them or engaged in similar production."

Here is consistency—of a peculiar Hearstlike brand. The federated trade unions could not be more accurately described than as "monopolistic combinations and trusts which control prices and deny equal opportunities to all dealing with them or engaged in similar production." The only difference is that the labor combination, or trust, deals in the commodity of labor, while the capitalistic combine deals with commodities which are produced by labor. The principles upon which the labor combines operate are essentially the same, in the ultimate analysis, as those which actuate the capitalistic combines. Both forms of combination are essentially monopolistic in their nature. Both aim to control prices, and both deny equal opportunities to those against whom they combine. The would-be monopolists of capital deny equal opportunities to their competitors in trade. The would-be monopolists of labor deny equal opportunities to their competitors—the workmen who do not belong to their combine. The principle in each case is, therefore, the same—and its corner-stone is greed.

Thus the Santa Cruz aggregation of statesmen, while denouncing one form of monopoly "for all they are worth" (which is perhaps none too much,) laud another form of monopoly, which is practically identical in principle, in the most fulsome manner. The motive is obvious—to curry favor with the would-be monopolists of labor, who are supposed to represent more votes than the other would-be monopolists. It is a demagogic scheme which is destined to prove abortive. Voters are not all fools. There are exceptions, even among labor unionists.

"FISHERMAN'S LUCK!"

Amid the vast silence in the Parker camp, the mad beating of the Hearst tomtom and the wild howling of the Bryan dervishes, it must not be forgotten that Grover Cleveland is very much alive. Thoughtful watchers of events must have noted many things which strengthen the theory that the convention could be stampeded to the ex-President by very little effort. Judge Parker apparently does not fill the requirements as completely as the mass of Democrats wish; Hearst and Bryan are impossible in every respect, and there are many shrewd, conservative members of the party who think they see in Mr. Cleveland the only man who can hope to restore to the Democracy any semblance of national strength. His nomination would drive Bryanism and its affiliated folly, Hearstism, from the party, but would doubtless unite more solidly than ever the real Democracy and form a foundation upon which that party could build for the future with at least some hope of ultimate accomplishment.

Mr. Cleveland's candidacy (here referred to as a candidacy, notwithstanding repeated denials,) is a thing not to be laughed at nor ignored. It is very doubtful if any American citizen could or would stand up and positively refuse to accept the nomination for President of the United States if it were given to him at the hands of either of the two great parties. Col. Henry Watterson, who has bitterly fought Mr. Cleveland for fifteen years, announces that he is ready to support him if he is nominated; and Mr. Watterson is altogether too independent and at the same time too loyal a Democrat to support any man unless he believes that man is essential to the welfare of the party. The distinguished Southern editor undoubtedly sees Democracy's peril, and the need of going before the people with the strongest possible candidate and platform, and in going out of his way to state his position on Grover Cleveland, his action has a significance that cannot be ignored.

John Bull declines to make any pledges as to what form of settlement will follow the conclusion of hostilities in Thibet, intimating very strongly that when the Thibetans are thoroughly trounced, he will then, at his leisure, look into the "settlement" matter and be prepared to answer questions at the proper time. Your Uncle John evidently has great faith in the principle of capturing a rabbit before beginning the skinning process.

Col. Henry Watterson makes what is termed an "unqualified" assertion to the effect that he is for Grover Cleveland, provided developments indicate that Cleveland can win. If the colonel means win in the convention, his declaration may be significant; but if he means win in the election, Marse Henry might as well abandon all thought of supporting Mr. Cleveland or any other Democrat.

The Atlanta Constitution remarks that it will require not only the full Democratic vote, but a considerable independent vote to insure the success of the Democratic ticket this year. The Constitution imposes conditions which seem truly discouraging in the light of the present status of Democratic harmony, and the entirely satisfied feeling among the independents.

Women's clubs are beginning to rise up in wrath against the decision of Judge Adams of New Jersey that a boy's life is worth twice that of a girl's. "Woman may become a breadwinner," he said. "A man must be one." From the judge's standpoint that would appear to close the case.

If, as the Boston Globe asserts, the "Vice-Presidential office is seeking the man," the safest plan for Mr. Cannon would be to buy the office a through ticket to Omaha, Neb., where Hon. John L. Webster is still waiting with outstretched arms.

Alaska, Hawaii and the District of Columbia have no vote in the national political conventions, yet each is preparing to send a delegation and is just as earnest about it as though their presence would settle things. They are probably going "for the fun of the thing."

The Memphis Commercial-Appeal says that "the Democratic party should nurse Joe Folk;" but the convention results in Missouri indicate that Joseph is able to sit up and take a little solid food without assistance.

Santos-Dumont says that practical airships will cost about $7000, which merely means that most of us will continue to be more interested in maintaining good sidewalks than in the perfection of the airship.

Think, if you can, of Gen. Weaver as a delegate-at-large from Iowa to the National Democratic Convention! It's nearly enough to make the Clevelandites stay away from even the St. Louis Exposition.

Hot air for cure of disease is used in Russia. This assures Mr. Bryan a lucrative vocation in case the newspaper business becomes unprofitable.

Since "Mars" Henry Watterson has declared his willingness to support Grover Cleveland, the work of the National Democratic Convention at St. Louis is greatly simplified.

The fact that the Russians are ordering large quantities of canned beans assures Boston's unalterable and undying pro-Russian sympathy.

The Boston Globe says that "the Vice-Presidential office is seeking the man"—and your Uncle Joe Cannon hasn't quit running yet.

Ella Wheeler Wilcox has written a poem, the very cream of which is the closing injunction, "Whatever you do, keep sweet."

According to figures recently compiled there are 44,000 hotels in the United States. We can at least boast of quantity.

MUSIC AND MUSICIANS.

Gordon Concert.

Mme. Marion Gordon's series of ballad concerts was resumed last evening at Cumnock Hall. The singer was heartily welcomed by an unusually good audience, which applauded with true sympathy to see her once more restored to health. The ballad concerts, as is well known, have been postponed for some time, owing to their promoter's serious illness.

An excellent list of selections was presented by Miss Charlotte Pinkham, soprano; Miss Sybil Conklin, contralto; Miss Lalla Fagge, violinist, and Lyon Ferrand, tenor. Harry Barnhart was programmed for two numbers, but was prevented from coming at the last moment. Miss Gordon herself took the basso's place, singing two of her favorite ballads—"The Sweetest Flower that Blows" and "Highland Mary."

The fourth concert of Miss Gordon's series will be given June 2. Her assisting artists' numbers last evening were these:

(a) "Serenade" (b) "The Leaf" (c) "Robin" (Neidlinger,) Lyon Ferrand; "Haymaking" (A. Needham,) Miss Charlotte Pinkham; violin solo, "Tarantelle" (Lauterbach,) Miss Lalla Fagge; "My Desire" (Nevin,) Miss Sybil Conklin; (a) "Calm as the Night" (Boehm;) (b) "Evening Song" (Blumenthal,) Lyon Ferrand; "Tho' You Forget" (L. C. Tipton,) Miss Charlotte Pinkham; violin solo, "Canzonetta" (D'Ambrosio,) Miss Lalla Fagge; "A Resolve" (De Fontenaille,) Miss Sybil Conklin.

U.S.C. Glee Club.

The annual concert of the Glee Club of the University of Southern California, under the direction of John Douglas Walker, will be held tonight in the Temple Baptist Church.

In addition to the usual concerted numbers, the club will be assisted by Miss Beulah Wright, dean of the College of Oratory; Erwin Miller, baritone; Charles Holmes Scott, reader, and Mrs. John Douglas Walker, accompanist.

THE PLAYHOUSES.

Orpheum's Prize.

The local management of the Orpheum was exultant yesterday in the announcement of the appearance of Mme. Slapoffski, prima-donna soprano, in the near future.

It is said that Slapoffski is a brilliant operatic singer whose work is artistic in the extreme. She sang for nine years with the famous Carl Rosa Company in London, and has just completed three years as a star in Australia. She has a repertory of sixteen oratorios and forty-two operas, ranging from "Tannhauser," to "The Fortune Teller."

The first California cherries brought $21 a box in New York this season, and the Atlanta Constitution dolefully admits that "its more than the first Georgia peaches."

While the Massachusetts D.A.R.'s are playing havoc with the reputation of Paul Revere, it's a good time for Senator Smoot to take his hat in hand and "light out."

Cincinnati, with its May festival, detracted much from the St. Louis Exposition last week. But in the meantime book beer has come on the market, and St. Louis again comes to the front.

The Panama hat trade has developed with unexpected seriousness and suddenness in Southern California this spring. Prices range from $5 to $50. If you haven't the money, the old straw will answer every purpose.

Opponents of Joe Folk of Missouri insist that he is too young for a Presidential nomination. The real objection is that Bryan selected him as a nominee for Governor, and he must stay ing to find Boston more pro-Russian

EVENTS OF THE DAY AT WORLD'S FAIR.

Press Parliament Opened Amid Gorgeous Surroundings—Secretary of State Hay Welcomes the Delegates—Club Women Celebrate.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. LOUIS, May 19.—Amid gorgeous surroundings, with cascades pouring their torrents down the waterways into the lagoon and thousands of electric bulbs illuminating the zone and silhouetting the ivory white buildings of the exposition against the dark of night, the World's Press Parliament convened tonight in Festival Hall.

Thousands of visitors thronged the terraces, the steps and the esplanade at the foot of Festival Hall, and a steady stream pressed towards the entrance of the great white-domed building, seeking entrance. But the majority were doomed to disappointment, for the seating capacity of Festival Hall is 2900 and only the accredited delegates to the Press Parliament were admitted through the double line of Jefferson Guards at the entrance.

The convention was called to order by Capt. Henry King, editor of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, and chairman of the Executive Committee of the parliament.

David R. Frances, president of the exposition, welcomed 2000 visiting journalists from all parts of the world to the exposition.

The principal speaker of the evening was next introduced—John Hay, Secretary of State, who came as the official representative of President Roosevelt to attend the convention. Secretary Hay was greeted with a salute of applause.

SECRETARY HAY'S SPEECH.

Secretary Hay said in part: "I thank you, Mr. Chairman. I thank you, gentlemen—all of you—for your too generous and amiable welcome. I esteem it a great privilege to meet so many representatives of an estate which, more than any other, at this hour controls the world. It is my daily duty in Washington to confer with the able and distinguished representatives of civilized sovereigns and states. But we are all aware that the days of personal government are gone forever; that behind us, and behind the rulers we represent, there stands the vast, irresistible power of public opinion, which in the last resort must decide all questions we discuss, and whose judgment is final. In your persons I greet the organs and exponents of that tremendous power with all the respect which is due, to you and your constituency, deeply sensible of the honor which has been done me in making me the mouthpiece of the sentiment of appreciation and regard with which the nation welcomes you to this great festival of peace and of progress.

"We celebrate this year, with the generous assistance of a friendly world, the most important event in the history of this great valley, an event which in far-reaching and lasting results is surpassed by few in the life of the nation. It is perhaps true that to the philosophic mind all periods are critical—that every hour is the end of an era and the beginning of a new order of ages. But to us ordinary observers there occur from time to time crises in history when the line of cleavage betwen the old and the new is clear and distinct, where the aloe blooms, where the avalanche leaves the mountain top, where the leisurely march of events is quickened to the dynamic rush of irresistible destiny. The transfer of this imperial domain from European to American control was one of those transactions which render the period of their accomplishment memorable for all time. In no other act did the men who made the Revolution—'men,' as Lowell called them, 'with empires in their brains'—more clearly show their marvelous prophetic insight."

He then sketched at length the history of the Louisiana purchase, and the era of national expansion which it led to, and continued:

"The national principle once established, other things were naturally added unto us. Lewis and Clark, following and illustrating the great law of westerly migration, pushed through the wilderness and planted our banners by the shores of the peaceful sea. In the process of years Texas and the wide expanse of New Mexico came to us, and California, bringing a dower of the countless riches that for unknown ages had veined her hills. Even the shores of the ocean could not long check the Eagle in his marvelous flight. The isles of the uttermost seas became his stepping-stones.

"This, gentlemen, is the lesson which we are called to contemplate amid the courts and the palaces of this universal exhibition; that when a nation exists, founded in righteousness and justice, whose object and purposes are the welfare of humanity, the things which make for its growth and the increase of its power, so long as it is true to its ideals, are sure to come to pass, no matter what political theories or individual sentiments stand in the way. The common good will ultimately prevail, though it 'mock the counsels of the wise and the valor of the brave.'

"What better school was ever seen in which to learn the lesson of mutual esteem and forbearance than this great exposition? The nations of the earth are met here in friendly competition. The first thing that strikes the visitor is the infinite diversity of thought and effort which characterizes the several exhibits; but a closer study every day reveals a resemblance of mind and purpose more marvelous still. Integrity, industry, the intelligent adaptation of means to ends, are everywhere the indispensable conditions of success. Honest work, honest dealing, these qualities mark the winner in every part of the world. The artist, the poet, the artisan, and the statesman, they everywhere stand or fall through the lack or the possession of similar qualities. How shall one people hate or despise another when we have seen how like us they are in most respects, and how superior they are in some! Why should we not revert to the ancient wisdom which regarded nothing human as alien, and to the words of Holy Writ which remind us that the Almighty has made all men brethren?

"In the name of the President—writer, soldier, and statesman, eminent in all three professions and in all equally an advocate of justice, peace, and good will—I bid you a cordial welcome, with the prayer that this meeting of the representatives of the world's intelligence may be fruitful in advantage to the press of all nations and may bring us somewhat nearer to the dawn of the day of peace on earth and good will among men. Let us remember that we are met, to celebrate the transfer of a vast empire from one nation to another without the firing of a shot, without the shedding of one drop of blood. If the press of the world would adopt and persist in the high resolve that war should be no more, the clangor of arms would cease from the rising of the sun to its going down, and we could fancy that at last our ears, no longer stunned by the din of armies, might hear the morning stars singing together and all the sons of God shouting for joy."

OTHER SPEAKERS.

The final speech was made by A. Monprofit, correspondent of the Figaro, Paris.

At the conclusion of the address Sir Hugh Gilzeim Reid, of London, president of the Press Parliament, was introduced by Chairman King, as permanent presiding officer of the convention. He was applauded and spoke briefly. The convention adjourned until tomorrow morning.

EDITORIAL ASSOCIATION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. LOUIS, May 19.—The National Editorial Association held its final session this afternoon. The forenoon was devoted to addresses, and the afternoon to the election of officers and the completion of routine business. Col. Henry Waterson of the Louisville Courier-Journal spoke, his subject being "The Editorial Paper."

Following Col. Waterson, Homer Davenport delivered an address on "The Cartoonist and the Press," which he illustrated with many humorous cartoons.

At the afternoon session $100 was appropriated to the fund for a monument over the grave of Bill Nye.

Officers were elected, including Maj. W. W. Screws of Alabama, president.

The convention adjourned to meet next year at Guthrie, Okla.

CLUB WOMEN CELEBRATE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. LOUIS, May 19.—For the first time in the history of the General Federation of Women's Clubs special exercises commemorating an anniversary formed part of a biennial programme, when today's session of the Seventh Biennial met in Festival Hall at the World's Fair grounds. Mrs. Dennison presided. The exercises were arranged in honor of the Louisiana Purchase and to the club women of the country was accorded the honor of holding the first meeting in the immense auditorium. The feature of the programme was the dedication and unveiling of a bronze tablet, given by the club women of the United States in commemoration of the acquisition of the Louisiana territory. In the center of the tablet is a figure of Progress, leading the pioneer settlers toward the setting sun and the lowering spires of western civilization.

FOR THE INDIANS.

Meeting in Interest of the Red Men's Betterment Addressed by C. F. Lummis.

A meeting of about fifty persons was held last evening at the home of Mrs. S. C. Foy at Seventh and Figueroa streets in the interest of the Los Angeles Council of the Sequoia League, which national organization is devoted to the betterment of the Indians and of their present condition.

A statement of the work of the local branch was presented by Charles F. Lummis, who described its purpose as aimed especially for the improvement of the Southern California Indians and directed particularly with reference to the land occupied by them.

He said they are now located on soil which is poorly watered and almost barren. The league, he said, is striving to give exact information to the government respecting their present condition on their reservation and to suggest definite plans for their improvement. Another purpose which he stated is to foster the market for the native art and products of the Indians and to encourage them in production. He presented examples of the songs of the Indians from phonograph records recently taken by the Archaeological Institute.

Among others who spoke were Rev. Charles J. K. Jones, Gen. H. G. Otis, Col. W. H. Holabird, Dr. Martindale and Wayland H. Smith.

FIGHT WITH TARANTULAS.

Crew of Vessel Driven from the Hold, After Desperate Battle, and Sulphur Used.

[Washington Times.] When the Italian bark Aniat Mereth arrived in Philadelphia with a cargo of bones last week, the hatches lifted and preparations made to unload the cargo the sailors had an experience that almost turned their hair white. When the sailors went below they discovered that a horde of tarantulas and centipedes were prepared to give battle.

Now, it takes a brave man to face a tarantula. Its bite is poisonous. To confront an army of them requires a sort of courage that is not often found anywhere.

The tartantulas and centipedes objected to being disturbed. When the sailors began the work of unloading the pests at once offered battle. As the crawling enemy advanced to the attack the sailors prepared to repulse them.

The sailors had armed themselves with long, strong bones, and with these they sought to beat off the tarantulas and centipedes. It was a fight against too heavy odds. The foe was too numerous. As fast as one tarantulas would be killed another would take its place. In the battle not a few of the seamen were nipped in the legs, and were saved from serious bites by the sea boots they wore.

Those sailors who were in the hold of the bark soon became exhausted in dealing death, and others of the crew took their places. But they could not get rid of their tenacious foes. Then the fighting sailors clambered out of the hold upon the deck, leaving the tarantulas complete victors. Some of the tarantulas tried to follow the retreating seamen, but as soon as they showed themselves above the hatches they were easily destroyed.

After the retreat of the sailors the tarantulas and centipedes again took refuge in the bones. Then Captain Ferrara and his officers held a council of war. It was determined to kill the tarantulas and centipedes by burning the hold. This was done.

The hatches were replaced and sulphur was allowed to do its work. When the hatches were removed, many dead insects were seen upon the top of the cargo of bones.

The voyage of the bark to this city was partly tempestuous. After leaving Genoa the vessel was struck by a violent squall, which carried away her mizzen-topmast, besides doing other damage to the ship.

Acting Secretary Loomis was in consultation with Capt. Winslow of the Navigation Bureau today respecting the dispatch of a United States warship to Tangier to back up the Consul's demand. There are a number of British warships within a few hours' sailing, and it is understood that, as Mr. Gummere is cooperating with the British Consul, there will be no hesitation on the part of the British government in hurrying a British warship to the scene.

Although the large fleet of American warships is en route to European waters, there is not a single United States warship there now.

PEREGRINATING PENCIL.

Brooklyn Girl Swallowed it in January and in May Doctor Removes it from Her Hand

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, May 19.—A piece of slate pencil two and a half inches long and sharpened to a needle-like point has been removed from the right hand of Rosalie Layko, a 9-year-old Brooklyn schoolgirl. The pencil had been working its way about the child's body since January last, when she swallowed it while at play. Efforts to remove it from her stomach then proved of no avail and for several weeks she has complained of pains in the side and shoulder. Finally, the object moved down through her arm and caused the hand to swell.

The doctors were greatly astonished upon applying the lancet and encountering the hard piece of slate. They say there is no record of so large a substance passing through the human body in a similar manner.

PUTS LIFE INTO PORTLANDS.

DUGDALE TAKES CONTROL.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PORTLAND (Or.) May 19.—David E. Dugdale, formerly manager of the Seattle National League team, took control of the Portland baseball club this afternoon, and with the change in management came an almost startling improvement in the playing of the team.

San Francisco had no difficulty in hitting Butler, but the fielding of the Portlands was almost perfect and lightning-like in rapidity, and it was not until the eighth inning that San Francisco was able to work a man clear around the bases. Jones gave only seven hits, but they were bunched. San Francisco played a fast and errorless game and Portland's margin was so small that the interest was pitched to the highest key until the last San Francisco man had been struck out in the last inning. Score:

Portland, 3; hits, 7; errors, 1.
San Francisco, 1; hits, 11; errors, 0.

ELWOOD WINS LATONIA DERBY.

NIPPED ED TIERNEY BY A NOSE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CINCINNATI (O.) May 19.—Elwood, fresh from his derby victory at Louisville, today won the Latonia Derby at a mile and a half over a slow track and in a drizzling rain from a field of four in 2:42 4-5. He nipped Ed Tierney a nose from the finish after a desperate struggle through the stretch. Lonsdale, who had made all the early pace, was beaten fifteen lengths, by Ed Tierney for the place. Salivate, the only other starter was fourth all the way. The value of the purse to the winner was $5546.

Ed Tierney was leading with Elwood close behind. Prior pulled his whip and put the rawhide to the horse's flank, which caused him to swerve in behind Ed Tierney. CANOLE FAVORITE, AT 10 TO 9.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Much interest is centered in the match between Battling Nelson and Martin Canole, which takes place before the San Francisco Club tomorrow night. The men have been preparing themselves with vim for the past three weeks, and those who watched the boys in their training quarters know that their work has been anything but easy. Tomorrow at 3 o'clock they will weigh in at 133 pounds, according to signed agreement. Betting opened tonight, with Canole the favorite at 10 to 9.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

SOME GREAT BOWLING.

The class A tournament play at the Monarch alleys last night produced what is believed to be the best doubles bowling ever done in Southern California, and probably in the State. The four contestants made a grand team average of 206, and better than this has never been heard of down in these parts. The lowest average for the five games was 194 3-5, and the highest 215 1-5, and these have never been beaten here in doubles tourney play. A large and interested crowd watched the contest, and it was certainly worth the time. Bowron and Parlier played against Benfer and Lustig, and the former team won by a score of 2079 to 2043. The games were as follows:

	1.	2.	3.	4.	5.	Av.

Lustig	217	190	216	189	203	214

Bike Riders Return.

Floyd McFarland and Hardy Downing, the professional bicycle racers, who are well known to all local wheelmen, have arrived in San Francisco from a very successful tour of Australia, where McFarland created a big sensation by winning a mile handicap race in record-breaking time. After a short rest the boys in all probability will take in the Rocky Mountain circuit races.

FOOTBALL TROUBLE.

WORDS TO THE UNWISE.

The Southern California colleges that have been quarreling for three years over nothing should be as wise as it is possible for them to be in athletics and stop their squabbling. The whole of the present trouble started from football and the various students should remember that they are in danger of forever losing that peculiar "sport." There has been a quiet movement on foot for some time to prohibit football in this city by ordinance, for it is about the most brutal kind of an exhibition that is still permitted. Many of the good people class prize fights, chicken fights and football fights in the same category, with the accent on the gory, and as two of them have been prohibited, the third one may be the next to go. If football is stopped it is safe to say there will be no more difficulties between the colleges of Southern California. A word to the unwise should be sufficient.

NEW ATHLETIC CLUB.

SPORTS MUST BE SHOWN.

From all accounts the new athletic club don't seem to be taking like wild fire and it is doubtful if it can be made a success, even though it is the intention to house it in a big building. The plain truth of the matter is that the proposed building is too far away from the business center and if prize fights were conducted in it, even for members only, it is uncertain whether a sufficient number of rich members could be secured to make the thing pay the expenses of having good fighters come here. One or two good fights might be pulled off and then the interest would doubtless lag. If it did not, but became more strenuous and attracted bigger crowds, the good people in the neighborhood would complain to the City Council about that time that the place was a nuisance and was ruining the young men.

It is stated that someone is advertising in the local papers for 400 members at $50 each. This is certainly an evidence of weakness that will cook the club's goose to a nut brown. The venture may succeed, but some of the wise sports are already beginning to snicker at the prospect.

Free Concert.

The Times will give a free concert with the Columbia graphophone, which it is offering to subscribers of The Times, between 8 and 10 o'clock on Saturday night in the large room in the rear of the business office. This machine the Columbia Graphophone Company has been selling at $2.50 each. WASHINGTON.

FIGHTING BOB SUSTAINED.

Americans in China Must be Protected.

Our Warships Not Confined to Treaty Ports.

President Impersonated in Moving Pictures.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, May 19. — China has been informed that the Washington government claims the right to dispatch warships not only to those Chinese ports declared by treaty to be open to the world, but also upon the inland waters of China, wherever Americans may be, and where there is a treaty with China they are authorized to engage in business or reside for the purpose of spreading the gospel.

That the official details on this subject may be known, the State Department has decided to publish the correspondence between Mr. Conger and Rear-Admiral Robley Evans, commander-in-chief of the Asiatic squadron, which followed a protest of the Chinese government against the visit of the gunboat Villalobos last summer in the Yang-Tse Valley, whither she was ordered by the commander-in-chief of the Asiatic fleet to gather such information about the Americans residing there as would be of assistance in rendering them prompt assistance in case of an expected native outbreak against foreigners.

The Tao Tai of Kuang protested to the American Consul at Hankow against the visit of the Villalobos to Nanchang, on the ground that "bad men" inhabited that section, and he declared that the Viceroy had informed all the foreign consuls at Shanghai to instruct their representatives not to visit Poyang Lake, except on most important business. Minister Conger called on Admiral Evans for the facts. A long correspondence ensued, Admiral Evans stoutly maintaining that American ships had the right to go wherever Americans were allowed to reside and engage in business. Finally the correspondence reached the State Department, and after a careful reading of the arguments of both sides, Secretary Hay has approved the stand taken by Admiral Evans.

The Detroit is returning to Dominican waters from Guantanamo, where she went for coal, and will visit Puerto Plata and Monte Christi. The Albany, en route to Puget Sound from the Asiatic station, has left Guam for Honolulu.

CAUSTIC EX-GOV. BLACK.

COMMENTS ON JEROME'S RAID

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, May 19.—Ex-Gov. Frank S. Black, who is in Washington, had some comments to pass on New York's affairs today, of District Attorney Jerome's war upon poolrooms and other unlawful places of resort. He said:

"This seems to be the golden age for the appropriation and expenditure of contingent funds wherewith to make men moral. The war against vice has come to be fad, if not a profession. Agents of reformers are fierce in their efforts to run down some fellow who is guilty of taking a bet on a horse race or to hurry to prison some unfortunate woman who is suspected of being other than what she ought to be. Meanwhile, criminals who have committed deeds of a far more heinous character are overlooked. Their operations are not within the purview of these knights who have set for themselves the task of breaking up all the vice of a great city.

"The whole thing reeks of hypocrisy and pretense. It is not on the level. If there could be a secret ballot taken in the city of New York to determine whether or not institutions now so fiercely hunted should be allowed to exist, there might be one vote cast for total suppression—the vote of Dr. Parkhurst, and even that is doubtful, always provided there could be no way of telling how any man voted."

POLICE INVESTIGATING.

MOVING PICTURE INCIDENT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The Washington police are investigating an incident which occurred in the plaza of the Capitol today, in which an attempt was made, before a moving-picture machine, to impersonate the President giving assistance to a pretended negro in distress.

A moving-picture machine had been placed where it could command the scene and a man made up as a negro approached and when directly in front of the statue of George Washington he fell to the pavement. A man who bore a striking resemblance to the President was in a carriage near by and he, with the aid of a negro coachman, who wore a livery the counterpart of the White House livery, tenderly lifted the pretended negro to the fictitious Presidential carriage.

The man simulating the President then tipped his hat, offered the negro a cigar and ordered the carriage to drive on. The incident was witnessed by a number of people, including two Capitol policemen.

THE PRANK OF ACTORS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The police investigation disclosed that the men who participated in the episode belonged to the theatrical profession. They are believed to have left the city.

With the free excursion of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers to Catalina today and a special train of California convention bankers for the same place tomorrow the channel will be well whipped up with travel to the emerald isle.

IF YOU DON'T OWN A

PIANO

A visit to our new music department may reveal to you a wonderful and easy way of buying a standard piano.

Many of our pianos have gone into homes where the families had scarcely dared to hope for such a luxury—not a luxury, now, but a feature of modern life that should be deemed as necessary as a dining table or a stove.

After a critical examination of all makes, we have decided, like so many of the great masters, that the following pianos are a little superior to others—Lindeman & Sons, Straube, Worthington, Valley Gem, Wagner—and these we now offer at the lowest prices and easiest terms.

BISHOP BURT THE LATEST.

And Dr. Bashford Added to List Yesterday.

Today Expected to Conclude, Cooke in Line.

Four Missionary Bishops—A Surprise Coming.

Dr. William Burt of Rome, Italy, and Dr. J. W. Bashford of Delaware, O., were yesterday elected bishops. This makes five out of eight chosen, and it is believed today's balloting will result in the election of the remaining three.

It is believed Dr. R. J. Cooke will be next in order, and a stampede to Dr. Day is looked for this morning. The contest is keen between Drs. Neely, Day and Wilson for seventh and eighth places. Dr. Jennings of the West or Dr. Eckman of the East may turn out dark horses.

Yesterday recorded further progress in the election of Methodist bishops. Five in all have now been elected—Berry, Spellmeyer, McDowell, Bashford and Burt.

This fact is a great surprise to the delegates themselves. It required a week's balloting four years ago to elect two in Chicago; but so different are the atmospheric conditions in Los Angeles that more work can be done in less time.

The third ballot was fruitless. The fourth ballot was announced at 5 o'clock and Dr. J. W. Bashford, president of Ohio Wesleyan University, was declared elected. He was at once escorted to the bishops' rostrum amid enthusiastic applause.

The fifth ballot was taken before adjournment, the result to be announced this morning. Early last evening the count was finished and it was found that Dr. William Burt of Rome, Italy, had been elected. He will receive an ovation this morning worthy of this remarkable victory.

The outlook for today encourages the belief that the remaining three will be chosen. Some names have now almost the required two-thirds majority.

As there has been a growing conviction that the South must be honored, and it appears that a colored bishop is out of the question, there seems to remain no doubt about the election of Dr. R. J. Cooke, the white leader of the new South.

About the corridors of the hotels last night there were loud protests uttered on every hand against Dr. Day's withdrawal, and a conclusion was reached to revive his boom this morning. His ability as a preacher and administrator is recognized as so preeminent that the delegates in various groups are determined to elect him. But all recognize that he has very strong men as rivals in Drs. Neely and Wilson. Dr. Neely is so widely known and has been so fully tested that his candidacy seems impregnable. Dr. Wilson as preacher, presiding elder and head of the Anti-Saloon League, is in every respect worthy of the highest office in the church. It is predicted that the contest for the eighth bishopric will be the closest in the list.

Besides these three strong leaders Dr. Jennings, the successful agent of the Western Book Concern and Dr. George P. Eckman, the representative pastor of the great metropolis of the East, must be reckoned with.

THREE BALLOTS.

RESULTS GIVEN YESTERDAY.

There was nothing whatever sensational about the announcement of the second ballot in the election for bishops, yesterday morning.

On the previous evening Bishop Berry had been elected on the first ballot and the second ballot taken just before adjournment. The tellers were directed to count the vote and report to the conference at the opening of the morning session. Somehow or other the result of the ballot had leaked out and was announced in the morning papers, and it was generally known before conference was called to order that Dr. Henry Spellmeyer of Newark, N. J., and Dr. W. F. McDowell, secretary of the Board of Education, had been elected.

The announcement by Bishop Merrill, and his official declaration of their election as bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church, was received with great applause, and in the case of Dr. Spellmeyer, it is to be said that he was elected by the greatest percentage of the vote ever given to a bishop. Amid applause, all the delegates rising to their feet, the two new bishops were escorted to the platform.

Just before adjournment the result of the third ballot was announced, which proved a futile one, as no candidate received the necessary two-thirds vote. The requisite number for an election was 489 and Dr. J. W. Bashford of Ohio received within nine votes of that number.

The fourth ballot was taken at once and announced just before the noon adjournment, resulting in the election of Dr. Bashford by a vote of 525, 42 votes more than the necessary two-thirds. Dr. William Burt of Rome, Italy, his next closest competitor, was but twenty-three votes short of the two-thirds, and Dr. T. B. Neely of Philadelphia, but forty-three short.

There was a great demonstration as the modest Dr. Bashford was led to the platform by the venerable Bishop Walden, and the fifth ballot was taken and placed in the hands of the tellers to count and report at the opening of the session this morning.

The three ballots announced yesterday, the result of the first of which was published in yesterday's Times, are as follows:

FOUR MORE BISHOPS.

Will be Elected and Sent to the Orient and to the African Field.

Last night the Committee on Episcopacy reached a decision to elect four new missionary bishops, according to rumor that came direct from that committee.

One will be for Japan and Korea, one for Africa and two for India and Malaysia.

Will Spencer will be the man for Japan? Scott or Camphor for Africa? Oldham and Robinson or Oldham and Buck for India?

The committee will make its recommendation for the four new missionary bishops to the conference today, it is expected, and the election will likely be taken up by Saturday, provided all the general superintendents are chosen today.

BISHOP WILLIAM BURT OF ROME, ITALY.

POTATO KING A CHINAMAN.

Ching Wing Cleans up Cool Twenty Thousand.

Money Hand Over Fist Due to Wise Brains.

Defies Highbinders, Saves White Friends.

A bland, gray-pigtailed old Chinaman on Apablasa street, Los Angeles has become the potato king of California.

Some of the soured white ranchmen who claim there is no money in farming, may take an unfriendly interest in the fact that shrewd old Wing Ching will clean up about $20,000 out of his spud crop alone this season.

His success is due to brains. He's canny and wise.

No one knows exactly how many ranches Wing Ching has in his own name, and how many more in Southern California he virtually owns by the mortgages that are plastered thereon; a good many, at any rate.

Old Wing is, in fact, a sort of private bank all to himself. His immense business interests he manages from a funny, dingy little store in the smelliest part of Chinatown. He is looked upon with awe there as a bloated bondholder.

He is, in fact, the most progressive Chinaman in the quarter. When the Chinamen go broke, they go to Wing Ching; he has a mortgage on everything in "Little China."

DEFIES THE HIGHBINDERS.

To see old Wing Ching, such a bland, suave, honey-worded old chap, you never would pick him to be the man who first had the nerve to defy the dreaded highbinder societies and practically put them out of business. They used to live, these tong vultures, on blackmail levied on rich Chinese merchants, who paid the tribute to keep from being hatcheted.

At last they went to old Wing Ching and told him he must pay tribute, too. He told them to go to thunder—or whatever the Chinese phrase is. Bade them hatchet him if they dared. And he went unhatcheted. Seeing there was really nothing but a growl to the fellows, other merchants followed his example, and the highbinder profession has ceased to yield a living in Chinatown.

Wing Ching always acts as treasurer, for the Chinese when they contribute to Fiesta funds and to their own festivities.

How he keeps the accounts of all these things goodness only knows. In his store there are four or five Chinks constantly making turkey tracks over strips of paper, and are presumably his bookkeepers. One is a polite, fat younger brother.

Poor Wing Ching. He says he is very poor and has a hard time. Yes, very poor!

Like most of the other vegetable farmers he has a high standing among the white business men.

SAVES WHITE MEN.

His various farm enterprises have been the financial salvation of several of the early-day families here, whose estates had fallen into decay.

At least one old Spanish estate has been turned from a waste strip of land into a fertile garden of rich earth by the hard-working Chinks.

Wing Ching and other Chinamen are said to be ideal tenants. The white landlord never loses track of rent day. The Chinaman is there every time in the early morning with the cash. Overdue rent is a thing unheard of among those who rent to them.

This is not all. In many cases—in fact, it is almost the custom—the Chinamen pay the taxes on the land as well as the rent, and pay promptly.

In one case, recently, one of the landlords got in desperate financial straits. In his extremity he went to his poor, humble old Chinese tenant, who was digging in his farm with his huge Mexican hoe, and asked if he could not possibly advance him a little of the rent.

CHING WING.

"You likee loan?" said the Chinaman.

The landlord said he must have it.

"How much—$100—$200?" suggested the Chink.

And he handed over the cash like a lord.

One of the magnates of Chinatown now was a servant here in 1886, and his master had a fall in fortune—a hard temporary jolt. He went to his cook and told him regretfully he must find another place. The Chinaman not only scorned to leave the place in this time of need, but actually stayed on and loaned money to his master until the bad place was safely over. That is not a fairy story, but an actual incident that many "old timers" in Los Angeles know the names and dates of.

So if old Wing Ching and his kind are getting rich, hand over fist, why, there might be many worse men getting rich hand over fist.

CHINESE GIRL SINGS INTO MEN'S SOULS.

A CHINESE girl who sings, who has sung the very hearts away from many persons here of late, with her high liquid soprano and the far-reaching fascination of her magnetic personality has forged great thoughts into the souls of men since the beginning of the conference in Los Angeles.

Miss Anna Stone, she is called in America, where she has been for six years learning American ways and receiving an American education just for the purpose of going back to Central China, 600 miles up the Yenesai River to Kinkiang to give the gospel to her people, and to give it to them through the gift that God has placed in her nightingale throat.

But Anna Stone is not the name she bore as a tiny girl in China, where her father was a minister of the strange, beautiful religion that the missionaries brought, and where he gave his life up at the hands of the Boxers. She was named Shih Ngan Lei, the family name, which always comes first in China, meaning "stone;" so Anna Stone is as near as one can come to her name in English. But she does not look like an Anna Stone; she is too sweetly human and fervent of nature and the quiet humor that glints in her clear eyes and the quick intelligence that beams from them upsets one's ideas of what the repression of ages has done for a Chinese woman.

She is a Christian girl, and when you meet and talk with her, in this year of our grace 1904, when the time has come which the prophesy tells of, when men say that the fathers have fallen asleep and all things are as they have been from the beginning, you say to yourself: "Verily, this is the first Christian that ever I have met."

"I owe it all to Christ," she said yesterday at the home of Chiad Kin Ling, where she has been staying while in Los Angeles preparatory to sailing on June 11, for Shanghai. "Why a girl may not even sing in China, for it shows that she is evil if she sings, and mothers do not sing their babies to sleep as they do in this blessed country."

Then this Chinese girl in the purest English, with only the picturesque touches of her foreign nature showing here and there, told how she learned to sing in the mission at Kinkiang, and how she loved the harmonies, loved them better than her studies, and her older sister, who is a medical missionary in China, promised to teach her music if for one month she made a good record in her other work, and she earned it, this very smart Chinese maiden. "It is the quiet place I like," said she when newspaper notice threatened her, for though born to take up the preaching of the gospel in a hostile country, where her small physique may fail, and where many dangers will beset her, she is shy and shrinking when she thinks of any great good being attributed to her.

"They praise me when I sing those good, kind people, and I have no word to say, for if I say, 'Thank you,' they will think I take it to myself, but if I were brave I would say, 'Give praise to God, it is His message that I am burning to deliver.' They say I am narrow in my music when I care not to sing the fine things I am taught, just to show how I can sing, but I have not the words I love to sing in them, and the grand strong hymns tell what I am feeling, when I am sad, or when I am rejoicing."

Her pretty costume somehow appeals to one, and it suits her to perfection, being a compromise of an American skirt, and the loose coat worn by her own people, and one cannot help a surreptious glance at her feet, eager to ask if she had them bound according to that cruel custom, where deformities are supposed to indicate virtue in a woman, according to a heathen notion.

But Miss Anna Stone is too quick for you, and smiles as she tells you that her sister was the first girl in Central China to grow up with unbound feet. She does not mention that she was the second. When her pagan mother was converted she unbound her own feet, though it caused her great pain, and was a radical social departure.

Miss Stone is a fine speaker as well as singer, and at the Epworth League rally a few evenings ago, she talked eloquently, and when a verse from "some fine, strong hymn" would serve to emphasize her point she gave it with her soul in her voice, and time and time again some sweet verse would fill that great pavilion with a melody that entranced the hearers.

STRICKEN BY DEATH AT CHURCH DOOR.

STRICKEN with death in the midst of the work that he dearly loved, and hurried from the church to the hospital, only to breathe his last while being placed in his room—such was the passing of that devoted churchman, Dr. H. C. Vail of Long Beach, Wednesday evening in Los Angeles.

Dr. Vail had been a resident of Long Beach the past four or five years, and took a great interest in the affairs of St. Luke's Episcopal parish. He served as its senior warden, and was an active assistant to the rector.

Despite his feeble health, for he has been a sufferer for several years, his love of the work of the church was so intense that he was determined to attend the annual diocesan convention in session at St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral, and he was the delegate from the St. Luke's parish.

He took an active part in the business before the convention all day Wednesday, and after the adjournment, just as he was passing out of the church, he fell to the floor. Friends raised him, but at once saw that he was stricken with death, and all haste was used in conveying him to the German Methodist Hospital, less than a block away.

As Dr. Vail was carried up the steps of the hospital he revived sufficiently to say that his legs had given out under him and that this was all the trouble there was, but within fifteen minutes from the time he was stricken at the church door, death had claimed him. The cause of his demise is given as heart disease.

Dr. Vail was past 70 years of age, and for many years had been prominent in the work of the Episcopal church. The diocesan convention yesterday appointed a committee to prepare resolutions of condolence over his death, and his sudden passing placed a damper on the convention of his fellow-workers.

The remains were sent to Long Beach yesterday, but the funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

Dr. Vail was a retired physician, editor, educator and banker. He was a native of New Jersey, and the city of Vailsburg was named in his honor. A widow and two daughters, Miss Ruth Vail and Mrs. J. W. Tucker, survive him. Last November Dr. and Mrs. Vail celebrated their golden wedding.

HORSES CRIED LIKE CHILDREN.

POOR BEASTS AND AN AUTO QUICKLY BURNED.

Junk Dealer Loses Team Worth Five Hundred Dollars and Machine Valued at a Thousand and Says He Isn't Sure About the Insurance on His Property.

With dying cries that sounded like the screams of little children, two horses were burned to death on Lafayette street yesterday.

They belonged to the only junk dealer who ever owned an automobile, and the automobile was burned, too. J. Zimmerman is the junk man's name. He deals in pipe and old machinery.

His horses, valued at $500, were in a small barn back of his house at No. 404 Lafayette street, and he was away from home. It is not known how the fire started, but probably from oil he had out cleaning a wagon. Neighbors saw it only after the blaze was well on.

One reads of the screams of dying horses, but the details are never satisfactory.

A school boy who was first at this fire, heard their dying cries. He says that they sounded so much like the screams of little children that he was sure children must be in the burning building, and he tried to go in. He says they were quick, sharp screams, much like those horses give when biting at each other at a hitching post. They were not long, and were not loud. He only heard them twice.

The boy tried to enter an outside door of the barn. The place was filled with fire, and the heated air hurled the door open when he unlocked it, knocking him flat on the ground. Fire spurted out in licking tongues, and he gave up trying to get in the building.

Something in the automobile exploded in the fire with a loud report, giving rise to the rumor that the horses were shot when it was found they could not be gotten out.

The horses were found lying close togethes and roasted to a hideous crisp.

Mr. Zimmerman, who took his loss with philosophical calm, said his property had been insured, but he was not sure whether or not the insurance had expired. He valued his automobile at about $1000.

CHURCH TO CAB.

Methodists Take Greetings to the Engineers in Convention—Campaigning and Visiting Day.

By an act of the convention of locomotive engineers yesterday it was decided to give Francis Murphy, the noted temperance lecturer, an audience of ten minutes Saturday afternoon, in which to deliver an address.

Yesterday the engineers listened to a committee of three Methodist ministers, who brought greetings from the conference. The business meeting was of the routine order, with much campaigning in the field over the two candidates for Assistant Grand Chief of the order.

M. W. Cadle of Division No. 178 at Sedalia, Mo., and R. A. Bickford of No. 124 at Jersey Shore, Pa., are said to be in the running with the latter a little in the lead.

Yesterday was engineers' day at Chutes Park and the place was a merry-go-round until late at night.

BISHOP J. W. BASHFORD OF DELAWARE, O.

"SUNBEAM" LECTURE.

BISHOP WARREN'S HIT.

An audience which taxed the seating capacity of Hazard's Pavilion listened to a carefully-prepared lecture, delivered by Bishop Warren last night on the "Forces of a Sunbeam." Appreciation of the masterly manner in which the weighty subject was handled by the bishop, who was once professor of astronomy in an eastern university, was evidenced by frequent and hearty applause. He congratulated the people of Los Angeles on their opportunity—excepting rare occasions—to become familiar with the sunbeam which in this garden spot of earth was almost like a personal friend.

There is such power in the rays of sunlight that it does more work in our world than all other forces combined. Leading up to the question of how fast light travels, he recalled the wonderful Munchausen, who "told the truth by lying." The exploit, as related by the extraordinary character when he jumped on a cannon ball which had just left the cannon's mouth, and not relishing a sudden precipitation into the hands of the enemy, had hopped onto a returning missile to be carried back, was but crawling in comparison with the flight of a ray of light. Many facts in science relating to the swiftness and power of light seem incredible and some are beyond human thought.

The learned lecturer explained by figures deduced from known distances of eclipses that light travels at the intense velocity of 186,000 miles in a second, which would carry it around the entire globe in an eighth part of a second. Light travels unweariedly back and forth and defies us to dissect its rays. He described light as being composed of seven forces, seven rays and seven colors, and the peculiarity of each color is that it walks with a different step. The seven colors will charge simultaneously upon a cloud where a tangle ensues, but only the red breaks through, while the remaining six colors of the rainbow are held in the snarl. Hence we say the sky is red because that is the only color vigorous enough to get through. Light, he stated, comes to us on waves or vibrations, and consequently comes on song, which, while unheard by the most sensitive ear, exists. There are as many different sorts of heat in light as there are tints of color, and some kinds of heat, he asserted, are sent through a block of ice without heating the ice or cooling the heat.

As an illustration of the power of heat, the process of drawing the water from the ocean and wafting it across sea and land to be again precipitated upon the earth was described. It defied the laws of gravity and was an answer to the scoffer with but a single idea, who insisted that the laws of nature are cast iron and miracles could never have been performed. They sneer at the parting of the Red Sea, which he avowed was nothing in comparison with the vast volume of water which the sun lifts from the ocean.

Primarily it is the sun that runs the steam engine, for it has furnished the force that sprouts the tree from the seed, thus the wood, and in past ages the coal which makes the steam.

WOULDN'T STAND DEMAGOGISM.

WOOLEN MANUFACTURER DEMANDS A FAIR HEARING.

Peace Report that Condemned All Wars, Created One by Its Intemperate Utterances—Commission on Evangelism Created — Not so Bright for Federation.

Almost as intemperate as that which it was designed to condemn was a long, very long preamble and resolutions presented in the General Conference yesterday by Judge Lore of Delaware, bearing upon the industrial and general social situation in this country.

The floor was secured on a question of privilege accompanied by the statement that it had come to the knowledge of the Committee on International and Industrial Peace that the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers was very anxious to know the attitude of the General Conference upon the subject of arbitration.

The report covered many typewritten pages, covering the whole realm of human thought upon the subject in hand, and everything akin to it. Many of the expressions by the committee were intemperate, and to quote one delegate, "it is doubtful if five men on the floor were in a position to vote upon this proposition which an effort was being made to put through as a question of privilege."

It referred to "grasping monopolies" and made the statement that manufacturers manifested no interest in their employés and "demanded the maximum labor for the minimum wage." It denounced without qualification the politics of cities and declared them to be corrupt and in the hands of the bosses.

It remained for John Young, a woolen manufacturer of New Hampshire, and a delegate to the conference, to hold the report up to the gaze of the conference and to cause a postponement until Tuesday morning, when it will be more fully discussed. Mr. Young said:

"There are matters in this report that are a slur upon employers of labor. It declares that corporations have no souls and are not interested in their employés, but there are those here who are interested in their men and who divide their profits. It is a slur upon many members of this conference."

Mr. Young moved that consideration of the report go over until 10 o'clock on Tuesday, and it was done.

EVANGELISM COMMISION.

The advocates of a great evangelistic campaign for the whole church carried their plans to a successful issue in the General Conference yesterday, in securing the adoption of a resolution presented by Dr. J. P. Brushingham of Chicago.

The resolution calls for the appointment of a commission on evangelism to consist of three bishops and one member from each conference district, to be appointed by the bishops and organize before the present General Conference shall adjourn.

One of the provisions of the resolution adopted is that the annual conferences shall furnish lists of accredited evangelists to the commission, thus doing away with the irresponsible, self-appointed evangelists who have occasioned some unrest.

Dr. Brushingham, who introduced the resolution, and Hugh E. Smith of the Los Angeles delegation, spoke warmly for its adoption. It was upon this identical plank that Mr. Smith conducted his campaign for election as a delegate to the conference. Dr. Brushingham said:

"America needs a great revival and under God the Methodist Episcopal church is the great power to bring it about."

Bishop Mallalieu, just retired, will probably be the head of the commission.

FEDERATION CHECKED.

It developed in the conference yesterday that there is not that unanimity of sentiment upon the subject of federation between the several varieties of Methodists as some persons seemed to think. The discussion showed that to some extent it depends very much upon whose ox is gored. The delegates from the South, without saying it in that many words, protest by their arguments that the proposed action would practically drive the Methodist Episcopal church out of the South, inasmuch as it would entirely stop its growth in that section of the country.

The Committee on Federation reported, in harmony with several previous General Conferences, upon the same subject, in favor of continuing the commission with the idea of affecting the adoption of the same hymnal, same form of worship and same catechism in the Methodist Episcopal church and the Methodist Episcopal church, South.

So far, it all looked good to the delegates from the South, but the bone in the meat is contained in the declaration that follows:

"Where either is doing the work of Methodism the other shall not organize a society or erect a church without consulting and obtaining the approval of the bishops in charge of the district."

The opposition to the adoption of the report was led by Rev. Dr. W. R. Chase, presiding elder of New Orleans. His speech was so strong and convincing that the conference extended the time in order that he might finish it. He practically said that it would not be possible in his district to gain the consent of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, in order that he might organize a congregation or build a church.

"They say in the South," said the speaker, "they say in the South, and I am on the ground and know; they say the Methodist Episcopal Church has no business in the South. For five years I have been told that I am an intruder, a robber, and it was put on me by a very respectable preacher of that church but a week before I came to this conference.

"These articles of federation do not stand in the way in the committee-room, but they do stand in the way in the field, and if you were in the field as I am you would know more about it."

Rev. Dr. I. B. Scott, the well-known colored editor of the Southwestern Christian Advocate, New Orleans, said that he did not wish to say anything that would hinder the most perfect union and intimated that the committee wanted to go at too rapid a pace. He said:

"The trouble with some of these brethren is that they want to go too fast. It is a good thing, but you must not push it beyond its speed. Some of you meet the best class like Bishop Galloway and others, but you do not meet those in outlying districts. I beg of you to think soberly before you say anything in this report, no matter how often you have said it before, that will throw obstacles in the way of our church in the South."

Dr. Hammond, a colored delegate from Tennessee, took the opposite view, and argued for the adoption of the articles of federation, saying that he hoped the time would speedily come when they will get together.

"Every time that question has been proposed," said Dr. Hammond, "the negro question, like Banquo's ghost, bobs up in the assembly."

Dr. M. C. B. Mason, the distinguished colored lecturer, secured the floor, but as adjournment hour had arrived the conference adjourned with the discussion pending.

REDDIX HAS CONFIDENCE.

The remarks of J. A. Reddix of Louisiana in the report of Wednesday's session became mixed with those of a previous speaker, and Mr. Reddix was represented as showing a lack of confidence in the sincerity of his white brethren. He says he did not show a lack of confidence in the passage of his resolution, but it was the preceding speaker who had expressed a doubt in that direction. Mr. Reddix said yesterday:

"I have the utmost confidence in the sincerity, justice and judgment of the Methodist Episcopal Church. It is my pillar of cloud, even my pillar of fire in the night of trials and contentions."

DR. BASHFORD AND DR. BURT.

THE NEW BISHOPS AND THEIR CHARACTERISTICS.

Former President of Ohio Wesleyan University and an Educational Leader—Latter a Missionary and the First in Church's History to Become General Superintendent.

Bishop Bashford is 53 years old, though his smooth, frank face makes him appear several years younger. Educated at the Ohio Wesleyan University and Boston School of Theology, he was early recognized as an unusually brilliant scholar and effective speaker. He soon was stationed in important churches, his last pastorate being in the historic Delaware Avenue Church, Buffalo, in its palmiest days.

He was chosen in 1889 to succeed the late Dr. Charles H. Payne as president of Ohio Wesleyan University. Dr. Payne had been very successful, but from the outset it was found that a worthy successor had been elected. The university has been continually enlarging its plant and endowment, increasing its attendance, and raising its standards, till now it ranks a peer among the five leading Methodist universities of the country. The school has been preëminently evangelistic. Much of this is due to the spiritual power and leadership of President Bashford.

He has been in constant demand to make addresses before great ecclesiastical and educational conventions, and as a preacher on special occasions. His life has been so simple, so guileless, and so earnest and useful, that his hosts of friends believe he will rank high on the Board of Bishops in all elements of worth and all departments of activity.

BISHOP BURT.

For the first time in the history of Methodism, a missionary has been elected a bishop in the fullest sense—a General Superintendent. This is the unique honor that has so worthily befallen Dr. William Burt of Rome, Italy.

Fifty-one years old, and eighteen years a missionary leader in one of the hardest fields for Protestant workers, he has so acquitted himself in building a great church block opposite the Vatican, and schools for boys and girls as well as churches in Rome and other cities, and adding hundreds of members that he is now the acknowledged leader of the Methodist, indeed, the Protestant, forces of Europe.

He has been received at the Royal Court of Italy and decorated with a knightly honor. Educated at old Wilbraham Academy, Wesleyan University and Drew Theological Seminary, he began his ministry in the New York East Conference and rose to prominence before he was sent to Italy. His platform addresses and sermons in America as well as his beautiful spirit and earnest life won for him such a commanding place in the confidence and affections of the church that nothing could prevent his coming to the highest position of honor and responsibility.

His election will give great satisfaction to the church at home and a note of cheer to the thousands of self-sacrificing missionaries in foreign parts. His first Episcopal appearance will be to lecture tonight in Boyle Heights Methodist Church on "The Eternal City."

EDWIN R. GRAHAM.
Central Ohio Conference's Candidate for Publishing Agent.

FOR PUBLISHING AGENT.

GRAHAM A LAY CANDIDATE.

Much interest centers in the election of publishing agents for the Eastern and Western Book Concerns of the Methodist Episcopal Church, located at New York and Cincinnati, with offices in other large cities, including Chicago. Now that the subject of "unification" is out of the way, the election of publishing agents being next in order after bishops, it is discussed among the delegates. Among the men discussed for the office is Edwin R. Graham, who is put forward by his conference, the Central Ohio, as candidate for the position of publishing agent at Cincinnati. Eight years' experience in the book concern at Cincinnati and more than a dozen years with a great publishing firm, Mr. Graham's friends claim, give him a peculiar and superior qualification for the important work of distributing and marketing the output of the publishing house. He is the son of a Methodist preacher, president of the Laymen's Association of his conference, and a brother-in-law of United States Senator Dolliver of Iowa.

Conference Notes.

Students, graduates and professors of De Pauw University are requested to send their names and addresses to Rev. E. B. Rawls, Broadway Hotel. It is wished to have a reunion.

S. H. Bright of Ohio, was excused from the conference yesterday, having been summoned home by a telegram announcing serious illness in his family.

The judges and lawyers who are members of the conference held a meeting to further their general acquaintance, at the First Methodist Church last night.

TO RECLAIM THE DESERT.

Irrigation Mass Meeting at Simpson Auditorium.

Glorious Future Predicted for Arid Sections.

F. E. Smythe Tells of the Government's Work.

That the cause of national irrigation has many friends in Los Angeles was evidenced last night by the fact that more than 500 people attended a meeting at Simpson Auditorium to hear a discussion of that subject which in this section of the country is one of the most important economic questions which ever confronted it. The interest in this great subject was emphasized further by the enthusiasm with which the points made in favor of national irrigation were received. It was indeed an intelligent audience and one which seemed to appreciate the importance of the subject under discussion. The chairman of the evening was William E. Smythe of San Diego and his subject was "The Desert and the Metropolis."

"The Desert" referred to in his subject is arid America in its present condition, and "the Metropolis" what that desert will become through the agency of national irrigation. In part his speech was a recital of present conditions, and then he gave his audience a glimpse into the future and painted to them in words when that mighty empire in the fertile valleys of the West would be blooming and capable of supporting an almost unlimited population where now it is for most part uninhabited. He stated that he had no apology to make for national irrigation, that it could not have until the last acre of arid America had been made fruitful.

In the course of a lengthy discussion of the means by which the desired end could best be attained, the speaker took the position that the problem is one of such magnitude that no private corporation could hope to succeed in it, but he said there is a great corps of men amply able and now willing to enter into the work and bring it to a successful conclusion. In a manner that aroused the patriotism of his hearers he told them that the great country to which he referred was the United States of America. He told in general terms what great work the government has already begun and showed that the continuation of that work to its ultimate conclusion would be to the whole people.

Part of his address was confined to a discussion of national irrigation projects of the Colorado River. He said there had been strenuous opposition to what is known as the Dandy Bill, saying that the effect of the measure, if it became a law, would be to create a monopoly and would be unfair to landholders in proportion to which it applied.

Speaking of the manner in which the United States government should assist those corporations which by private enterprise have opened the way for the settlement of immense sections of the desert for their work would still remain, the speaker advocated the policy of entering into negotiations with them now to securing to the government the results of the labors of those companies. He stated that great credit should be given to the men who have invested fortunes in such projects and now in the possession of such lands by the government the nucleus of what must ultimately be the realization of the present scheme of national irrigation.

In reference to the international question involved embracing the ownership of the waters of the Colorado River, Mr. Smythe gave both the Mexican and the American arguments. He thought was fair was a revision of the present treaties with Mexico in that the rights of both countries would be clearly defined. Looking at that from a legal standpoint the United States might divert all of the waters of that river, he held that the United States could better afford to play a noble part in dealing with Mexico, to play a part wherein the strength of power would be second to the pride of simple justice. It would be such something, he said, to take such a course that posterity would be ashamed of. The means of attaining such an end were discussed at length, and it was pointed out that the Secretary of the Interior now has the authority under the terms of the national irrigation law to acquire lands for such great irrigation works as exist in the Imperial Valley and that the present owners of those works can safely trust the fairness of the government in its dealings with them. At the conclusion of the address the following resolutions were unanimously adopted. They will be forwarded to Secretary Hitchcock of the Department of the Interior:

Resolved, We have listened to a full discussion of the situation now existing in Imperial Valley, in the county of San Diego, and of the larger problem of national control of the Colorado River, and be it

Resolved, First—That we heartily indorse the policy of national irrigation as embodied in the act approved June 17, 1902, and that we agree with the President of the United States when he declares that this act is 'One of the great steps not only in the progress of the United States, but of all mankind.'

Second—That we are convinced that the only instrumentality big enough to cope with the problems of the mighty West, in its relation to various States and Territories, and to the two nations which it traverses, is the United States of America. To this end we desire that the Federal government shall have a free hand in dealing with this stream.

Third—That we deeply appreciate the splendid faith and daring enterprise of those who risked their capital, their reputation and years of labor in inaugurating the reclamation of the lands in the Imperial Valley, thus demonstrating the economic possibilities of that wonderful region. But we object to us that the acquisition of the existing system by the government is to be operated as an integral part of the great national works to be built by the reclamation service, is eminently desirable, but practicable and essential to the success of the great undertaking. In acquiring such property the government should, and we feel sure will, treat the present owners with scrupulous fairness, and permit them to enjoy the just reward of their labors and investment.

Fourth—That the paramount use of the Colorado River is for irrigation and domestic purposes and that navigation, while to be encouraged by the government and by the several States, is subordinate to such great irrigation works as exist in the Imperial Valley and to the rights of international rights, the United States should deal equitably with its friendly neighbor on the south.

The prosperity of Lower California means prosperity for Los Angeles and for the entire Southwest."

Mr. Smythe is not in the employ of the government, and is not one of its engineers, but is taking a deep interest in this matter, as he is a philanthropist and the Democratic aspirant for Congress in his district.

PLEA FOR REALITY.

Bishop Vincent Delivers Strong Message to Y.W.C.A. at Close of Educational Year.

The Young Women's Christian Association was fortunate in having to address it, last evening, at the closing exercises of the educational year, that veteran of good education and good living, Bishop John H. Vincent. Bishop Vincent in his remarks emphasized and reiterated the prayer, "O God, make me real," the great gospel of the reality of personal character being the message that he bore to the students who are pursuing courses at the association—a message applicable to every human soul, and as real as the heroic fiber of the speaker himself.

The exercises were varied and delightful, the opening prayer being by Dr. Dille of Oakland, and stirring orchestral numbers being given by the Association Orchestra, under the leadership of Mr. Mead. The first number was "Lutspell Overture," by the combined orchestras, "Lucretia Borgia," by Donizetti, being a favorite selection given by the afternoon orchestra class. A trio for flutes, as given by Misses Mead, Florence Thresher and Grace Brooks, was especially happy. The last number by the evening orchestra class was a finely-given "Sherzo" of David's. The choral class, lead by Mr. Chick, supplied the vocal numbers, "The Chorister" and "O'er Blooming Meadows," being the first selections, and "Good Night," by Franz Abt, the second. Mr. Pfannkuchen added to the programme a well-rendered vocal solo, "Blow, Blow, Thou Winter Wind," and Miss Tatham, general secretary of the association, gave a striking report of the educational work of the past eight months, this having been the most successful year they have ever known, over nine hundred young women having been enrolled, which is a greater number than any school on the Pacific Coast, with the exception of one of the great universities. A reception followed.

"The Parvenu," a bright little comedy of sparkling wit, will be presented this evening at Cumnock Hall. Portrayers of its characters are: S. H. Garrett, Garnet Holme, Gavin Young, Earl Dwire, Mrs. C. M. Praeger, Miss Cecily Praeger and Miss Orra Gardner.

TALLER BUILDING.

Two stories will be added to the old Chamber of Commerce building on the southeast corner of Broadway and Fourth street, by its owner, George Mason. The plans are from the office of Architect R. B. Young, and the improvements will cost about $15,000.

Prices at Thunder Mountain.

It takes an occasional experience like that of the miners in Thunder Mountain camps to bring civilization back to a realization of the intrinsic value of things. Flour is selling in there for 25 cents per pound; beans, 50 cents; bacon, $1, and sugar, $1.50. But whisky is going at Spokane prices. Men realize, when brought face to face with the necessities of existence, that the most precious things in this world are the commodities which sustain life.

But Thunder Mountain prices, excessive as they seem, are moderate when compared with some of the prices paid by California miners in 1848 and 1849. Bancroft says sales are reported, for example, of flour at $800 per barrel, or $4 per pound; sugar, coffee and pork, $400 per barrel; a pick, shovel and tin pan, pair of boots, blanket and 500 other things, $100 each. Eggs were $3 each; drugs were $1 a drop; pills, $1 each; doctor's visit, $100, or $50, or nothing; cooks' wages, $25 a day; hire of wagon and team, $50 a day; hire of rocker, $150 a day.

If there happened to be an overstock in one place, which was not often the case, prices were low accordingly. Any price, almost, would be paid for an article that was wanted, and nothing for what was not wanted. A Coloma storekeeper's bill in December, 1848, runs thus: 1 box sardines, $16; 1 pound hard bread, $2; 1 pound butter, $6; ¼ pound cheese, $3; 2 bottles ale, $16; total, $43; and this for a not very elaborate luncheon for two persons.

Extraordinary prices have been paid during nearly every gold stampede made into the wilderness since the days of '49. They were eagerly paid by the men who rushed into Eastern Oregon and penetrated the wilds of Idaho forty years ago. They were repeated in Wild Horse and Cassiar, and the ruinous prices paid in the Klondike rush are still a vivid memory with thousands.—[Spokane Spokesman-Review.

A ROAD THAT COSTS MONEY.

Sixty Thousand a Mile for S. P. Line in Arizona.

Law Officers Try to Kidnap Young Rockefeller.

Bisbee Citizen Victim of an Unknown Assassin.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

TUCSON (Ariz.) May 16.—Through Dist.-Atty. Rawlins of Graham county the Southern Pacific has purchased a clear right-of-way from Solomonville on the Gila River to the mouth of the San Francisco, in the name of the Arizona Eastern Railway, the construction corporation for the new low-gradient, short-cut line across the Territory. The work in the cañons of the Gila in the two stretches below San Carlos and below Guthrie is of the heaviest description. Mr. Rawlins is authority for the statement that in the two cañons lies fifty-five miles that will cost $80,000 a mile to build. In the San Carlos Cañon twelve tunnels will be necessary. Several hundred men are working in the lower cañon, under charge of R. R. Coleman, one of the best railroad builders of the West. For years he was a superintendent for B. Lantry & Sons. He was superintendent of the Santa Fé, Prescott & Phoenix Railway during its construction period. It has been estimated that the Arizona Eastern will be completed in about eighteen months.

The El Paso and Southwestern Railroad system has been inspected lately by a party of Rock Island officials, who found much of interest in the great smelter at Douglas, the copper mines at Bisbee and the gold mines at Tombstone. Though President Loree and General Manager Miller probably told the exact truth when they insisted they were out simply to look at a country that supplied them with much freight traffic, their visit was the cause of renewing the wild stories that have floated about for the past two years that the Rock Island is on the point of taking over the Southwestern and extending it on to San Diego. Another story is that after acquisition of the Southwestern, the Rock Island would continue to the coast from Benson through a traffic agreement with the Phoenix and Eastern, which would simply mean a coalition with the Santa Fé in the Southwest. The only road that San Diego seems at all likely to get is an extension of the Southern Pacific Imperial line, from Yuma to the Coast.

COULDN'T CATCH ROCKEFELLER

A reminiscence of the late Harriman trip to the Coast comes from the operating department of the Southern Pacific. The railway officials learned that at a station east of El Paso, Texas State officials were lying in wait for young Mr. Rockefeller, whom they proposed to arrest for some violation of the anti-trust laws of the Lone Star State. So Harriman's guest was sent on ahead on a single-car special that made no stop till it had pulled through El Paso and across the New Mexican line. When the big special arrived it was searched for the oil magnate, but without success.

The Nacozari extension of the El Paso and Southwestern will be open for business with regular passenger trains June 15. The first through train is expected in Nacozari within a week.

John R. Spaulding, a well-known Bisbee resident, was murdered in that camp early Thursday morning, soon after leaving a house of ill fame. Though absolutely no reliable evidence can be secured concerning the murderer's identity, it is plain that he crept up behind his victim, drew his head back with one arm and with a razor cut his throat. The wound was a horrible one and was struck with such force that a heavy linen collar had offered no degree of protection against the stroke. The razor used was found near by. Spaulding staggered a few feet and fell over a pile of adobe bricks, where he bled to death, his body being found there after daylight. Robbery could not have been the object of the crime as Spaulding's valuables and a considerable sum of money had been undisturbed. The murdered man was at one time express messenger on the Southwestern road, but latterly has been employed by the Copper Queen Company. He was about 28 years old.

James Warren, one of the oldest cattlemen in the district above Clifton, was killed by accident on Eagle Creek a few days ago. While riding the range, passing under a tree, he struck the end of a broken limb, inflicting a terrible wound from which he died within a few hours.

The body of a prospector named Haas was found lately near the Esmeralda mine south of Douglas. On the ground by his pistol and in the body was a wound that showed death to have been accidental. It was evident that Haas had dropped the revolver and that it had been discharged by the fall, the bullet entering the upper part of his leg and continuing upward into the body. It is believed that death came slowly, the man lingering alone in terrible agony.

TERRITORIAL NOTES.

As a rule the sting of a scorpion is as little feared in Arizona as the bite of a red ant. Yet at Clifton last week was reported the death of a Mexican child from the effects of a scorpion sting.

Receivers Randolph and Hoff have filed an exhaustive report upon the affairs of L. Zeckendorff & Co., in liquidation. Assets of $706,323 have been found. The receivers recommend the sale of the property in bulk. An offer of 65 per cent. on the inventory vlue of the stock has been received from the junior partner, Albert Steinfeld.

At the grand lodge session of the Arizona Knights of Pythias, held during the week at Morenci, W. D. Monmonier was elected Grand Chancellor and J. D. Loper of Mesa, was continued as Grand Keeper of Records and Seals.

Light rains have fallen all over Southern Arizona, but conditions upon the range are still desperate. It is told that one cattle company with herds in Sulphur Springs, and San Simon valleys has lost already 13,000 head and that the general losses will probably be in excess of 50 per cent. of the herds.

Surveyors have laid out a line for an electric road to connect Yucca station on the Santa Fé with Cedar, Mohave county, penetrating a rich mining district.

Forest fires, believed to have been started by Indians as "rainmakers," have covered 70,000 acres of pine and juniper land on the White Mountain and Black Mesa reserves. It was fought by rangers and by 100 or more cattle and sheep men, but was not controlled till the late showers came, indicating the efficiency of the Indians' rainmaking methods. The main damage was to young growth, which was all killed, as well as the grass upon which the sheep men had depended for summer pasturage.

Northeastern Arizona is unwontedly peaceful. From Apache county Judge Sloan received word that it will be unnecessary to hold any term of court before fall, as the criminal cases are few and immaterial and litigants in civil cases are not ready for trial.

The Sisters of Loretto will erect a $20,000 school building in Flagstaff.

Father Vabre of Flagstaff has been appointed Vicar-General of the Episcopal diocese of Arizona, and has been transferred to Tucson.

Frank Krauner, a mining engineer, unsuccessful in gambling, committed suicide in a Prescott lodging-house by the use of cyanide of potassium. He was 30 years old and lately from Los Angeles, where he was a member of a lodge of Odd Fellows.

A body found in the Colorado River, twenty miles below Needles, is supposed to be that of George Stillman, a young man who left Martinez a month ago for Needles, with $700 in currency. The body found showed that death had come from a crushing blow on the back of the skull.

Ex-Delegate Smith Sees His Hope of Returning to Washington Fade Away—Capitalists Will Advance Funds to Build Tonto Basin Wagon Road at Once.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) May 17.—The Territorial Democratic Convention will meet in Tucson Monday. Hearst has it grabbed. Of the 194 delegates, about 120 are instructed for him already, and the balance may wheel into line. Three of the six delegates to St. Louis are practically selected already. They are Carl T. Hayden of Tempe, Maricopa county; John Lawler of Prescott, Yavapai county; and Mayor J. A. Taylor of Bisbee, Cochise county. It is probable that Judge William M. Lovell of Tucson will be the fourth. Graham county undoubtedly will be given one of the delegates, and the sixth man will be selected from Northern Arizona.

The Greene-Packard-Smith combination has been beaten to a finish in Southern Arizona. Smith, desirous of running for Delegate to Congress for the sixth time, has affirmed his neutrality, but has been put on record by the utterances of his campaign manager, B. A. Packard of Cochise county. Packard and W. A. Greene were active in hostility to Hearst, and were supported by the most prominent Democratic papers of Southern Arizona. As a result, Packard has just been deposed as chairman of the Cochise-county Democratic Central Committee, being succeeded by Fred A. Sutter of Bisbee, a strong Hearstite. In Tucson, Smith's home, what was known as the Parker ticket was defeated by more than two to one, which looks bad for Smith's candidacy this fall.

Territorial Delegate J. F. Wilson has climbed into the Hearst band wagon. Despite well-circulated reports to the contrary, he is an applicant for renomination, and will fight the Smith forces to the last ditch. He is touring the Territory, and is giving assurance that the joint Statehood bill will not pass the Senate at the short session.

Generally acknowledged as the Nestor of the Democratic party in Arizona is Judge James Reilley of Tombstone. He is raising trouble for the Parker interests, though not apparently committed to Hearst. His opinion of Clevelandism is shown by a roast written for a Cochise-county paper in which he tells "that at the time when Cleveland's misnamed Democratic administration filled the land with tramps and made millions of dollars for Cleveland, Belmont & Co., by secret bond deals, I, in shame and disgust at the desecration of the Democratic name, turned to the Populists in hope of relief."

JOIN FORCES.

The Salt River Valley Water Users Association has ratified the contract between the government and the association by a vote of 24,662 shares against a vote of only 240 in the negative. This action completes all preliminary negotiations between the landowners and the Interior Department. The association offices are to be moved at once into the new postoffice block, occupying, with the Geological Survey, the whole of the upper floor of the building. The next work before the association, with the aid of the Board of Trade, is to push the work of building the new Tonto Basin wagon road. As the $75,000 voted by Phoenix, Tempe and Mesa will not be available for three months, a number of public-spirited local residents, backed by local banks, propose to advance all money needed by the government engineers on their road work, with the expectation of employing more than 300 men and of getting the new highway through within a couple of months. President Fowler of the association has just returned from a trip to Denver, where he consulted with Chief Engineer Davis on various matters. He learned that the land owners around Montrose, who have been dallying with the government's offer to provide them irrigating water, have come to their senses and have started with energy to take up the work on the lines adopted at Phoenix.

ALONG THE GRAND CANYON.

W. T. Lee, geologist attached to the local offices of the Geological Survey, has returned from an exploration trip into the lower part of the Grand Cañon of Arizona. With two boatmen, employed at Needles, Mr. Lee built a stout boat near the mouth of Hualpai Cañon. They managed to pull against the current to a point in the gorge 175 miles above Needles, when they thought it the part of prudence to return, as the river was rising rapidly. The return journey was done with ease and expedition, though the trip abounded in danger, from the necessity for shooting rapids and from the presence of driftwood in size and quantity. The rapids passed numbered just ninety-nine. The trip was made for the purpose of securing additional data for the Hydrographic Bureau, which has just taken up the task of diverting the waters of the Colorado and of securing power from its yet unharnessed flood.

TERRITORIAL NOTES.

Light rains have fallen on upper Salt River and in the Tonto Basin, raising the flow of Salt River to about 20,000 inches.

It is reported that a controlling interest in the Florence Canal can be purchased for $15,000. Yet the farmers of the Gila Valley appear to be making no movement toward acquiring the property, though they have charged its owners with the grossest mismanagement and partiality.

A Phoenix jury has fixed upon $3.75 an inch per year as a fair price for water supplied by irrigating canal. The suit followed an attempt of the north-side canals to evade the consequences of a decision of Judge Kent's, that defined canals as common carriers, providing that water should be distributed according to priority of appropriation without regard to possession of "water right" in the conveying ditch. Whereupon the canals fixed an exorbitant price upon the carriage of water, giving back, however, a rebate in the shape of "dividends" to water-right owners. The plaintiff in the case just decided, that of Newsholme against the Salt River Valley Canal Company, will have to pay for his water about $1.50 more per inch per annum than water-right owners.

A corps of thirty-three grammar and primary school teachers has just been provided for by the trustees of the Phoenix school district. This is an increase of four upon last year. R. L. McDonnold was reelected superintendent. As several teachers have thrown up their places during the year for matrimonial reasons, the Board announced that a fine of $50 would be inflicted on all teachers resigning their positions without giving thirty days' notice.

A. J. Matthews has been reelected principal of the Normal School of Arizona at Tempe. Miss Kathryn Daly of the English department of the school has resigned to take a position in a collegiate school at Berkeley, Cal. Mrs. T. A. Jobs, widow of the late City Recorder of Phoenix, was elected preceptress of the girls' dormitory.

The grand temple of Rathbone Sisters has chosen Hattie White of Yuma as grand chief, and Emelie Rosenstern of Tucson as grand mistress of records and correspondence.

A fifteen-year-old Mexican boy was killed near Guthrie under the oddest of circumtsances. Cougar Attacks Woman in Park.

A half famished cougar, measuring six feet ten inches from tip to tip, chased Mrs. R. Glaser, who lives in the east end of Spokane, through Minnehaha park. She probably owes her life to the actions of her little dog, which snapped at the big cat and kept the beast engaged until Mrs. Glaser reached her home. In the meantime the little dog was joined by others, all barking and snapping at the gaunt animal, which suddenly turned and ripped one of the smaller dogs with a blow of her paw and then took refuge in Martin Freeberg's chicken house.

Mr. Freeberg saw the cat enter the shed. He quickly slipped up and barred the door, making the animal prisoner. The alarm had spread and soon a number of people living in the vicinity of the park came with guns. Inside, the cougar could be heard savagely digging. A small board was ripped off and through the hole Dr. C. E. North poked the muzzle of a rifle and opened fire. The first bullet struck in the animal's mouth. With a snort of rage she jumped toward the little opening, but fell short and lay on the floor, growling and spitting blood. Two more shots finished the beast. The oldest inhabitants cannot recall the appearance of a cougar in the city limits, as the animals are rarely seen in the Spokane valley near the towns.—[Anaconda Standard.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE—OFFICIAL DOINGS.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

Complaints were yesterday issued by City Justice Chambers charging the directors of the Huntington street railway lines with violating the city's health ordinances by operating cars over the streets without making an attempt to lay the dust.

An opinion rendered yesterday by City Attorney Mathews that no city official could have any interest in a contract for furnishing supplies to the city, may result in the resignation of members of some of the commissions.

Councilmen are experiencing considerable difficulty in selecting a site for the new detention hospital.

H. L. Charlebois, a theatrical ticket speculator, was knocked out yesterday in Justice Young's court. He was suing the Grand Operahouse Company for the money on unsold tickets.

John, otherwise "Bull," White, was on trial yesterday for the second time, on a charge of robbery, committed on the Downey-avenue bridge in 1902.

C. F. Murray is seeking to recover $10,000 as damages from the Llewellyn Iron Works Company, on the ground that the company is responsible for the fire that destroyed his factory.

"Whitey" Carson was convicted of vagrancy yesterday, to the astonishment of the "Hobo Corner."

"Lucky" Baldwin was a witness in the Police Court in a small forgery case.

WARRANTS FOR TROLLEY MEN.

CHARGES OF MISDEMEANOR AGAINST MAGNATES.

Directorate of Huntington Lines Must Answer to Charge of Creating a Nuisance by Operating Cars Without Laying Dust—Only Those Inside State Liable.

Complaints were yesterday issued by Police Justice Chambers charging the directors of all the street-railway lines operating in Los Angeles with misdemeanor offenses in violating the city health ordinances. The specific violations alleged are that the directors of the electric railway companies permitted their cars to be operated over the city streets without taking steps to lay the dust, thereby creating a nuisance.

The complaints were prepared by City Prosecutors Beebe and Frederickson and sworn to by inspectors in the employ of the street department. Dates named when the nuisance was created were in the month of November, 1903. During that month the Street Superintendent, acting under instructions from the City Council, kept all sprinkling wagons off the streets for a week, with the result that the dust became almost unbearable. Suits were then filed against the managers of the different lines, but they were dismissed by Justice Chambers on the contention set up by the attorneys for the railways that the managers were not responsible for the failure of the companies to sprinkle their rights of way, that this was a matter for the directors to decide.

The City Attorney's Office has been working for several weeks to secure the names of the directors of all the Huntington railway lines. The list was completed Wednesday night and Thursday the complaints were issued.

Many of the directors of the roads live outside the State, and the city's jurisdiction does not reach so far. This is because the complaints are issued on misdemeanor charges. A few of the directors live in Los Angeles, but the majority of them, especially those of the Los Angeles and Pacific Electric lines, reside in San Francisco.

Defendants in the suits brought yesterday are: E. P. Clark, W. H. Sherman, J. Ross Clark, J. D. Pope, W. R. Larabee, M. E. Hammond, A. I. Smith, H. E. Huntington, I. W. Hellman, A. Beret, C. DeGuigne, J. D. Bicknell, J. S. Slauson, E. B. Holladay, C. E. Graham and J. J. Aiken.

All the defendants are either directors of the Los Angeles Railway Company, the Pacific Electric Railway Company or the Los Angeles-Pacific Railway Company, or hold some position with one of these lines. Evidence was secured against the Los Angeles Traction Company, but no suit was filed against the directors of that corporation for the reason that none could be found who were residents of the State.

Only directors or officers who are inside the State are affected by the suits brought yesterday. H. E. Huntington, president of the Huntington lines, is at present in the East. As long as he remains there he is safe from arrest, but should he return here he will be compelled to appear in court and plead. The penalty for the offense of not sprinkling between the tracks on the streets over which cars are operated is a fine of $500 or 100 days in jail, or both.

City Attorney Mathews, who will personally direct the prosecution of the cases, said last night that he did not expect to be compelled to send after the directors of the companies who reside in Northern California. He said that they would be allowed ample time to come here and plead, but that if they failed to do so, officers would be sent north after them.

It is expected that the railways will raise the contention that the street sprinkling ordinance which has occasioned their arrest is not constitutional. City Attorney Mathews says that he is desirous of fighting the case out along that line. Similar ordinances have been passed by eastern cities and have been declared constitutional in the Supreme Courts.

Street Superintendent Werdin said, when the suits were originally brought against the managers of the different companies, that, if the railways could be compelled to sprinkle their rights of way over the city streets, it would affect a saving for the city in its street-sprinkling bill of at least $50,000 a year.

Asked what recourse the city could have against the Traction Company in case the directors of the other companies yielded and complied with the terms of the street-sprinkling ordinance, City Attorney Mathews last night said that it would lie in bringing suits against all the local managers and employés responsible for stirring up dust on streets by operating the cars without sprinkling.

H. E. Huntington, president of the Huntington lines, declared last winter that he would not sprinkle somebody else's streets. City Attorney Mathews says that the city can compel him to either do so or stop his cars. The result of this difference in opinion will doubtless mean long and tedious litigation.

"THOU SHALT NOT."

MUNICIPAL HORNET'S NEST.

A meek-looking little $12 requisition for city printing stirred up a hornet's nest yesterday at the City Hall. Result: One Park Commissioner wrote his resignation and slept on it last night, while other members of the municipal household are on the anxious seat, awaiting an opinion from the City Attorney as to the business limitations of a public official.

Honorable precedent, dating back into the cobwebbed past, has permitted a member of a commission who happened to be in business to furnish supplies in his particular line to the city departments. Inasmuch as commissioners serve without pay, this has been regarded in the light of one of the perquisites of a commissioner.

Under former régimes the head of a department would send to a commissioner, if the two happened to be political bedfellows, for printing or other supplies; the city paid the bill, and no questions were asked. There is a section of the city charter, however, which provides that no Councilman or other city official shall have any interest in a contract for furnishing supplies to the city.

Under the system of purchasing municipal supplies now in force the clerk of the Council committees gets estimates from different firms on all supplies before the order is placed, a sort of competitive bidding on a small scale. Yesterday an order came from one of the departments for printing. Clerk Goodwin telephoned to a number of printing houses for estimates, among them was the printing firm of Rice & Sons, the senior partner of which is a member of the Park Commission. This firm gave the lowest estimate, but an unsuccessful bidder, hearing who had received the award, made a kick on the ground that the fact that Rice was a member of the Park Commission barred him from doing any city work.

City Attorney Mathews was appealed to, and he gave the opinion that Mr. Rice's official position barred him from competing for printing.

This information was conveyed to Mr. Rice over the telephone. He sustained his reputation for a man of prompt action. "Hold on there," he called back. "I resign from the Park Commission. This is the last straw. I have wanted to get off for some time. It interferes with my business. Just hold that contract. My stenographer is working on my resignation. It will be in the hands of the Mayor's clerk in five minutes."

The report of what had occurred spread quickly about the hall. Consternation reigned in more than one quarter. There are other commissioners and petty officials who are members of firms that furnish supplies for the city. They rushed to the City Attorney's office and asked for a rehearing. A brother commissioner telephoned Mr. Rice, advising him to take his resignation under consideration. Councilmen rung him up making the same suggestion. Mr. Rice is a practical horticulturist, and they asked that he retain his place on the Park Commission.

Later in the afternoon Mr. Rice's attorney called up the City Attorney and made the argument that the firm of which Rice was a member was in reality a corporation, and that the corporation had a right to compete for city contracts. This point of municipal law the City Attorney has under advisement.

"I have not yet decided definitely whether I shall resign or not," said Commissioner Rice last night. "I made out a resignation, but, at the request of friends, I have taken it under advisement until tomorrow."

In the meantime the printing was awarded to the corporation of which Mr. Rice is the head, and if the City Attorney decides that his office would bar him from doing the work he is likely to retire from the park board.

If the decision in Mr. Rice's case is an adverse one, there are likely to be a number of vacancies in the Mayor's official family.

Detention Hospital.

Confronted by the question of location of the new detention hospital, for which bonds were voted at the recent special election, members of the Council are considering placing the hospital on city property in Chaves ravine near Reservoir street. Objection to this location is expected on account of the proximity to the pesthouse, which is located in the same tract. Members say, however, that wherever the hospital is placed there will be objections from persons living in the neighborhood, and that if the Chaves ravine location is selected the entire $50,000 bond appropriation will be available for the construction of the hospital proper.

The hospital bonds will be placed on sale June 1. The issue being a small one, it is not thought that there the city will experience much difficulty in finding a purchaser.

The main objection to the Chaves ravine site for the hospital seems to be that it will be right in the pathway of the waters that will be stored away in the impounding reservoir, for which bonds in the amount of $150,000 have been voted. This reservoir will hold millions of gallons of water, and in case of a break in the dam the patients in both the detention hospital and the pesthouse might be at the mercy of the waves.

COMES HIGH.

FINANCE MISCELLANY.

In the opinion of the members of the Council Finance Committee, germs and microbes cost considerably more than they are worth. The Board of Health recently recommended that the city secure the exclusive services of a city bacteriologist. Dr. Leonard has been giving the city four hours of her time daily for several months. The Board of Health wants her every working hour during the day, and they made a recommendation to the Council to that effect.

Chairman Skilling of the Council Finance Committee recently approached Dr. Leonard on the subject. He was told that she was willing to devote her entire time to municipal work, cutting out her medical school classes, but that it must be at a consideration of $250 a month.

Skilling conveyed the news to his confreres on the Finance Committee, and they quickly decided that the city would have to get along with a portion of the bacteriologist's time. Dr. Leonard has offered to devote six hours daily to the health department work for $125 a month. This offer the Finance Committee has taken under advisement.

Investigation of the respective merits of the Foster and Gamewell systems of police-patrol signals is quietly going on in the City Council. During the last fortnight members have repeatedly tested the efficiency of the boxes of the Gamewell system. They report them in good working order and valuable to the police department. The investigation of the Foster system will be commenced this week.

A Favorite Remedy for Babies.

Its pleasant taste and prompt cures have made Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a favorite with the mothers of small children. It quickly cures their coughs and colds and prevents any danger of pneumonia or other serious consequences. It not only cures croup, but when given as soon as the croupy cough appears, will prevent the attack.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

WAS A LOSING SPECULATION.

H. J. CHARLEBOIS SUES GRAND OPERAHOUSE CO.

Plunged on Weber and Field Tickets and Got Beautifully Left in the Deal; Then Did Baby Act and Wanted His Money Back, but Didn't Get It.

H. J. Charlebois is a natty young man who plunges on theater tickets for his friends. He says he is not a ticket speculator; he repudiated the insinuation yesterday in Justice Young's court with scorn. But whether he speculates in the open for the general public, or merely gently dallies "on the quiet" for the benefit of his friends, he sometimes gets left. And then the young man, lacking the sporty instinct, bewails his loss and tries to get his money back.

Yesterday the show people from the Grand Operahouse were all lugged it to court to show cause why they shouldn't ante up $35 which Charlebois was out on a fat little buch of Weber & Field tickets. And they showed cause all right. Manager Winfield Hogaboom and Treasurer Wells were the stars of the aggregation, while Charlebois maintained his stand against the constellation.

Charlebois said he went to Treasurer Wells, who handles the pasteboards at the ticket window, and asked him how many tickets he could obtain for front balcony seats for the Saturday evening performance. Ticket speculating is not encouraged by theater managers, and so Wells told him half a dozen would be about the limit. But Charlebois said he had urgent need of twenty-five and begged so hard that Wells knocked a chunk off the established rule of the house and gave him just what he wanted.

Up to that point there was no great variance, but Charlebois proceeded to state that it was agreed that unused tickets could be returned, and the money would be refunded. That on Saturday morning he took back fourteen tickets and wanted $35 he believed was coming to him, and professed great indignation when he discovered that there was nothing coming. The natty young man began to talk "big," and Treasurer Wells put it up to Hogaboom, with the result that Charlebois threw down the tickets and went off to have fun in court.

Hogaboom testified it is against the rule of the house to return money for tickets save in the most exceptional circumstances, and that he told Charlebois that Wells had disobeyed instructions in selling him twenty-five tickets, for it is speculators like he they are endeavoring to knock out. Having sold them, however, it was a clear sale, and the idea of taking tickets back and refunding the money, and in that way aiding and abetting the speculator's traffic, was preposterous.

This talk was very unpleasant in the ears of the natty young man, who had been making sotto-voce remarks during all of the time that the witness was testifying. Ultimately his wrath became so great that he ventured to remark that Hogaboom was telling deliberate lies.

Then things were doing in the courtroom. Le Compte Davis was on his feet protesting against the plaintiff being permitted to utter such remarks; Attorney Dyer unlimbered the fog horn register of his voice in trying to excuse the eccentricity of his client, and as a grand finale Charlebois jumped up and said he apologized to the court. All the others had to rest content without apology, and just glared at the offender.

Then Hogaboom shot it into Mr. Charlebois again. He didn't accuse him of lying, but gently insinuated that he had been telling tarra-diddles, and that he got stuck for fourteen Weber & Fields tickets, and that's all there was to it.

And Charlebois climbed on the stand in rebuttal just long enough to say that all the witnesses on the other side—there were three—had told what was not true so far as the ticket episode was concerned.

Attorney Dyer argued the case, though there was nothing to argue—according to him—for it was a clear-cut case for his client. Then Le Compte Davies had a hack at the matter, and on the showdown Justice Young gave judgment for the defendant.

Charlebois was out $35 on the original deal, and now has the costs of suit to add. The ticket business is very uncertain.

THAT SETTLES IT.

CAN'T GO BEHIND COMMITMENT.

The Supreme Court made a ruling in banc a few days ago that will be of benefit to the District Attorney's office in every county of the State, and will remove a very common, and sometimes powerful, weapon from the array of technicalities at the command of every criminal.

Heretofore it has been a very common occurrence for the attorney representing a criminal to object to the filing of an information for the reason that the complaint in the lower court did not show a cause of action. The Supreme Court holds that after a defendant has been committeed there shall be no going behind the commitment, it having been made out on the evidence brought out at the examination as well as upon the bare facts set forth in the complaint.

Henceforth the only recourse for a defendant, who has any holes to pick in the complaint will be to raise them by habeas corpus, or accept the inevitable if committed, when no objection can be raised. Inasmuch as the greater number of objections heretofore made have been merely to gain delay, or preserve a point in the event of the case ever reaching the Supreme Court, the practice of attorneys will be simplified, though no doubt to their own discontent.

PAPA SETTLES.

MARTINEZ'S BILLS PAID.

Felix Martinez, a young surveyor who was arrested at Lemon on the charge of having buncoed Joseph, the furniture dealer, out of $125, was to have been examined yesterday before Justice Young, but he wasn't for the charge was dismissed late Tuesday and the order of release was handed down Wednesday morning.

Martinez is from El Paso, and his father is a prominent man there, but he cast the young man off when he formed an alliance with a young girl displeasing to the old people. The story of the elopement and marriage was told by The Times when Martinez was arrested here. Since then the case has been continued for examination, but in the interim other charges of similar character were piling up against this scion of a wealthy sire. Besides the Joseph matter he buncoed I. T. Martin and the Eastern Drapery Company and others out of considerable amounts. Martinez was "up against it," and his only salvation lay in making peace with his father, which was done. The old gentleman sent a check for $600 a few days ago, and then there was a general settling up. It was far more satisfactory for a merchant to have cash in his pocket than be out so much and have Martinez doing time. When settlement had been made the charges were dropped and the one actual charge preferred dismissed.

Martinez had an attack of heart failure, and is still in the jail, treated by his own physician.

And there isn't much of the $600 left for young Martinez and his wife to worry along on.

FACTORY BURNED.

DAMAGES NOW CLAIMED.

C. F. Murray had a factory in the rear of the Huntington Building, for the making of cabinets and showcases, and behind the huge structure at Sixth and Main streets he conducted a profitable business in an unobtrusive way. But a fire swept all his belongings out of sight, and now he is suing the Llewllyn Iron Works Company for $10,000 damages. The case is on trial before Judge Smith and a jury. The plaintiff claims that on October 5 the company was welding the iron beams and columns in the Huntington structure with red-hot rivets. Several times, it is averred, rivets and bolts dropped on the property, and once a small fire started but was extinguished. It is claimed one of these rivets fell among the lumber, sawdust, shavings and debris in Murray's place and owing to the dampness of the material did not cause immediate damage, but the shavings smouldered, and early on the morning of October 6 burst into open flame. Factory and contents went up in smoke.

"BULL" WHITE'S TRIAL.

POSTPONED FOR A MONTH.

After his long incarceration in the County Jail John White, commonly known as "Bull" White, was taken into court yesterday for retrial on the charge of robbery.

He was convicted of an atrocious crime committed June 18, 1902, upon an aged lady named Mrs. Kate Dripps, and was sentenced by Judge Smith to twenty-five years in State's prison. There were no redeeming circumstances about the case, nor about the defendant himself. "Bull" had been known to the police by his frequent appearances in court. Twice he was convicted of vagrancy, of the brand known as "an idle and dissolute person, and the known associate of thieves." Twice he had been convicted of battery upon women.

One night as Mrs. Dripps was on her way home from some religious meeting and while crossing the Downey-avenue bridge, she was assailed by White. He endeavored to rob and assault her, and had he not been scared away by the approach of pedestrians might have accomplished his purpose. Rather than face the heavy sentence passed upon him, White, with the backing received from his friends, took the case to the Supreme Court, and there a new trial was granted on a mere technicality. The lower court was held to have erred in allowing the introduction of certain of the records.

But White didn't want to face Judge Smith again, and affidavits were filed asking for a change of venue, and thereupon Judge Smith asked Judge Traak to sit for him in the re-trial of the case. When the case was called yesterday Attorney H. H. Appel intimated to the court that there were some very essential witnesses for the defense that had not been found, but that if the prosecution would stipulate that their testimony—given partly in the lower court and partly at the last trial—might be read, he would not urge a continuance on that account. The Deputy District Attorney was not giving any points away before the case opened and refused to stipulate anything. There seemed no way out of the difficulty, for the witnesses referred to by the defense had been subpoenaed, and perforce the trial had to be continued. The case was set for June 29.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

FRISKY CORINNE. Frederick O'Dair was granted a decree by Judge York yesterday divorcing him from Corinne O'Dair, on the ground of cruelty. The testimony showed the wife had drifted into the habit of seeking amusement by frequenting saloons and other resorts not elevating in character.

LOST PAPERS. John S. Brown, who claims to be a war veteran, was ordered committed to Highland yesterday by Judge Wilbur. Brown was found rambling around Alhambra and Justice Northrup wrote in his behalf to the governor of the Soldiers' Home to see if something could be done for him. When he got to the Home he explained that while sleeping at Santa Monica he lost his papers, without which nothing could be done. The papers were not found and the old man was so upset mentally that an insanity complaint was sworn out.

WATERS DIVORCE. Mrs. Louisa Waters was granted a decree divorcing her from William T. Waters yesterday, on the ground of cruelty. The husband was given to intemperance, and in addition caused his wife mental suffering by reprehensible conduct.

DON'T LIKE HOME. Mrs. Eva S. Thomas, a tiny colored woman who is a bundle of nerves, was sent to Highland yesterday. She had been sick for some time, but her husband heretofore had a quieting influence upon his wife.

THE INFERIOR COURTS.

"THE CORNER" IS SACRED.

AT LAST A JURY CONVICTS A LOAFER.

Whitey Carson Offered up as Victim to Show There is Some Decency in Police Court Juries. "Lucky" Baldwin Testifies in Forgery Case.

Gooseflesh is standing out all over the loafers around the "hobo corner" because of the fate of "Whitey Carson," who "got his" in Justice Austin's court yesterday. For once the jury scheme failed to work.

For the first time in many, many moons a Police Court jury was persuaded to actually hold that a loafer is a loafer.

"Whitey," whose real name is F. A. Founeau, was not only convicted by the jury, but Justice Austin fined him $100—which Whitey paid somehow or 'nother.

It has been the proud boast of the "corner" that the jury could not be found that would send one of them to the chain gang. The prompt action of the jury in this case, it is believed, will have a good effect. Deputy District Attorney Frederickson appeared for the prosecution.

Surprise for Hughes.

A happy surprise awaits Joe Hughes when he gets out of the County Jail, where he is serving for obtaining money by false pretenses. Yesterday additional charges were filed in the Police Court, and when Hughes is let out of jail he will be immediately rearrested. His game was to represent himself as a collector of licenses. The new charge against him is that of collecting 50 cents from a woman named Mary Bayle, to whom he represented himself as a license collector.

"Lucky" a Witness.

"Lucky" Baldwin was a witness in the Police Court yesterday against a man named J. W. Zeliff, who got drunk and signed Baldwin's name to a small check, which he passed on a saloonkeeper. Baldwin testified that the signature was not his, and Zeliff was held for trial in the Superior Court under $1,500 bonds.

ANOTHER ONE FOR "SMOKY."

INJUNCTION SOUGHT TO KEEP HIM FROM HIS MARY.

"Why Can't They Let Me Alone," Asks the Hero of the Fernando Romance, but Papa Paine Doesn't Relent—Hearing Set for This Morning.

The cards are slapped down on the table of the law almost too fast for the young people to understand in the case of Mr. and Mrs. "Smoky" Fullington, whose romantic marriage is threatened with annulment. Attorney Moss, representing Charles W. Paine, the father of Mary, led a high trump yesterday by applying to the court for a restraining order and temporary injunction against "Smoky," the purpose being to enjoin him from in any way interfering with Mary during the pendency of the trial. The application was made before Judge Conrey, and will be heard at 11:30 o'clock this morning.

Three different actions all in one week; annulment of marriage, habeas corpus proceedings, and injunction, all against "Smoky!"

"When a man has once been married with a license and a minister, why can't they let me alone?" he asks. "Of course she was only 17 years and 6 months old, but she was old enough to give her consent, and that is all there is to it."

But the court won't look at it that way, and this case, which began so dramatically, bids fair to carry an exciting interest through a long, stubborn legal contest, and its ultimate outcome will stand as a valuable decision in this State. It is up to the prosecution to prove that the marriage ceremony performed May 9 is void, instead of a voidable one, or else its case has not a leg to stand upon. Charles Paine and his attorney realize this and are leaving nothing out which may throw the marriage in a questionable or fraudulent light.

Leon F. Moss in his answer to the habeas corpus proceedings admitted a marriage had been duly consummated. He yesterday filed an amended complaint setting forth fraud on the part of "Smoky" in procuring the license, the non-consent of the father and various other new features not contained in the naswer in the habeas corpus hearing.

The facts of the alleged marriage and the surrounding circumstances are set out in detail. "Smoky" is alleged to have attempted to secure possession of his bride, through his agent, by surreptitiously requesting and advising her to secretly make her escape from her father's home and go with "Smoky" into concealment.

WHOOP-EE.

Old Soak Gets Away With Four Bottles of Real Kentucky Snake Medicine.

There is an old soak somewhere around town whose fate may be State's prison, but he will not care, for he has been for a space in heaven. By mistake he was locked up in a saloon all night.

The case was reported to the police yesterday. When Bisbee's saloon, at No. 400 South Main street, was shut up early yesterday morning, an old drunken fellow was not noticed and left inside. When he could really make himself believe that it was not a fond dream of bliss, he scattered himself around and got away with four bottles of Kentucky whisky, making his exit over a door by piling a chair on a table for a ladder.

And probably he doesn't care a zim, zim, zim what they do with him, whoop-ee!

EXCHANGE. The foreign exchange situation is becoming decidedly interesting. This week's shipments of gold total $16,000,000 or over $3,000,000 more than the record weeks at the end of April. In other words, within one-fifth of last week's surplus reserve has been shipped. Apparently the movement has far from ended it, because it is estimated that only one-quarter of the Panama Canal payments have been transferred. As over $40,000,000 has been shipped abroad on this movement the total of fully $70,000,000 will be required before other factors prevent. Three quarters they are even taking a decline in exchange. Bankers' gold will come into the market and be available for exchange. The gold supply thus far have been in considerable measure due to the lack of credit. It should be noted, it believed, that present conditions cheaper gold.—[United States Investor.

COMMERCIAL.

MARKET FOR RICE. A better tone is noted in Atlantic Coast advices pertaining to the current crop and market. New Orleans reports the grades in excellent demand, and the cheap lines of rice are sought for, owing to the scarcity of qualities usually secured in the local markets for this purpose. Most of the interior are believed to be passed into strong hands. Although the far-western crop was larger than the previous year, there is a better disposition to hold, undoubtedly due to the war. As a result of the inflated more or less artificial. According to Dan Talmage's report of the Louisiana crop movement [illegible] as follows: Receipts, 1,773,950 pockets, rough, against 1,415,970 sacks last year; sales, 1,490,000 pockets [illegible], compared with 1,338,050 pockets one year ago.—[Dun's Review.

FLOUR MARKET. There is little change in the flour situation. The mills have run on about one-quarter time during the past week and produced 100,000 barrels of flour. This is about nearly the same and orders did not equal the amount made.

WOOL MOVEMENT. One hundred and twenty-four carloads of oranges and lemons moved Wednesday. Total to date, 21,470 carloads.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Any decided weakness on Thursday's market, declining a fraction. Offerings, receipts were heavy [illegible] and some very nice stock [illegible].

Eggs came in a little better [illegible] around $3 a crate. Lemons are not yet plentiful, but splendid stock sold readily at $4.50 a crate.

Strawberries still hold steady at 4 to 5 cents, with the fancy hard varieties selling freely at top prices.

Cucumbers came in more freely Thursday. Sales made were at 90 cents the dozen.

Grapefruit is still shown in the market, but going slowly. Prices range from $1 to $1.50 for ordinary, while seedless brings about $2 a box.

There was the usual number of boxes of cherries received in the market Thursday and the stock was greatly improved. Prices eased down to $1.10 to $1.25.

The fish market is the same as usual, with plenty of inquiry for small fish. The catch seems to run principally to halibut and barracuda. Some pompano is received. Crabs come in small quantities from San Francisco.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

SHARES AND MONEY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, May 19.—The stock market continued almost lifeless today. Whenever any activity developed the tone of the market became soft, showing the predominance of selling over buying orders in the very narrow market. When prices ceased their slow downward tendency the market fell into profound dullness and neglect, thus reflecting the unwillingness of any buyers to take stocks on an upward scale of prices. The trade started with some slight gains due to the sympathetic influence of the London market, in which rumors were reported to be in circulation of prospects for the coming of peace in the Far East. The resumption of selling of United States Steel preferred on the continuing pessimistic reports from the iron trade, was the first drag upon the market. But the heavy tone spread to other quarters. The subtreasury statement showed gains at the expense of the banks for the week of $11,290,000, promising another formidable inroad upon the surplus reserve of the banks, the more so as the $21,500,000 in gold coin exported today does not figure in the statement. A definite statement by the negotiators of the New York City subscription to the Japanese loan that the whole of the $25,000,000 subscription is to be remitted to London, helped to explain the force of the demand for money, but did not define its limits. The severe reduction in New York Central's net earnings for the quarter emphasized the effect of unfavorable returns by other systems. A disposition to dispute over the maintenance of rates on business diverted to the railroads by the interruption of lake transportation by the strike, was regarded as a symptom of the growing press to secure traffic, and attention was attracted by the reports of drastic retrenchment projected by the railroads to cut down expenses accordingly. The market closed with net changes insignificant. Bonds were dull and rather heavy with some late recoveries. Total sales, $1,585,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

GENERAL EASTERN MARKET.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, May 19.—The rapid appearance of cash wheat in local elevators and the near approach of the delivery day served to start a general demand for May. With the rush for that option stiffened the ideas of holders of July and September stiffened accordingly. Starting with a gain of ¼ to ⅝c at 87½c, July advanced steadily to 89¾c with but one set-back of sufficient weight to carry the price under the opening. A disposition on the part of the pit traders to capitalize a break after the early advance carried July back to 87¾c and September to 81¾c. The large receipts of the deferred position, however, held aloof and the clamor for May shows the popular sentiments as to the present scarcity and prospective supplies of grain. The result was a gain of ¼ to ⅝c in July at 89¾@89¾c and of 5@5½c in September at 82c, the latter having sold up to 82¾c at its best. Outside of the weather outlook and a decline in foreign markets, the bulk of the news was bullish. Corn shorts were disposed to cover, although business was not on a large scale. July closed ½c higher at 49¼c; September closed unchanged at 47¾c. Oats were strong; July and September being helped by May, which was in demand by nervous shorts. July closed ⅝@¾c higher; September closed ½@⅝c higher. The bir speculative short lines in provisions were quiet. Support and values for weeks were not in evidence today and prices suffered. There was a liberal selling credited to packers, but trade on the latest break was light. July and September pork were down 20@25c; lard was off 12½@15c, and ribs closed 10c lower.

THROWN INTO ARMS OF MOB.

CRUEL OUTRAGE DONE BY A THEATER MANAGER.

Ejects Non-Union Boilermaker from San Bernardino Play House at the Behest of Strikers, Who Set Upon and Beat Him When He is Given Into Their Power.

SAN BERNARDINO, May 19.—The strikers have again brought upon themselves the censure of the respectable people of the town by a most brutal assault upon one of the new men employed at the railroad shops. Involved in the censure is Manager W. C. Wilson of the Lyric Theater, who, in following his weak-kneed policy of catering to the strikers in a vain hope of obtaining their patronage, forcibly ejected the new man from the play house, throwing him into the arms of the unruly mob which had gathered excitedly about the place, threatening violence.

The new man, a boilermaker, had come to town from the shops late in the evening to seek amusement, and entered the play house. He had paid for his admission and was watching the performance when recognized by one of the strikers, who immediately informed the manager that the man was a scab. Wilson sent for the police, who plainly informed Wilson that as long as the man had paid his way into the theater and was acting in an orderly manner, he had a right to remain until the end of the performance.

Wilson went to the man, and tendering him his money, seized him by the shoulders and thrust him down the isle to the door and into the street, where he was instantly surrounded by a howling mob. Below Third street on D, he was knocked down by the union men and brutally beaten.

His cries for help took the police to the spot, and they offered to arrest anyone against whom the man would place a charge, but in the darkness he could not identify his assailants.

This is the third time the strikers have attacked new men who have come to town. The strikers endeavor to excuse themselves by stating that the new men are always the instigators of the trouble, but in only one instance has this been true. The man assaulted last night is said to have been perfectly sober, and not disorderly.

The incident has caused considerable feeling, both against the manager of the theater and the strikers. Wilson is stated to have made a harangue to his audience after the ejectment of the boilermaker, in which he declared his house was a union house, he employs union actors and scabs are not admitted.

In Justice to the other business men of the town it should be stated that Wilson is the only one among them who has taken this course, though a committee of strikers has gone to every merchant with a request that scabs be debarred from patronage, and at each place has had a cool reception.

The rowdyism of the strikers in attacking every non-union mechanic who happens to come to town has resulted in the Santa Fé issuing free transportation to the company's employés to trade at Los Angeles, and within the past week thousands of dollars have been taken from the town in this way.

Manager Wilson in explaining his connection with the affair states that the man who was put out of his theater was intoxicated. Several union boilermakers stood on the outside of the play house and made a request that the man be put out as he was a scab. Wilson sent the ticket collector, Roach by name, to the man to return him his money and order him to leave. The man refused to go and Wilson then took a hand in the affair, and got him to go, explaining that he would be under the protection of the police until he returned to the shops. Wilson denies having made any address to the audience.

This afternoon the man assaulted was picked up on the streets unconscious from the effects of liquor, and is now sleeping off his drunk in the City Jail.

As the actors at the Lyric, from which the non-union man was ejected last night, were preparing for their performance this evening, the house was suddenly left in darkness by the cutting out of the electric lights. Lamps were obtained, but the actors refused to appear.

GREAT IRRIGATION PROJECT.

The Arrowhead Reservoir Company has let a contract to Bright & Drew of Los Angeles for the construction of the concrete core wall of their big dam, which they are to build across Little Bear Valley, backing up the water a distance of about four miles and furnishing sufficient water for the irrigation of the entire acreage of San Bernardino Valley, besides making possible the development of untold thousands of horse power for electrical purposes. The letting of this contract corroborates the statement exclusively made in this correspondence some weeks ago that the Arrowhead Reservoir Company had contracted with all the available mountain teamsters to haul 800,000 tons of material to the site of the proposed dam, and would rush the great undertaking to completion.

HERE AND THERE.

Sheriff Ralphs left this morning for Hollister, San Benito county, to bring back A. R. White, a painter wanted at Redlands for passing a worthless check. White's wife lives at Hollywood, and for several weeks after his disappearance from Redlands, his Hollywood house was shadowed. Later he was traced to the north and arrested yesterday. He has a police record at Los Angeles.

FULLERTON.

LOW CABBAGE PRICES.

FULLERTON, May 19.—The California Vegetable Union and the two representatives of the local Cabbage Growers' Association have fixed the price for this week at only $6 a ton, and have limited the output to ten carloads for the entire week, which is to be prorated among growers of the association. The price paid for last week's output was $12.50 a ton, and it was limited to eighteen carloads. Local growers are greatly disappointed in the big slump in the market, and declare that $6 a ton will not more than pay for cutting the product and hauling it to the packing-house, and unless the union can find market for a heavier output that a good portion of the crop will be left in the field, as cabbages are now beginning to burst on some ranches. A leading grower stated yesterday that if the weather warms up within the next few days there will also be a great loss by the product decaying rapidly, and that under the present shipping arrangement some growers will not be enabled to market more than half of their crop. The members of the association expected to move the entire product at about $25 per ton net for the season. The Vegetable Union claims that it is not responsible in any way for the slump in the market and that it is paying every cent that the market will stand.

WANTS FRESH AIR IN PLENTY.

Thomas Strain, a well-known orange man, is building a modern residence on his ranch on the hill north of Placentia. In Mr. Strain's bedroom a large opening is left in the roof, which he will only close during rainy weather. The reception-room has a large fireplace extending almost across one end of the room. Three sides of the building are surrounded by screen and open porches.

Mr. and Mrs. McCoy were recipients of many valuable wedding presents. After a short honeymoon trip, which will be spent at San Diego and other Coast points, they will return to Fullerton, where the happy groom has a neatly-furnished residence of his own in waiting for their occupancy.

MEAT WAR RAGES IN SANTA ANA.

CUDAHY COMPANY SEEKS TO CAPTURE LOCAL TRADE.

Cuts Under Prices of Buckingham & Obarr, Which Results in Retaliation by that Firm, Who Have Reduced Retail Prices Three Cents Per Pound on All Meats.

SANTA ANA, May 19.—A meat war has broken out among the retail butchers here over the action of the Cudahy Packing Company of Los Angeles in attempting to capture the wholesale meat trade of this section. Until the past few days all the local wholesale meat trade was supplied by Buckingham & Obarr of this city, who also run a retail market. The Cudahy Company stepped into the game last week with an offer to supply the wholesale trade at 50 cents less per hundred pounds of beef than was offered by Buckingham & Obarr, and at once captured the entire market. To retaliate Buckingham & Obarr have cut prices on all retail meats about 3 cents per pound in the determination to bring the local markets to time. It is charged that Cudahy to secure the Santa Ana trade is selling meat at less than Los Angeles prices.

HORSE KILLED BY BEES.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

VENTURA, May 19.—William Mendlesohn lost on Tuesday of this week a very valuable horse from bee stings. The animal was literally stung to death by angry bees. Recently Mr. Mendlesohn had located his bees on the Sexton ranch east of town. On the day in question he had occasion to be absent from the ranch for a short time and the horse had been tied near the bee hives. The bees flew upon the horse in swarms and stung him until he died in great agony.

Grand Lodge in Session at Bakersfield Instructs Representatives to Supreme Lodge to Endeavor to Induce that Body to Enact Such Legislation.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BAKERSFIELD, May 19.—In addition to the election of officers by the Grand Lodge of the Pythians and the Grand Temple of the Rathbone Sisters today a resolution was adopted instructing the supreme representatives to use every effort to induce the Supreme Lodge to pass such legislation as will allow the ladies' auxiliary to change its name to Pythian Sisters, while retaining the Knights as members, and to also have the order officially recognized as a branch of the parent order.

The Rathbone Sisters devoted the morning to their annual memorial services. Their business is now practically completed, and tomorrow they will be engaged chiefly in routine work. The Pythians tomorrow morning will select a meeting place for next year, and finish all routine business. In the afternoon the Board of Trade will provide conveyances for a drive through the neighboring country.

The office of Grand Prelate was the only one over which there was a contest at today's election held by the Knights. Judge M. L. Short of Kings county was elected. The other candidates were James G. SANTA BARBARA.

ESCAPED FROM HIGHLAND.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SANTA BARBARA, May 19.—C. R. Muscio of this city, who escaped from Patton Asylum Tuesday last, has turned up at his home, apparently perfectly rational. For the past few days two families have been in a constant state of alarm, and the officers have been searching for the fugitive. A short time ago he wrote to his wife saying that he intended to escape from the asylum and was coming back to Santa Barbara to kill her and Dr. Cunane, the physician who was instrumental in committing him to that institution.

Muscio was declared insane some months ago on account of periodical rampages in which he threatened to kill his family. Several times when the officers arrived at his house to quiet disturbances he assured them that it was only a family matter caused by his wife's hysterical condition. Finally one of the neighbors placed a charge of insanity against him, and a few days later a commission of physicians, one of whom was Dr. Cunane, declared him insane. When Muscio returned here early this morning he went straight to his home, but made no trouble of any kind. He explained to Chief of Police Ross that he had a great longing to see his family again, and that when the opportunity presented itself he left the asylum and made tracks for Santa Barbara. The Highland authorities have been notified of his arrival here, and until an answer is received Muscio will be allowed to remain at his home.

TO ENFORCE THE LAW.

The recent automobile accident on the San Marcos pass in which Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Jung of Los Angeles were injured, has caused a great deal of unfavorable comment here, and the Supervisors are being petitioned to enforce the ordinance prohibiting motor cars from crossing the San Marcos Pass. Had Jung's car not upset when it did a frightful rear-end collision with a tallyho full of people would have resulted, the party being but a short distance ahead of the runaway auto. The steep and narrow road over the San Marcos is unsafe for automobiles on account of the danger to passing teams, and although an ordinance was passed some time ago prohibiting motors on the road, no precautionary signs were put up, and several cars have crossed the grade.

Contracted Disorders.

Of all the diseases peculiar to men, contracted disorders are the most abused by cut-and-try, hit-and-miss treatments, administered by good friends, druggists, doctors in general practice, and most of the would-be specialists. It is certainly interesting to hear the story of the average patient telling his experience with the different kinds of so-called treatments he has been "up against." A large majority of our patients come to us with all the original disease and part or all of the complications resulting from delay and mistreatment. We generally have to cure them after some or all of the following conditions have developed: Chronic discharge, stricture, or all of the chronic bladder troubles, diseased prostate, sores, swelling, etc., besides a patient whose confidence and mind are diseased through failure and disappointment. Don't trifle with these disorders; go to a doctor who knows how to cure you; it is the cheapest, surest and shortest way out. We have been 11 years in the business.

An effort is being made to create interest in an Outdoor Art League, such an organization was organized in Pasadena a time, but interest died out. Yesterday afternoon a meeting was held and an effort was secured for a permanent organization. Those present from the Board of Trade, Farmers' Club, Shakespeare Club, Audubon Society, and the Municipal Improvement Association. Superintendent of Parks Graham, Prof. Ely and Mrs. Scott also attended the meeting. It was suggested that Pasadena need for the best-kept lawns, also that rewards be offered children for interest in beautifying the city. These are to be fostered by the Board of Trade, while other organizations will offer prizes.

Miss Scott was commissioned to get in touch with the different organizations of the city to insure cooperation, and a meeting will be called at an early date, when delegates are expected to participate in a general campaign for outdoor art.

[NEWS REPORTS FROM TIMES CORRESPONDENTS.]

A GRAND GIFT FOR PASADENA.

GRANT THAT MRS. REED GAVE PLACE TO THE CITY.

The Property Was Once Owned by Dr. Carr and Known as Carmelita. Governor's Quick Wit Saves a Window from Destruction by Fire. Outdoor Art.

PASADENA, Office of The Times, 24 South Raymond Avenue, May 19.—There is a persistent rumor, bobbing up from several sources, to the effect that Mrs. Simeon G. Reed, whose death occurred a few days ago, leaves a will which will greatly enrich the city of Pasadena. It is in effect that the wealthy old lady left all of a portion of her beautiful place on West Colorado street and Orange Grove boulevard to the municipality for park purposes. The rumor cannot be verified until the will is filed for probate, which may be very soon.

Several of Mrs. Reed's acquaintances recall that she had mentioned her intention to make the city her heir, but she was of a quiet, retiring nature, seldom speaking of the many acts of generosity which she performed or contemplated. At one time the city seriously considered the purchase of the property for park purposes, but the price was out of reach.

If Pasadena should possess the Reed property she would have something to be proud of. The land embodies some fifteen acres on the crown of the West Colorado-street hill and extends from Orange Grove's showiest section almost into the business center. It is an ideal park location and would put our present parks to shame. The property is already improved with an astounding variety of plants, trees and shrubs, some of the pines being the oldest and tallest in town. The place was originally built by Dr. and Mrs. Wm. S. Carr, who named it Carmelita.

LOWE PLACE SCORCHED.

The old Prof. Lowe place on South Orange Grove avenue, the largest private dwelling in the city, and one of the most costly, had a narrow escape from destruction by fire yesterday afternoon at about 3:30 o'clock.

The place was recently purchased of Orville G. Emery by Benjamin Blossom of New York for $70,000. Mr. Blossom had a force of workmen renovating and improving it. Some painters were working in the rear burning off what needs replacing, let their blow torch instrument get the best of them. The fire crept, snake-like, up through the partitions, and when discovered was under such headway that it shot out several feet.

There was no way to a telephone at the Burdette's and summoned the fire department. But a carpenter with garden hose, cut a hole in the roof and put the flame out before the engines arrived. His quick wit was rewarded by Mr. Blossom with a bank-roll equal to several weeks' wages.

The damage, which is elaborately finished in and out, fortunately had insurance at the time, so that the loss was small, amounting perhaps to $1000, amply covered by insurance in the Queen, Liverpool and Globe Companies, with E. H. Lockwood.

OUTDOOR ART.

An effort is being made to revive interest in an Outdoor Art Association. Such an organization was formed once upon a time, but interest has waned. Today afternoon a small attendance was secured for a meeting held in the Wilson-school building to talk up reorganization. Representatives were present from the Board of Trade, Tourist Club, Shakespeare Society, Ebell Society, and the Humane Society. Superintendent of Schools Wilson, Prof. Ely and Miss Harriett Lummis also attended the meeting.

It was suggested that prizes be offered for the best-kept lawn or premises, also that rewards be offered the school children for interest shown in beautifying the city. These plans are to be fostered by the Board of Trade, while other organizations offer similar prizes.

Miss Stott was commissioned to confer with the different organizations of the city to insure coöperation by them, and a meeting will be called at a later date, when delegates are expected to participate in a general campaign for outdoor art.

THROOP JUBILANT.

Plans are being drawn whereby Throop Institute gets a $50,000 endowment, the income from which is to be used for the maintenance of the school. This fund was started by E. Tourtellotte, who gave $25,000, with the stipulation that another $25,000 should be raised. This has been done, the money being William Stanton, Wilbur Morgan, Mrs. Robert J. Burdette and an unnamed Los Angeles woman, each; Dr. Norman Bridge, J. D. Spreckels, P. and W. Thum, J. S. Slauson and H. T. Kendal, $1000 each.

GAS OF LESSER IMPORT.

The Pasadena Gas and Fuel Company wishes to know the whereabouts of Arthur Rembein, a collector, who is short in the sum of $150 or so, it is charged. The collector has been gone two weeks and receipted bills coming in, showing that he got the money and never turned it in to the company.

Rev. H. H. Markham will deliver the address at the Memorial Day services in the evening at the First Congregational Church. There will be ritualistic services in the morning at Library Hall.

Master Plumbers say that if the workmen don't return to their jobs today they will declare the shops nonunion and hire accordingly. They decline to arbitrate, as the unionists demand.

Dr. Irvine Jordan, once a professor in England's famous university of Oxford, is at the point of death at his home, Marengo avenue and Locust street. He suffers with cancer of the stomach.

Charles Bland, colored, charged with petty larceny, will be tried this morning before Judge Congdon. Attorney J. G. Scott will defend him.

Many hotels have their openings and closings, but the latch string of Hotel Raymond, Pasadena, is always out.

POMONA.

CITY'S NEW PARK.

POMONA, May 19.—The Home Improvement Association has recommended to the Board of City Trustees two names for the new city park on West Second street, viz., McKinley and Fremont. The Council has taken the choice under consideration. Street Superintendent Slanker has been instructed to purchase three teams for use in the park, and when the work is done there the teams will be used for street work to meet the growing needs of the city.

By passage of a recent city ordinance all the tamale wagons have been ruled off Second street and are now located on side streets.

The heavy steel rails of the Abbot Kinney traction line are being relaid on the Los Angeles Pacific as fast as they are taken up. They are to form a part of the main line between Ocean Park and Vineyard.

CLAREMONT.

TOWN MEETING.

CLAREMONT, May 19.—The annual town meeting of Claremont was held last night to hear the reports of standing committees and elect officers for the ensuing year. The following were elected: Selectmen, L. N. Smith, George S. Sumner, F. W. Thomas, H. A. Palmer and Mrs. D. H. Colcord; Treasurer, L. N. Smith; Clerk, Geo. Jencks.

Afterward the condition of the streets was discussed. Prof. G. H. Baker advocated the laying out of the town park in new shape. He expressed the hope that one section might be devoted to plants and trees native to this valley. He showed pictures of such a park in Michigan.

During the past year the town has raised more money than usual, and the county less; this in spite of the fact that the town has raised $500 for a fire department.

FIGHTING AGAINST FEES.

Notice was filed in the Superior Court today that on the 27th inst. J. M. Leavitt will move the court to vacate Judge Torrance's order of the 9th inst., allowing heavy fees of attorneys in the Golden Cross mine litigation. LONG BEACH.

WAR VESSELS COMING.

LONG BEACH, May 19.—A letter was received here this morning that the monitor Wyoming and the torpedo-boat destroyers Paul Jones and Preble will leave San Diego Saturday morning for Long Beach for a stay of ten days, proceeding from here to Santa Barbara. This news was later verified from San Francisco. The war craft are expected here Sunday, and their stay will enable the committee to make more elaborate preparations for the celebration of Memorial Day. It is probable that Superintendent Corbolay, in charge of the new pier construction can make temporary arrangements whereby passengers can be handled to and from the ships.

YOUNG WHEELER DOING WELL.

Edwin Wheeler, the young man who yesterday witnessed his uncle drown in the surf, passed a fairly comfortable night, and is much improved this morning. SANTA MONICA WILL CELEBRATE.

PLANS FOR OBSERVING THE FOURTH TAKING SHAPE.

Newly Formed Municipal League to Have Charge—Bicycle Road Race Will be a Feature of the Day—Baker Gives Timely Fire Alarm.

SANTA MONICA, May 19.—At a meeting of citizens held at the City Hall last night, Santa Monica organized a municipal league that promises to play a leading part in the future growth and progress of the city. In calling the meeting to order, A. Mooser stated the object to be to either revive the Board of Trade or Chamber of Commerce, or to effect a new organization, whose purpose it would be to look after the city's best interests. It was decided to call it the Municipal League, and officers were elected, as follows: Robert F. Jones, president; Dr. Rathbone, vice-president; D. G. Holt, secretary; A. Mooser, treasurer. The membership fee was fixed at $5 per year, and the league started off with thirty members. A committee was appointed to make a canvass of the city, and there will be several hundred members secured right away.

One of the first things decided by the league was that a Fourth of July celebration should be held here. The city pledged itself to pay for two brass bands on that day, and Roy Jones and A. Mooser were named as a committee to secure the bands. The celebration will be under the management of a committee of five. It is the intention to have bicycle races, baseball games, fireworks, and other attractions on that day.

Arrangements are now being made for the annual bicycle road race from Los Angeles to Santa Monica. The event is always pulled off on July 4, the start being made from Los Angeles at 9 a.m., and the finish being here about forty minutes later. As the distance is seventeen miles, pretty good time is made. Heretofore there have been about 130 starters, but as bicycle racing is coming into vogue again, this season, after a lull of a few years, it is expected that at least 150 will start. The course is over a good country road, and the prizes offered for the first fifty who finish make it an interesting event, especially since the first prize is worth no less than $200.

BAKER MAN GIVES ALARM.

A baker going to work at 4 o'clock in the morning discovered a pile of rubbish ablaze at the rear of Dale Bros.' store on Third street. The fire department was called out, and nipped in the bud what would have proven a bad fire but for the baker man's timely discovery.

RAILROAD LOANS JUICE.

While the break to the Long Beach Electric Light plant is being repaired, the electric-light company here, which supplies Long Beach, has connected up with the electric railway company, and will receive auxiliary power from that source to assist in supplying Santa Monica, Ocean Park, Redondo, Long Beach, and the Soldiers' Home until the new hydraulic and steam turbine plant is completed at Inglewood, in about ninety days.

PAINTER BROWN GOES FREE.

Thomas Brown, the painter, who struck Robert Warren, had his preliminary hearing before City Recorder Guidinger, and was discharged—the charge against him being dismissed. Warren is the printer who died at the County Hospital from blood poison. At the examination the fact was established that Warren was drunk and had forced Brown to strike him in self-defense. The blow was not a hard one, but proved sufficient to fracture the jaw, and Warren's system being in a run-down condition, complications arose that terminated fatally.

M. K. Weaver has been appointed registration clerk for Santa Monica, and is now enrolling the electors.

HUNTINGTON BEACH.

POSTOFFICE IS MOVED.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 19.—Postmaster W. C. Smith has moved the postoffice across Main street into his new two-story building. He reports a large increase in the receipts during the last month.

Irving S. Watson of the Long Beach Tribune was in town yesterday and bought two lots on Third street near Philo avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Brown and child of Corona and Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Bush of Orange are occupying the Skelley cottage on Fifth street.

Alfred Shrosbree, formerly of Long Beach, has nearly completed a fine residence for his own use, on Sixth street near Ocean avenue. He expects to build another house on his adjoining lots.

W. L. Salisbury, formerly a resident of Topeka, Kan., has bought seven lots at the corner of Seventh and Water streets and will build houses upon them for rent.

Nearly all the lots in the original townsite are reported by the Townsend-Robinson Investment Company as sold. The Huntington Beach Company will at once plat three more tiers of blocks lying immediately back of the present three tiers.

A large force is excavating for the new school building in the block facing Finley avenue. The plans call for a two-story and basement building, with projections north and south. It will be divided into four modern schoolrooms, and have a basement.

Main street is to be oiled by the White patent process, so soon as Ocean avenue is completed one mile in length.

J. R. Wilson of Santa Ana is building a substantial residence on the west side of North Main street.

SAWTELLE.

NEW BEAN PEST.

SAWTELLE, May 19.—Those who are competent to judge say that there is an increase this season over last year of abor 2000 acres in the acreage of lima beans, planted in the district between Los Angeles and the sea. The major portion of the bean district is not far from here. The beans are now coming up nicely, and there are but very few missing hills. However, a new pest in the shape of a worm that cuts off the tender shoots near the ground has made its appearance and threatens to do some damage unless its ravages are checked. After the plant has been out of the ground a few days the worm does not bother it, probably because the vine soon becomes tough. The tender shoots are its especial prey.

ALFALFA TURNS OUT WELL.

On the lower lands the first cutting of alfalfa is now being made, and the yield is good, insuring an abundant crop of hay. Word comes from over about Ivy and Palms that the alfalfa is generally turning out well, and the acreage is large. Barley is also being cut for hay, and the harvest is of good quality and the hay heavy.

POWER HOUSE AND DEPOT.

The projected improvements of the Los Angeles-Pacific Electric line contemplate the establishment of a subpower station here, as well as the building of a freight and passenger depot. The power station will be similar in design to the one at Ivy Park. The building will be of brick and it will be erected soon.

CATALINA ISLAND.

YELLOWTAIL TOURNAMENT.

AVALON, May 19.—The great yellowtail tournament took place today. The fishers got away at 7 a.m., and they were privileged to fish wherever they chose, except in Avalon Bay. There were nearly thirty launches engaged in the affair, and they spread out in all directions, meeting and lining up in the bay sharp at 1 o'clock. There were twenty-five launches in at the finish, a few having fallen by the wayside.

"Yellowtail Johnnie" upheld his reputation and right to his sobriquet by winning first prize, taking seven fine big yellowtail.

Capt. Adams of the launch Myrtle, with the launch Myrtle, H. N. Keller and Claude M. Heineman, anglers, showed up with eight yellowtail, but it was charged against them that they fished within the bay, and they were disqualified.

The Lydia, Capt. Quigley, E. P. Thom and wife, anglers; and the Violet G., Capt. Gray, were tied, each having three yellowtail.

The Alert, Capt. Michaelis, Chas. Ironmonger and Pete Reyes, anglers, had two yellowtail and an albicore.

The Katherine, J. W. Northrop, angler, had three albicore.

The Florence, Gen. C. F. A. Last and John Hauerwaas, had two rock bass. It is impossible to get full details, and the complete returns will not be known until tomorrow.

UPSET BY CAR.

Carriage Crossing Trolley Line is Struck and Woman Has Leg Broken.

A surrey containing four people was struck by a Pasadena car, Los Angeles bound, about 8:15 o'clock last evening, at the junction of Lyons and Aliso streets, and all of the occupants were more or less injured.

In the vehicle were Mrs. Grace Hall of No. 831 Castelar street, Jack Abbott, proprietor of the Santa Ana stable; Charles Snyder and Ernest McCamish, employés of the stable, who live at No. 207 East First street. McCamish was driving out Aliso street and tried to cross in front of the car, but evidently misjudged the distance. The car caught the rear wheel and overturned the vehicle, throwing all of the occupants in an indiscriminate mass in the street.

Mrs. Hall was the most seriously injured. Her left leg was broken, and she sustained in addition a number of cuts and bruises. Abbott was severely cut about the face and his leg was badly wrenched. Snyder and McCamish also sustained a number of cuts, and the latter was internally hurt, though his injuries are not considered serious.

All of the injured were removed to the Receiving Hospital, where a number of conflicting stories were told, but it was finally gathered that the members of the quartette started for the County Hospital to place Snyder, who had been ill, in that institution. Incidentally a number of drinks had been taken, but all earnestly declared that this had nothing to do with the accident.

Mrs. Hall wanted to drive, and tried to take the lines just as McCamish tried to pull across the tracks, and this act on her part was partly responsible for the accident. The surrey was struck by car No. 207 in charge of Motorman Meyers, but the railroad men say they had no opportunity to avoid the collision.

Mrs. Hall is the woman who was recently fined $20 in Police Court for throwing a number of dishes at the head of R. C. Wade, her ex-brother-in-law, in her sister's Castelar-street home.

HIGH CHURCH OVER BROAD.

Episcopalians Elect Six National Delegates.

Proposed Change of Name Not in Favor.

Vigorous Missionary Step in Local Field.

The most interesting feature of the second day of the Episcopalian diocesan convention, yesterday at St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral, was the election of delegates to the national convention, which will meet in Boston in October.

Many ballots were taken, and the convention finally adjourned until 9 o'clock this morning without completing its selection of representatives.

So far in the contest it appears that the "high church" men have won a victory over the "broad church" men, and this will doubtless be the case until the delegation is completed.

The diocese is entitled to four clerical delegates and four lay delegates. The laymen have been selected as follows: Capt. Charles T. Hinde, San Diego; Hon. T. L. Winder, Los Angeles; Maj. T. L. Lee, Los Angeles; H. B. Ely, Redlands.

The very first ballot resulted in electing as a clerical delegate Rev. J. D. L. Browne, editor of the Church Messenger, and rector of the Church of St. Augustine, Santa Monica. After several more ballots, the convention finally elected Dr. A. G. L. Trew, rector of the Church of the Angels, Garvanza, and the balloting then continued until adjournment without the last two clerical delegates being selected, Dean J. J. Wilkins of the Pro-Cathedral, and Rev. William McCormack of All Saints' Church, Pasadena, being in the lead. On the last ballot, Dr. Dowling, who had aspirations for convention honors, received two votes.

It is believed the balloting this morning will result in the selection of Dean Wilkins and Dr. McCormack to complete the delegation.

The early part of the day's session was given over to the reports of committees, and the report of the treasurer, W. C. Musbet, showed substantial growth in all departments of church work.

A strong missionary spirit was prevalent in the convention, and several stirring addresses were made on this line. The need of expansion of the work, especially in the cities of the diocese, was the keynote of these speeches, and Rev. William McCormick presented the need for mission work in the vicinity of the Arcade depot in this city.

He asked for $1000 for the establishment of this work, and within five minutes the convention had pledged $1310 for this purpose.

The convention appointed a committee composed of Messrs. Chandler, Chaffee and Kirckhoff to decide upon the advisability of organizing a diocesan mutual fire insurance company.

It was decided to place a general diocesan missionary in the field to establish missions in places not now reached by the clergy.

Under the "State of the Church" the committee reported most encouraging progress and an increase of about 15 per cent. in the number of communicants during the past year, while the financial interests of the church have all prospered.

The election of officers of the diocese resulted as follows: For the directors of the corporation of the diocese—J. F. Towell, H. T. Lee, A. M. Stephens, J. A. Anderson, T. H. Norton, E. T. Sams and Bishop Johnson.

Standing Committee—Rev. J. D. H. Browne, Rev. L. B. Ridgley, Rev. A. G. L. Trew, Very Rev. J. J. Wilkins, T. L. Winder, A. M. Stephens, C. D. Adams of Ontario and Daniel Cleveland of San Diego.

Board of Missions—Rev. J. Arthur Evans, Rev. William McCormack, Rev. George Robinson, Rev. C. E. Spaulding, Capt. C. T. Hinde, W. C. Musbet, Col. M. G. Chandler, R. H. Norton.

Rev. H. Henderson Judd was re-elected registrar, and Maj. Henry T. Lee, chancellor of the diocese.

An interesting feature was the matter of the change of name of the church. Dean Wilkins, the head of a special committee on this subject, reported that the clergy were in favor of the change by a vote of 27 to 15; and the lay members were against the change by a vote of 18 to 11.

A resolution was passed to memorialize the general convention that it would be unwise at present to consider any change of name for the church in America.

Last night nearly a hundred of the clergy and prominent laymen banqueted at Levy's Café. There were numerous toasts and responses, Bishop Johnson and Dean Wilkins being the main speakers of the evening.

ACCIDENT AT VIADUCT.

Mrs. Anna Gardner and Henry Armstrong of No. 1710 Naud street were thrown from a buggy at the junction of Alameda and San Fernando streets about 6:30 o'clock last evening and painfully injured. Armstrong and Mrs. Gardner were driving toward their home when the horse became frightened and collided with one of the iron supports of the viaduct. The occupants were thrown out and the buggy wrecked. Mrs. Gardner sustained a number of bruises about the head and shoulders and Armstrong was cut and bruised, but was not seriously hurt.

HEALTH OFFICER INVESTIGATES.

The ten-year-old daughter of Jacob Sylva of No. 823 North Figueroa street died under peculiar circumstances about 7 o'clock last night. The child, who had been attended by Dr. Wong, a Chinese physician of South Main street, seemed to strangle to death. As the death appeared to be due to either tonsilitis or diphtheria, Dr. Powers, the health officer, took charge and established a rigid quarantine. A thorough investigation of the case will be made.

FALSE ALARMS.

Another false alarm called the Fire Department to the Baker Iron Works at 8:30 o'clock last night. This is the fourth mischievous summons in two days and Chief Strohm has asked the Police Department to make a special effort to assist him in locating the guilty persons. The alarms have been sent in from widely-separated districts, but members of the department think they are chargeable to the same miscreants.
